

America Faces Big Food Task

There are 180,000,000 people in Russia, Poland and France whom we have not been able to reach heretofore. With the signing of the armistice the way is open to reach these people because shipping will be available and the inland routes of transportation will be re-opened. Practically all of these people are on the verge of starvation. No one under high heaven can see generally millions of them die of death during the approaching winter unless the American people will deny themselves to a sufficient extent to supply their minimum needs. We cannot hope more than their minimum needs and we shall fail in that unless our people keep constantly in mind the fact that every food product in America is measured in terms of human lives. With shipping available the situation will no doubt be relieved to some extent within a few weeks. Australia and Argentina are able to supply a part of the wheat requirements of Europe. This country, however, is the great food storehouse and we all have to supply practically all the pork products, fats, dairy products, meats and sugar that goes to Europe. It is should properly be an hour of rejoicing for our people but it is an hour of solemn reflection and earnest work and effort thought as well. The people of our country have an opportunity to render the world and humanity a service that will not be forgotten as long as history reads. We must not, and cannot and will not fail to make the most of this opportunity for service, even the denial from our well-nourished bodies of the essential food products which may be most conveniently and satisfactorily be transported and used to save human lives on the other side. Some of those lives which may be saved are lives of the wives and children of our former enemies. We must go full length.

Terms Of Armistice

Monday, November 11—The terms of the armistice with Germany were read to Congress by President Wilson at one o'clock this afternoon.

Assembled in the hall of the House where nineteen months ago senators and representatives heard the President ask for the declaration of war, they today heard him speak the words which herald the coming of peace.

The strictly military terms of the armistice embraced in eleven specifications which include the evacuation of all invaded territories, the withdrawal of the German troops from the left bank of the Rhine and the surrender of all supplies of war.

The terms also provide for the abandonment by Germany of the treaties of Bucharest and Brest-Litovsk.

MUST SURRENDER SEA FORCES

The naval terms provide for the surrender of one hundred and sixty submarines, fifty destroyers, six battle cruisers, ten battleships, eight light cruisers and other miscellaneous ships.

All allied vessels in German hands are to be surrendered and Germany is to notify neutrals that they are free to trade at once on the seas with the allied countries.

Among the financial terms included are restitution for damage done by the German armies; restitution of the cash taken from the National Bank of Belgium and return of gold taken from Russia and Rumania.

MUST GIVE UP ARTILLERY

The military terms include the surrender of 5,000 guns, half field and half light artillery; 30,000 machine guns, 3,000 flame throwers and 2,000 airplanes.

The surrender of 5,000 locomotives, 50,000 wagons, 10,000 motor lorries, the railways of Alsace-Lorraine for use by the allies and stores of coal and iron also are included.

The immediate repatriation of all allied and American prisoners without reciprocal action by the allies also is included.

In connection with the abandoning of the left bank of the Rhine it is provided that the allies shall hold the crossings of the river at Coblenz, Cologne and Mayence, together with bridgeheads and a thirty-kilometer radius.

The right bank of the Rhine land, that occupied by the allies, is to become a neutral zone and the bank held by the Germans is to become a neutral zone and the bank held by the Germans is to be evacuated in nineteen days. The armistice is for thirty days, but the President spoke of the war as "coming to an end."

MUST EVACUATE RUSSIA

German troops are to retire at once from any territory held by Russia, Rumania and Turkey before the war.

The allied forces are to have access to the evacuated territory either through Dantzic or by the river Vistula. The unconditional capitulation of all German forces in East Africa within one month is provided.

German troops which have not left the invaded territories which specifically includes Alsace-Lorraine within fourteen days become prisoners of war.

TO REPATRIATE CIVILIANS

The repatriation of the thousands of civilians departed from France and Belgium, within fourteen days also is required.

Freedom of access to the Baltic, with power to occupy German forts in the Kattegat is another provision. The Germans also must reveal mines, poisoned wells and like agencies of destruction and the allied blockade is to remain unchanged during the period of armistice.

All ports on the Black Sea occupied by Germans are to be surrendered and the Russian war vessels recently taken by the German naval forces also are to be surrendered to the allies.

These are the "high spots" of the terms as the President read them to Congress. Germany's acceptance of them, he said, signaled the end of the war, because it made her powerless to renew it.

The President made it plain that the nations which have overthrown the military masters of Germany will now attempt to guide the German people safely to the family of nations of democracy.

Beside the surrender of one hundred and sixty submarines, it is required that all others shall have their crews paid off, put out of commission and placed under the supervision of the allied and American naval forces.

War Savings Pledges Due

Don't get angry when you receive three little post cards, each of which is to remind you of your War Savings pledge," says today's bulletin from State War Savings Headquarters. "These cards are not sent as 'open duns,' but to inform the person to whom addressed, first, that his pledge card is an outstanding obligation to the Government until it is redeemed and, second, how he may regain his card after having purchased his stamps.

"Read all three of the cards carefully," advises the bulletin, "and you will know exactly what to do. If you have bought the number of Stamps for which you subscribed, take them to the agency or post office designated on the card sent you by your county chairman, and there get your pledge cards marked or stamped 'Redeemed in full.' Remember that your pledge card is an outstanding obligation to the Government until redeemed by you.

"The sending of three cards to each individual has been found necessary, first, to get the pledges redeemed; second, to keep the records straight, and third because people expect and wait to be reminded of the pledges they have made. Again, the importance of the work demanded that more than usual efforts be made that more than usual results be obtained."

Why is The World Don't People Listen to Reason?

Influenza, in spite of the good, old-time remedies of sulphur in the shoes and asafoetida around the neck, like a hurricane passed from the seashore to the mountains, from household to household, exacting its toll, paying no respect to persons. When the final count of the present epidemic is made known, we will probably see that more than six thousand North Carolinians have laid down their lives on account of it.

The germs which cause influenza, like the germs which cause whooping cough, scarlet fever, diphtheria, tuberculosis, colds, pneumonia and many other diseases, live in the mouth and nose secretions of people. These germs die in the air just as soon as the secretions dry, and therefore they can not live long to float about, as some of the sulphur and asafoetida fiends might think. One gets the disease by coming in too close contact with careless people.

A Message From The Red Cross War Council

"The moment is now come to prepare for peace. Actual peace may come at any moment; it may be deferred for sometime. Until peace is really here there can be no relaxation in any Red Cross effort incident to active hostilities.

"But, even with peace, let no one suppose that the work of the Red Cross is finished. Millions of American boys are still under arms. Thousands of them are sick or wounded. Owing to the shortage in shipping, it may take a year or more to bring our boys home from France. But whatever the time, our protecting arms must be about them and their families over the whole period which must elapse before the normal life of peace can be resumed.

"Our soldiers and sailors are enlisted until the Commander in Chief tells them there is no more work for them to do in the war. Let every Red Cross member and worker show our returning soldiers and sailors that to care for their health, welfare and happiness, we are enlisted for no less a period than they are.

"The cessation of war will reveal a picture of misery such as the world has never seen before, especially in the many countries which cannot help themselves. Peace terms and peace conditions will determine how we may best minister to the vast stricken areas which have been harrowed by war, and in this great act of mercy, the heart and spirit of the American people must continue to be mobilized through the American Red Cross.

"On behalf of the War Council, we accordingly ask each member of our splendid body of workers throughout the land to bear in mind the solemn obligation which rests upon each one to 'carry on.' We cannot abate one instant in our efforts or in our spirit. There will be an abundance of work to do, and specific advice will be given, but even at the moment of peace let no Red Cross worker falter.

Signed,
E. R. Black, Manager
Red Cross Southern Division.

Work of Army And Navy is Not Ended

Signing of the armistice with Germany, which brings the world war to an end, does not mean that the great American military machine will cease to operate at once.

America must play an important part in disarming and guarding the enemy until this work is completed, even the movement of troops to France will be continued, although on a greatly reduced scale.

During the interval between the cessation of hostilities and the conclusion of the peace conference, it is assured that the major portion of General Pershing's expeditionary forces in France must be retained there. It is possible also that for reasons of international politics some American garrisons may be kept in disputed territory even after the actual peace negotiations have been brought to a close.

WILL RETURN VETERANS FIRST

Troops which have seen the longest service in France probably will be returned home soon to be replaced by new men now in this country who will perform guard duty or other duty overseas. There are more than 1,000,000 men now in the camps in the United States.

The question of discontinuing the calling of men to the colors under the selective service act with the ending of hostilities has been under consideration. It is known that General Crowder's adviser's have favored cancelling all outstanding calls as soon as the armistice is signed, but this matter must be passed on by the general staff. The movement of a large number of men to camp due to begin this morning under the November calls, which embrace about 300,000 men.

Return home of American naval forces—battleships, destroyers, submarines, converted yachts, supply ships and other craft—also will follow the end of the war.
