Tri-County Medical Society Meeting Here Last Night

The Tri-County Medical Society, composed of the doctors of Martin, Pitt and Beaufort Counties, met at the second meeting here at the rooms of the Lotus Club last night. The society was organized early in the summer at Washington, Dr. W. H. Carter of Washington, is president of the society; Dr. E. M. Long, of Hamilton, vice-president; Dr. W. B. Warren, of Williamston, secretary and treasurer.

The Association holds three meetings each year, one in Martin, one in Beaufort and one in Hamilton.

The attendance at the meeting last night were: Drs. Ward, Bray, and McGowan of Beaufort; Drs. E. L. Taylor, Brown, Kline, Swindell, Carter, Williams and J. L. Nicholson of Washington; Dr. Bonner, of Aurora; Dr. McClellan of Fayetteville; Dr. B. C. Williams, C. T. Smith, M. L. Fleming, and H. L. Large of Rocky Mount; Dr. P. J. Chesler, K. B. Pace, E. J. Eden of Greenville; Dr. J. M. Baker of Tarboro; Drs. W. L. Dixon and G. G. Dixon of Ayden; Drs. Cecil Gunnington and J. H. DeLongway of Lenoir; Dr. Pittman of Oak City; Dr. Ward of Robersonville; Dr. Swindell, of Jamesville; and Drs. Warren, Stumbers, Knight and Cook of Williamston.

The program was delayed for a short while owing to the absence of Dr. C. O. H. Laughinghouse of Greenville, who had a part in the program. The address of welcome was made by Albert S. Peel, mayor of the town. Dr. D. T. Taylor was called on to respond in place of Dr. Laughinghouse, who was absent. Dr. Carter made a short talk as president.

Dr. K. B. Pace of Greenville read a paper on the financial side of a doctor's work. The need for a better organization among the doctors was emphasized from the standpoint of collections.

Dr. B. C. Williams, of Park View Hospital of Rocky Mount read a paper giving a lengthy discussion of the method of treating certain kidney diseases. He especially emphasized the method of removing small stones without the use of the knife. After the reading of this paper there was considerable discussion of the same, most of which hearty commended the things that Dr. Williams had said. Dr. D. T. Taylor was then called upon to give a short verbal report of some special cases which had recently come under his personal observation. Among these he discussed the treatment of a boy with a broken arm about the elbow joint. The language used was mostly such as to be found in a doctor's dictionary only, but we know it was either at, or close to, the point for we saw the pictures of same.

The next paper was by Dr. Julian M. Baker, of Tarboro, on the subject "The Present Status of Radium Therapy." In his discussion of the subject he said that the word radium was not found in the old dictionaries nor was there need for it to be there as there was no such substance in existence. Its discovery was made only a few years ago by a French scientist and is now considered the most valuable substance in the world, being used more by physicians and surgeons than any other in the treatment of disease, especially cancer. Dr. Baker's discussion of radium was delightful to listen to even to a layman. He has been using it in his own hospital recently and has treated about 75 cases of cancer and is very much pleased with the results of his work.

Dr. L. H. Swindell of Washington next read a paper on the treatment and results of internal injuries caused by external violence. He gave the histories of several cases that have come under his observation recently and been treated by him.

Colored Tenant's House is Burned

The fire alarm was sounded in Wednesday, when the old McRhodes house was found to be inflamed. The improvised, unprepared Fire Company made for the fire but with not as much haste as is generally necessary on such occasions. About one and a half fellows had to pull the hose reel by hand while the curious spectators "new" by in their autos, trucks, and other riding equipment. Finally the race was run and connection was made with the hydrant but the stream was slow and had no force and the house was so far gone that nothing could be accomplished except prevent the fire from spreading to other houses. Two or three other houses and one of the tents at the convict camp did catch fire but were soon extinguished.

It was found after the fire that the reason the pressure was no stronger than it was that a clip of a lodged in the nozzle of the hose, it evidently having been left in the water main when it was laid.

Williamston must improve its Fire Company. There are some men here who are good enough to serve free as a matter of public good, while there are also some people who have never, nor do they intend to do anything for others. Mr. Chief Crawford, you will have to pick a company from the public spirited young men of the town and give them some practice and in the future we will be able to handle a fire in good shape.

SENATOR KNOX DIES SUDDENLY

On Wednesday evening as he was walking downstairs, Senator Knox of Pennsylvania was stricken with paralysis and died in fifteen minutes.

Senator Knox was one of the most prominent politicians of America, he had served as attorney-general in the cabinet of McKinley and Roosevelt, and as secretary of State under President Taft. He was appointed to the United States Senate to fill the vacancy of Bass Quay in 1904 and was elected to succeed himself in 1906. He stayed in the Senate until 1909 when he resigned to accept the appointment of Secretary of State. After finishing his term in that office he returned to the Senate and has been one of the towering figures in that body for several years.

He was too old to be a good politician, but he had plenty of ability to be a leader. He was one of the most deadly foes of the League of Nations in the Senate and next to Reed and Borah was the most bitter against the Democratic Administration.

He was born in Pennsylvania, lives in Pittsburgh and was 68 years old. He will be taken from Washington to his home state for burial.

MARSHAL FOCH TO BE AT REUNION OF 30TH

Marshal Ferdinand Foch, chief of all the allied armies in the great final drive to victory, will be in Nashville November 4th, to attend the opening day of the third annual reunion of the Old Hickory Association, veterans of the thirtieth division.

The reception committee of the American Legion, in charge of the Marshal's American itinerary, has included the reunion at Nashville. It will be his only visit to the South.

It is also probable that David Beatty, hero of the Marston and the chief of the U. S. Navy, will attend the reunion. Definite acceptance has not been received from Admiral Beatty, however.

Besides these distinguished veterans and General Pershing, eight of the twelve Congressional Medal of Honor men of the Thirtieth Division will also be guests of the Old Hickory Association. Four other Medal of Honor men of the Division fell in the field of battle.

There were but seventy eight Congressional Medals of Honor awarded during the World War. To win one of them a soldier must be more than a brave and gallant fighter. Conspicuous bravery in action is rewarded with the Distinguished Service Cross, of which there were some five thousand awarded during the war. To win the Medal of Honor, however, requires conspicuous gallantry and intrepidity above and beyond the call of duty in action.

The medal is never awarded except after the most searching investigation by representatives of the Commandant in Chief. The nearly one-sixth of all the Medals of Honor given in the whole army should have been bestowed on members of the Thirtieth Division itself the finest tribute that could be paid to the Division which first smashed its way through the defense of the Hindenburg system at Bellefleur.

Reduced railroad rates of one and one-half fares for the round trip to Nashville have been offered to members of the Old Hickory Association. Tickets will be sold on the certificate plan.

Certificates may be gotten from F. P. Bowen, Knoxville, Tenn., secretary of the Association, or from local representatives at Nashville.

BAPTIST CEMETERY BEING BEAUTIFIED

The ladies of the Baptist church are having the Baptist cemetery cleaned up and they are making preparations to make it a place of beauty and a more fitting place for the burial of the dead. They have had a land-grader come down and lay off the whole place in avenues that will be bordered with Lombardy Poplars and Crepe Myrtle trees. It is also their plan to have a caretaker in the very near future.

This is an undertaking for which the ladies of the church deserve a great deal of commendation. On account of the cemetery being divided it has been hardly possible to have the services of a caretaker for either one and both sides are badly in need of attention. It will be a lasting monument to these women if they make the cemetery a scene of beauty instead of neglect.

LAWRENCE-MANNING WEDDING MONDAY

(By Julius S. Peel)
A wedding of more than passing interest to the people of this section, and throughout the State, was solemnized at high noon on the tenth day of October, 1921, in the City of Washington, D. C., in the Chapel of St. Patrick's Cathedral, when the Rev. Father Francis Eagan, united in marriage Mr. Simon Lawrence, of Richmond, Va., and Raleigh, N. C., to Miss Daisy De-Etta Manning of Williamston, N. C., using the full Roman Catholic ceremony.

Mr. Julius S. Peel was best man and Mrs. Albert S. Peel was the Matron of Honor. The bride was attractively costumed in a suit of blue Bolivia Cloth, and carried a bouquet of orchids and white roses. The groom's present to the bride was a rope of pearls.

Following the ceremony, the bridal party were the guests at luncheon of Mr. Julius S. Peel, at the Raleigh Hotel, after which the bride and groom left on the New York Express for an extended bridal tour to various northern points of interest.

Among the guests present at the wedding were: Mrs. Dewart Abernathy, Mrs. William J. Kyle, Mrs. Annie Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Taylor, Mrs. Bessie L. Craigie, Mrs. Mary R. Hayes, Mrs. Annie L. Alley, and Miss Nona Upton, all of Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Albert S. Peel, Mrs. A. R. Dunning, Mr. B. Duke Cletcher, Mr. Maurice D. Watts and Julius Peel of Williamston, N. C.

The bride with a number of friends was on a shopping tour and visiting friends in Washington, while the bridegroom arrived in the City on Sunday afternoon, and while it was previously decided to have a large wedding at the home of Miss Manning, the plans were recently changed and the ceremony was performed the next day after Mr. Lawrence's arrival.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence will reside temporarily in Raleigh, N. C., which City is the groom's business headquarters.

A GREAT CHANGE HAS COME

The newspapers have carried heavy headlines. We have Yanks, Gints, Americans, Nationals, Gold and Ruth and many other names, as well as lots of noble scientific words and expressions of all kinds of baseball.

To make a long story short we have had a great time over baseball. We have jumped, yelled and screamed; we have bet, lost and won. All because baseball is a great game. Yes, more, it is a glorious business. Now it is all over. The Giants have won.

Change the headlines. We will now see "fool" instead of "base." For a few months "football" will be the rage.

Two Views of How Farmers Can Improve Their Position

Two Reason Why Tobacco is High

There are two reasons why tobacco is so high. First, a reasonable reduction was made in the acreage planted, and of the acreage planted the production was small on account of the dry season so we have an unusually short crop.

Second, the drive for organization of the Tobacco Growers of America is in progress, and the few men who control the tobacco business are very shrewd. They know that should the farmer receive high prices for his crop of tobacco he will be satisfied so they are satisfying him with the high prices in order that it will be hard to get to sign the Marketing contract.

Eastern Carolina and Virginia have already been paid millions of dollars more for the tobacco they have sold than if they had not been attempting to organize.

Farmers should remember that the very fellows who have grown so rich in their tobacco are establishing tobacco culture in China and India, where labor can be procured for a cent a head and the prices paid to the American farmer. The day when we need to stick together is at hand.

SHOULD CHILDREN BE TAUGHT LOVE?

New York, Oct. 12.—Love, once a matter of romance, is now a subject of serious and scientific consideration. Analyzed constructively and destructively, tabulated and reduced to formulae, nevertheless it has gained in the eyes of those who measure its power and force.

Psychiatrists, such as Dr. A. A. Brill, define love as a manifestation of the mating instinct, and maintain that all love arises from the same source; and add immediately to the gravity of their statement by declaring that even the love of children arises from the same powerful mating instinct.

On the other hand, writers—creative psychologists as they are—portray childish affections as seriously dignifying the emotions of children, and a signifying to them the importance that medical psychologists bespeak for them.

Frances Hodgson Burnett, author of "Little Lord Fauntleroy," in her novel "The Head of the House of Coombe," now running serially in Good Housekeeping, has through implication declared that the love of a little girl and a little boy is a deep and powerful emotion, with many of the same manifestations as a mature passion.

Dr. A. A. Brill, foremost of the psychoanalysts of America, has written many works on subjects relating to normal and abnormal behavior and love. He has made wide research in the love of children. And he declares that the mating instinct is manifested in the mother who loves her child, in the child who learns prematurely to desire kisses, and in the little boy and girl playmates who adore each other to the amusement of their elders.

"Every mother who kisses her little boy teaches him to love a woman. This business of allowing everyone who comes along to kiss one's child is very bad. In the first place it is unsanitary. In the second place it awakens prematurely a desire for contact.

"Other interests should be given the boy and the girl. Their minds should be diverted. Games, athletics, love of other normal activities should absorb the emotion which they have centered prematurely on sex matters. I have seen extreme cases of the kind when little boys and girls of tender age seem quite mature in their love life to adult degree. They have to be psychiatrically treated.

"In most cases of this kind the parents are to blame. They have not realized the importance, in the present civilization, of deferring adult sex life. They have lavished too much physical affection on their children, thus allowing them to develop too early.

"I should like to see special movies for children that cannot teach children unchildish emotions. A child does not normally love like an adult, but can be made to do so by ignorant adults who induce in the child sexual precocity. Normal childish love is an innocent affection, which later develops into adult love in the narrow sense.

"The entire trend of our Western civilization is to defer contact as long as possible. This has been justified empirically. But our modern tendency to late marriage is vicious, unnatural

Dr. J. Y. Joyner opened the Kingston Fair on the 12th with a strong speech in which he advocated the economic side as the best opportunity for the farmers and the rank and file of people to better their condition and build up their station in life.

Hon. Josiah W. Bailey opened the Henderson Fair the same day with a speech in which he advised the farmers to go to the government and look after it, that it was the government's duty to look after them, that the farmers should fill the next legislature.

These views are very live problems for our people to solve. Hitherto we have not been active enough in our demands for legislation that helps the weak man. After all legislation will not help the weak man unless he has the vision to see it and the power to grasp it. The only way that the farmer can be heard in the councils of business or of state is by organization. That is shown in a business way when five thousand farmers formed a cooperative marketing association. On account of the power created by this organization the government has already pledged a loan of five million dollars or so much thereof as may be necessary to finance the peanut crop of eastern North Carolina and Virginia. This power alone will pay the farmers more in real value than voting many times. It means that all forces will have to cope with members of the organization and that they will get fair play. And certainly the farmer has never asked for anything more than an equal opportunity.

The farmers have some recollections of politicians telling them of the great need to enter politics, and how they were led into temptation by those who proved to want votes for themselves only.

Farmers should give more attention to politics, should give more attention to what is going on, should have their rights and interests protected, but they will never do so unorganized. They should not be organized as politicians, but as business men and as men who can make politicians stoop whenever they command. The farmer can not hope to better his condition when everything he buys is organized, his food, his clothes, his machinery, his luxuries all are full organized.

On the other hand the farmer disposes of everything he sells individually. He knows but little more about the price he is to get for his commodities than the mule that pulls the plow that cultivates it. But a better day is at hand, the farmer has seen the light and in the near future we will see the farmer exercising the same good sense that the merchants, the doctors, the lawyers, the manufacturers, the railroads, in fact all other business folks are using.

Some people seem to think this will mean a fight against all other people, but not so, it will help the merchant, the doctor, the lawyer, in fact every legitimate business will be helped. Thrifty farmers make good traders. The advice given by Dr. Joyner is far safer than that of Mr. Bailey.
