ESTABLISHED 1898

Brief Digest of Federal, State And County Game Regulations

The game laws, perhaps, next to the prohibition laws are broken most often of any laws and are many times broken because people are ignorant of them. We have a carefully prepared synopsis of the game laws up to date, compiled by Mr. H. M. London, Legislative Reference Librarian, as follows:

(The following synopsis of the game laws, showing the open seasons for principal game, taken from page No. 40, and Farmer's Bulletin No. 1235, issued by the United States Department of Agriculture June 30, 1921, with a few alterations and a number of additions inserted for convenience and information.)

The Federal Laws prohibit:

- (a.) Killing any migratory game birds between sunset and half an hour before sunrise;
- (b.) Killing migratory game birds during the closed seasons prescribed by regulations of the Department of Agriculture under Act of March 3, 1913, (37 Stat., 847).
- (c.) Killing wood duck, or sumner duck, or mallard duck, or any other ducks, swans, all shore birds and leach birds (except black-bellied plover, golden plover, greater yellowlegs, lesser yellowlegs); all grebes, dipper, bell-divers, loons, etc., all herons, bitterns, cranes (etc.), all gulls and terns and all song, birds and insectivorous birds.
- (d.) All guns larger than number ten gauge barrel. No shooting from or chasing fowl with, airplane, power boat or boat under sail. No shooting allowed between sunset and half an hour before sunrise. The sale of ducks, geese, and other migratory game birds, other than wild fowl raised in captivity, is prohibited.

2. (a) Shipment from the state of any game the export of which is prohibited by local laws.

(b) Export of any game killed in violation of the local law during the close season, by illegal methods, or for illegal purposes;

(c) Shipment at any time from the state of game in packages not clearly and conspicuously marked with the name and address of the shipper and consignee, together with an accurate statement of the number and kind of birds contained therein. (Penal code Secs. 242-244, and Federal Regulations.)

Bag Limit and Possession Under Federal Laws:

- 25 doves, 25 ducks, 8 geese, 8 brant, 6 woodcock, 25 Wilson snipe, 15 in all of plovers and yellowlegs, 50 sora, and 25 in all of other rails, coots, and gallinules a day. The daily bag limit of any person "shall include all birds taken by any other person who for hire accompanies or assists in taking migratory birds." Possession of migratory birds permitted during first 10 days of close season.

The State Laws Prohibit:

1. The killing of buffalo and elk;
2. The use of airplanes in hunting waterfowl.
3. All hunting on Sunday or shooting wild fowl at night;
4. Export of quail, partridge, grouse, pheasant, wild turkey, woodcock, snipe, or bench birds taken in state but allow a non-resident to take out of the state under his hunting license 50 quail (partridges), 12 grouse, 2 turkeys, and 50 bench birds or snipe in a season, subject, however, to further restriction under county laws.

All wild bird (except game birds, English sparrows, crows, blackbirds, jackdaws, hawks, and owls) protected throughout the year.

Open season for migratory game birds under U. S. Regulations:

- Dove, Oct. 16-Jan 31.

"Home Ties" Is a Great Success

Last Friday evening the people of Williamston were delightfully entertained by a local cast in the comedy drama, "Home Ties" produced under the direction of Mrs. John D. Biggs, Jr.

Mrs. Joyner, Miss Mary Clyde Leggett and Mr. Leslie Fowden played the lighter parts and each one was well suited to his or her part. Mrs. Joyner, as the complaining widow, until she was remarried, Miss Leggett, as a black maid and Mr. Fowden, as the old umbrella man and persistent suitor of Mrs. Joyner were all exceptionally good. Miss Sallie Harris and Mr. E. S. Peel were the ideal lovers of the "good old fashioned" type. Miss Carrie Dell White as a "River-side Drive Vamp" seemed very much at home. Of course "Buddie" Orleans was excellent as a sophisticated young man from the city and a perfect lover. Miss Mary Smith and Mr. Davis were also well suited to their parts, being all right in every detail but especially was their intonation good.

All the members of the cast showed good training by a skilled director, much credit is due Mrs. Biggs to direct such a play and make such a success in so short a time.

MRS. SUE MARTIN DEAD

Last Friday at her home in Jamesville Mrs. Sue Martin died at the age of 72 of pneumonia, after an illness of only six days. For one of her ages she had been in fairly good health until she was stricken with the pneumonia that caused her death in such a short time. Her husband died only a year and two months ago and since that time she and her son, Joe Martin had kept house at the old Martin home.

She was a consistent member of the Baptist church at Cedar Branch, near Jamesville. Mrs. Martin was a daughter of the late Mr. Hardy and Mrs. Sallie Whitley and had lived all her life in Martin county. She was a woman of strong personality, a good wife, mother and neighbor, which is about the highest compliment that can be paid to womankind.

Rev. J. D. Howell of Plymouth held the funeral services over the body and she was buried at the family burying ground.

She leaves to mourn their loss, six children, a son having preceded her to the grave some years. The surviving are Mrs. S. E. Hardison, of Williamston, Mrs. W. B. Gaylord of Jamesville, Messrs. R. O. Martin, George Martin and O. J. Martin, all of whom live in or near Jamesville.

or jacksnipe, coot, gallinule, Nov. 1-Jan 31.

Black bellied and golden plover, yellowlegs, Sept. 1-Dec. 15.

Woodcock, Nov. 1-Dec. 31.

Rail, other than coot and gallinule, Sept. 1-Nov. 30.

Redbird (ricebird) Aug. 16-Nov. 15. If, however, under the state law the season opens later or closes earlier in any county than the Federal date above given, the State law is operative insofar as it conflicts with the U. S. Regulations.

Insectivorous and song birds, including lark and robin, are protected indefinitely under the Federal Migratory bird law. Robins are also protected at all seasons under the State law in Buncombe, Franklin, Guilford, Halifax, Hertford, Madison, Mecklenburg, Moore, Rockingham and Union counties.

All non-residents are required to obtain written permission before hunting on the lands of another.

The following digest shows the details of open seasons hunting license and written permission requirements, in Martin county. The first date of the open season and the first date of the close season are given so that the close season may be found by reversing the dates. If the open season is October 1-February 1, the close season will be February 1-October 1. When no dates are given the species is unprotected:

- Squirrel, Oct. 1-Mar 1; quail, (partridge), Nov. 1-Mar 1; wild turkey, Nov. 1-Mar 1; dove, Nov. 1-Mar 1; woodcock, Nov. 1-Jan 1. Black-bellied and golden plover, yellowlegs, Sept. 1-Dec. 15; ducks, geese, Wilson snipe, Nov. 1-Feb. 1. Written permission required in townships of Cross Plains, Goose Nest, Hamilton and Poplar Point. Non-resident license, $10.00.

TO FILL IN TRESTLE AT GARDEN TERRACE

Mr. J. J. Stewart, roadmaster for the A. C. L. railway, was in Williamston all day Monday making arrangements for extensive railroad improvements and building around Garden Terrace on the upper end of Main Street.

Mr. Stewart states that the railroad steam shovel will be placed in position this week, and the railroad trestle completely filled in with dirt, over large culverts, and thereby doing away with the trestle altogether. It is further outlined that the large siding for Mr. J. S. Peel, and flag station to serve the business and residence interests at Garden Terrace, will be all graded, preparatory to laying the rails, and making a small station.

These prompt and gratifying improvements on the part of the railroad will mean much to the people living around this section of Williamston, and will be a big boost for the delightful new suburb now under way on Main Street.

The various building operations at Garden Terrace and the various proposed plans recently mentioned in the Enterprise are fast assuming definite proportions, and with the valuable assistance about to be rendered by the Coast Line it is only a matter of a few weeks before this new town and residence development will be completed.—J.S.P.

The people generally in Williamston and surrounding territory are very much interested in the farm and building supply company to be located at Garden Terrace, near Williamston.

This company with a railroad siding, ample warehouse and yard will cater especially to farmers and builders, and will carry in stock at all times a wholesale supply of all kinds of material needed by the builder and farmer. This material will be purchased in carload lots and without large overhead or real estate expense will be offered at prices competitive with the firms situated in the larger cities.

This will be another industry for Williamston which will bring many buyers here, and be of great aid in the upbuilding of the town and community.

Mr. Julius Peel, one of the promoters states that already he has requests for the building of five to six small residences, as the people realize that it is more economical to have a building supply company furnish you material on the lot at wholesale prices and contract to do your work for a stated figure, than the old haphazard method of ten to a hundred per cent to the individual contractor. The contractor's great graft era is about over and from now on the building boom will be on a more honest and economical scale than heretofore.

This Company also promises to put some startling wholesale prices to the farmers on fertilizer and fertilizer material.

PEANUT EXCHANGE TO BEGIN WORK TODAY

Tuesday morning, November 1st, the Peanut Growers' Exchange will literally throw open its doors for business and will begin its real work of marketing the peanuts of its members. On that day the men who have been appointed to receive the peanuts for the Exchange will be at the places appointed by them and the peanuts will begin to move to such places as the managers of the Exchange may direct.

Through the splendid cooperation of our national lawmakers the big problem of financing the movement of the peanut crop has been worked out and there will be sufficient funds available to make it possible for the Exchange to take over all the peanuts of its members within the next sixty days, if they can arrange to deliver them that fast. While the amount to be advanced to the members on their peanuts may be a little less than they expected, it means great things to the peanut growers and all business interests in this section for such a large sum of money to be put in circulation in such a short time. It is hard to estimate the full significance of such a large per cent of the growers getting an advance on their peanuts as compared with the small per cent of the peanuts that is usually sold before January 1.

Two Big Hoodoos

However, notwithstanding the fact that there is every reasonable assurance that the total amount of money to be paid out to the members of the Exchange within the next few weeks will be much larger than it would have been had it not been for this organization, there are not a few who are still preaching the folly of such a thing and there are many growers who are wondering how they are going to hold their peanuts with a liberal advance on them, when they have been in the habit of holding them without any advance at all, as was the case with a very large per cent of them last year.

Another hoodoo to not a few growers is the fact that they just seem to know that peanuts are starting off at the very top of the market and that if they turn their peanuts over to the Exchange, prices will be sure to go down. They lose sight altogether of the fact that if per chance they and a few others have the good fortune to sell their peanuts at the top of the market the great majority in such a case would have to sell for less. Nor do they give due consideration to the further fact that while some outside of the Exchange may sell their peanuts at better prices than the average price to all the members of the Exchange, the general average price of those who sell through the Exchange is likely to be better than those who remain outside of the Exchange.

An Outstanding Consideration

What the peanut growers need to bear especially in mind at this time of starting off their organization is that the ultimate advantages of selling on a cooperative basis are so great that they can well afford to go thru a trial of beginning. They will do well not to overlook the very important consideration that the very fact that such a large number of them have come together into one organization is having a most stabilizing influence on the market and that as a result of their having perfected their organization all peanut growers stand a good chance of getting better prices for their peanuts than they would have but for the Exchange. The final gains through organization are so decidedly in favor of the grower standing together that not one of them can afford to rock the boat.

School Girl of Stokes Is Kidnapped and Assaulted

Fire Company Is Still Unprepared

Saturday morning just before 5 o'clock the fire alarm was turned on and the members of the fire company and everybody in general rushed out. It was announced that Station's Gin and Lumber plant were on fire. In a few minutes the fire truck arrived on the scene with just as many firefighters as could get aboard. When they arrived everyone thought the fire would be extinguished in a few minutes as it proved to be only several bales of cotton on the platform, but the hose was twisted and wrong-end foremost and no one seemed to know how the thing did go on anyway.

Finally connection was made and very soon after the water was applied all visible fire was extinguished. The cotton was rolled out and the inside fire was picked out and the bales repacked and covered.

After taking the burned cotton out and repacking it they found about 20 bales short about 75 or 100 pounds each.

No one knows how the cotton caught but it may have caught from a spark from the boiler, which is hardly probable, or from a cigarette. Henry Popkins, who was barbecuing ribs for Mr. Simon Lilley first discovered it and turned in the alarm.

FOR SALE: HOGS, GOOD CONDITION to go in peanut fields. J. B. Cherry & Bros. Phone 6, Williamston, N. C.

Monday morning, Bonnie Andrews, a regular outlaw in his community, and a man said to have four living wives, kidnaped little Estelle Briley from the school house at Stokes. The father of the little girl had taken her to school early that morning when on his way to Greenville as there had been rumors that Andrews was watching for the child to get even with her father, with whom he had had some words some time before. An hour or so after school had taken in a car drove up and a little Mobley boy came in and told the teacher that Estelle Briley's uncle was outside and wanted to speak to her. Of course the teacher gave her permission to go outside but when she was outside she found that it was Bonnie Andrews and that he had sent the boy in under false pretense. Andrews commanded her to get in the car which she refused to do, he tried to force her by storming at her but not until he took out a pistol and told her that he would kill her did she enter the car.

The first grade children were having recess and heard the child go off screaming so they ran and told their teacher who gave the alarm and in a very short time dozens of cars of armed men had surrounded the country around.

Between Patactus and Washington Andrews stopped the car and took the girl by force to the edge of the woods where he accomplished his purpose. He then went to Washington where he was arrested by officers who had been notified by wire. The girl, who is only twelve years old, was returned to her home by friends who were in pursuit of them. She was in a high state of nervousness and very pitiable. Andrews is now in jail in Washington and the feeling of the whole community is aroused against him.

Andrews is a man about thirty years of age and it is rumored that he has been tried for first degree murder at one time in his life in South Carolina.
