ENFORCEMENT OF THE LAW IN WILLIAMSTON

Reports show that for the year of 1920, there were eight thousand people killed in the United States by motor vehicles.

It will be a miracle if someone in Williamston is not badly injured or killed if the present speeding is not discontinued.

Here of late, Main Street has been a popular racing boulevard by a number of auto drivers, both male and female. These drivers not only endanger their own lives, but the lives of pedestrians happening on the street at the time of their approach, they also cause an unnecessary amount of dust, and last but not least they show their disrespect for the law.

It is much harder to enforce law in a small town than a large one. In the larger places it is merely a matter of business, with no personal hindrances. In the country, the people are more like a large family, and to bring in some local offender of any prominence before His Honor, the Judge, is to possibly make a number of personal enemies, or cause other personal embarrassments.

However, we have got to get out of this "Small Town Stuff" and to do this, it is the duty of every citizen to aid and abet the Police Officers and Court Officials in upholding the law, and there is no reason why any one person should have rights to violate the law and get away with it, any more than another person.

The Town Commissioners and the Mayor of a town generally make the local ordinances, but these same gentlemen oftentimes find it embarrassing to always uphold and put their solid support to enforcing same.

We have got to lend our influence and support unanimously to these who are detailed to enforce our laws.

Beginning with the new administration, it is the solemn duty of every citizen of Williamston, both male and female, to give their undivided support to the Town's officers, and it is the absolute duty of the Town's officers to see that the laws are enforced.

Unless there is co-operation, there can be no success. We congratulate the present administration in doing what they could to uphold the law of the town, and the progress of the town in municipal affairs however they have not been entirely successful because we have too much personal feelings in the running of Williamston.

This paper will give any administration our undivided support in their endeavor to carry out the law and to operate the municipal affairs of Williamston in a systematic manner.

Such positions are not popular, and it takes a man or woman unmindful of criticism and personal feeling to be a personal servant of any small town.—Julius Peel.

Local Politics Under Cover

Who's Who in the municipal race for Mayor and town commissioners, to be decided at the polls in May, is far from being a cut and dried affair at the present time.

There is lots of back-room talk going on, and several local politicians have signified their preference—but very quietly and of course confidentially except to their closest political friends. A number of individuals have signified their willingness to run with a little persuasion, and others have announced casually they would be a candidate if So and So was a candidate—meaning of course that they were opposed to such a person being elected.

No public announcements have yet been authorized for publication in this paper, and likely will not be for a couple of weeks or more.

It is possible there may be some political swapping, combing or double-crossing, and a candidate today may have been on tomorrow.

The Enterprise is anxious to see the citizens as a whole get together and show some enthusiasm in the coming elections. Are we going to wait for our local politicians to dictate who is to be the next municipal officers?

The ladies of the town are beginning to show signs of nervous indecision over the coming election. With one of their own sex as a candidate for mayor, what are the ladies going to do—are they going to vote for HER or will they vote for HIM? This is quite a weighty problem to decide and will no doubt cause many restless nights.

This paper wants to see a strong ticket out, and the best ticket will. Then we want to see the successful candidate get busy and put the town on the "Big Circuit" system, and last but not least—the Administration should have the support of every citizen of Williamston.

The Enterprise does not take pleasure in knocking anybody or anything—but a newspaper representing the community oftentimes has to make note of events and people who are more or less responsible for the public welfare.

Every voter in town should cast his or her vote at this municipal election, and as a rule the majority are always right, so with a heavy vote the next administration will automatically have the public approval of the majority of the people of the town. Insist on having an active Mayor—one who is not handicapped or afraid to enforce the law—insist on having a Board of Town Commissioners who have the interests of the town at heart—insist on the commissioners appointing a Director of Public Works and Treasurer combined, as outlined in a previous article.

You may prefer to have the present officials stay in office, or you may prefer to have a new set—that is your privilege—but whoever is elected let's insist that we get out of this "Small Town Conduct of Public Affairs," and establish ourselves in keeping with the town.—Julius Peel.

PEANUT GROWERS HOLD ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING

Dr. B. W. Kilgore and Dr. Clarence Poe addressed the Peanut growers and citizens of Jamesville yesterday, and notwithstanding the rain poured down in torrents quite a large crowd had gathered at the school house at the appointed hour to hear the question of cooperative marketing discussed. Dr. Kilgore spoke for half an hour and gave a general explanation of the Growers' Cooperative Contract, what it means and how it operates.

Dr. Poe then in a short talk emphasized the need of cooperative handling of crops and made many splendid illustrations of the poor marketing methods of farmers. He explained the selling of the former crop as it is now done. The former is the only person who never puts a cost mark nor a selling price on his products. The only thing the farmer does with a crop is to ask what the other fellow will give, and the middle man does the pricing, grading and weighing. But when the farmer buys he has to pay what the merchant asks for his goods whether it is much or little.

The speech of Dr. Poe was especially enjoyed by the school children present who had acquaintance with him through the Progressive Farmer. Mr. Frank F. McCrary of Washington, N. C., gathered in Goldsboro were present in the interest of the organization.

TRI-COUNTY MEDICAL SOCIETY IS FORMED

With a splendid attendance of physicians from Martin, Pitt and Beaufort counties the Tri-County Medical Association was organized at the chamber of commerce rooms last night followed by a banquet at the Pythian hall.

The business session was featured by interesting papers and also a fine address by Dr. C. O. H. Laughinghouse of Greenville on the value of medical cooperation. Officers were elected as follows:
President, Dr. H. W. Carter, Washington.
1st Vice-President, Dr. W. H. Harrell, Williamston.
2nd Vice-President, Dr. B. K. Pace, Greenville.
Secretary-Treasurer, Dr. W. E. Warren, Williamston.

At the banquet, Dr. J. C. Rodman presided as toastmaster, which capacity he filled excellently. Many speakers were called upon, the principal address being made by Congressman H. S. Ward. The occasion was a joyous one, and was attended by a number of local visitors, as well as the doctors. The banquet was served by the Home Economics Club in their usual good style. The menu was an elaborate one and left nothing to be desired.

Williamston was selected as the next meeting place.

The Tri-County Medical Society was organized after much deliberation and consultation on the part of the various physicians in the three counties. They decided that such an organization would be of benefit to all the doctors in many ways and would be of aid and value to the profession. Last night's meeting proved this to be true and the doctors are looking forward eagerly to the next meeting at Williamston.

CITY BEAUTIFUL CLUB

Now that the ladies have equal suffrage, we ask the question, "Are the ladies not equally responsible for the enforcement of the law, the making of new laws, the election of public officers, the upbuilding of the community, etc., as are the mere male voters?" We are not directly interested in whether the ladies should share this responsibility equally or not—we leave that up to the ladies to decide for themselves—however, we do suggest that along with the many ball clubs and other soul-uplift organizations, that we have a City Beautiful Club. When it comes to beauty and adornment, this is truly the woman's sphere. This begins with the woman herself, extends thence to her home and onward to the community in which she lives.

Williamston could be made a very beautiful spot, and all we need is someone to take this personal interest—so we nominate the ladies to the job—which is nothing very unusual for such clubs exist in other and more progressive towns.

We suppose that the improvement should start at home—that is, the front yard of your home should be a place of beauty and joy to you and the passerby—and then the man unsightly spots throughout the town should have your club attention.

A woman is more certain to fulfill her aims and designs than a man and we are sure that if such a club were properly organized it would prove of lasting benefit to the town in which we live.

How about it, ladies?—Julius Peel

F. & M. BANK HOLDS ITS ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the F. & M. Bank of Williamston, N. C., was held on Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock in the offices on the second floor of the bank building.

The meeting was called to order by Dr. John D. Biggs, vice President, and at the roll call a large majority of the stock was represented, and a greater number of stockholders were present in person than at any previous meetings.

The President read out, and presented each stockholder with the statement of assets and liabilities at the close of business on March 22, 1921.

Each section of the statement was then carefully explained in detail, and comparative estimate made. It was found that loans have been materially reduced since last fall, which means of course a reduction in the bills payable. The amount of cash on hand and due from bank was shown to be quite healthy, and prepared a sure road of travel for the bank during the coming months. The committee previously appointed to examine into the safety of the loans made a very favorable report, which showed that the loans and discounts of the bank are very life blood, well secured and well secured. The within itself was an outstanding matter of importance to the soundness of the bank always in the security of its loans.

The President made a very interesting ten minute talk on the business conditions of today as they affected banking, the function of the bank, the duties of the Directors, the future policy of bank all of which proved highly instructive and interesting.

A motion was made and seconded, commending Officers and Directors of the bank upon their business in twenty and safeguarding of the bank thru the perious months just passed.

The President further stated that the bank had endeavored to be fair and impartial towards all its borrowers, and not to cause bankruptcy or ruin by forcing payment when such payment was only possible by a sacrifice of real estate or personal property. The stockholders sanctioned this course of action, as it has made many friends for the bank, and also protected its customers against financial embarrassment.

The deposits of the bank were unusually steady, and showed a tendency on the part of the depositors to be careful of their spending.

The Directors were unanimously re-elected, and after some minor routine affairs were finished, the meeting was adjourned.

Immediately after this meeting, a meeting of the Directors was held. The usual routine business was attended to, the same officers were re-elected for the ensuing year, and the meeting was then adjourned, to meet next in April at the usual monthly date.

The fine condition of the bank financially was enthusiastically commented upon by all the stockholders, both during the meeting and afterwards on the streets.

Many counties all over the country, both North, East, West, and South, have reported bank failures during the past six months, but the County of Martin has withstood the terrible financial shock, and with the coming of better times, the banks no doubt will be the first to show such improved conditions.—Julius Peel.

HOSTESS TO EMBROIDERY CLUB
On Tuesday the members of the Embroidery Club and several friends of Mrs. Graves were charmingly entertained by her at her home in New Town. On account of Lent several members were absent but those in attendance were made very happy during the hour by their hostess.

Mrs. Graves, assisted by her little daughter, served a tempting salad course, consisting of chicken salad, olives, pickles, crackers, salted peanuts and hot tea.

The following ladies were guests of the afternoon: Madame J. W. Manning, J. C. Anderson, J. Lawrence Peel, Misses Pattie Thorne, Felton and Helen Chapman.

For safe fertilizers, cheap, call on Taylor and Peel.

Martin County produced 7,370 bales of cotton in 1919 which sold for $1,228,300.

In 1920 there was raised 10,296 gales, a gain of 2,926 bales and will sell for about $514,800.

$713,500 less than the small crop of 1919 sold for.

Farmers never get big crops and big prices the same year.

Don't raise too much this year. Cotton may not sell at any price if too much is raised.

LOST: NICE RED DUROCK SOW unmarked. Reward for return.

WOMANLY TO BE BIG SOCIAL EVENT

On Monday evening at 8:15, at the School Auditorium, the local production to be given by the Ladies Aid Society of the Christian Church, "The Womanly Wedding" will be the first of a series of social events.

The play will be a big social event, and will be a big success.

Dr. John D. Biggs, pastor of the church, and happy young Easter Brides, Mr. Lewis Bennett, an ardent groom are the principal players, and are well supported by a number of flower girls, ushers, musicians and friends of the church.

Miss "Sallie" Gurkin, an intimate friend of the bride, since childhood, will not forsake her even at the altar, but will be Maid of Honor, and Miss Sallie is in hopes of getting the bride's roses, which means her early marriage.

Aunt "Joe Pender," the fussy little mother of the bride, who has nurtured this tender plant of beauty thru her days of infancy, measles, chicken-pox and other childhood ills, will be on hand all excited over the brilliant marriage of her beloved only child, and the entire sympathy of the assembled guests will be for the dear one who is to be the pet.

The solo, quartets, and other musical programme will be given by the operetta. Miss "Bill" Harris immediately upon the approach of the bride to the altar will recite that tear-dripping number, entitled "Why Did You Make Me Care." Upon the completion of the ceremony, Miss Duke Critcher, in her high contralto, will sing "Forgotten."

Last, but not least, Brother Pete Fowden, will officiate at the altar, and tie the knot which will make this happy young couple firmly and securely united.

The decorations will be worthy of special notice, and will show a decided Easter blend.

The Enterprise will donate as a wedding gift, the marriage license to any other young couple who desire to be married, directly after this ceremony, and now girls, get your fellow on the job, and line him up for another ceremony—a real Easter-honest-to-goodness Spring nuptial. There will no doubt be a regular preacher in the audience, and it will take only a few minutes to get the license—or else advise us beforehand, and all of this will be arranged.

We could suggest a certain young couple, but far be it for this paper to make suggestions which might mean so many little future troubles.—Julius Peel.

WATER TURNED ON IN

Our brand new system of water works, which is one of the best and most modern plants in this section, will be ready for use now in a few days. This plant has been expensive but it was built to take care of the future as well as the present needs of the town, and the commissioners are to be congratulated on their foresight along this line, and their faithfulness through the changing times. It has been no small matter to float the bond issue, making the proper contracts, and otherwise complete this big undertaking.

Some more good news for Williamston people is that the old reliable Alphin-Dunn Plumbing Company, has overcome the financial obstacles to immediate installation of plumbing, by having arranged matters so that they are now prepared to offer work done, payable in the Fall, or on the installment plan, and at prices open to competition to outsiders. This is a home company, doing business at home, and trying to aid its customers in every possible way. The State Sanitary Department is only awaiting the turning on of the water here to enforce the sanitary points to the utmost, and no doubt the Commissioners will be forced to enact a law making every home install water within a limited time. With this great, expensive system of water supply, the town also is going to prefer that there be many users of water in the city.

This is not an advertisement, but a fair, impartial talk to the citizens of Williamston to be on the job, and see about their plumbing needs at once—either from the local company or whoever they may prefer.

Having qualified as executor of the estate of Eliza Porter, late of the county of Martin, all persons indebted to said estate are hereby notified to come forward and settle same at once. All persons holding claims against said estate will present same for payment on or before March 16, 1922, or this notice will be placed in box of their recovery.
This March 16th, 1921.
JOHN L. HASSELL, Executor.
