

"Live-At-Home" Campaign A Child Welfare Measure

(By Mrs. Clarence A. Johnson, Commissioner of Public Welfare.)
There were more rejections on account of physical deficiency resulting from malnutrition under the selective draft in North Carolina than there were in any other state or territory in the Union except Alaska. In the number of rejections for pulmonary and suspected tuberculosis, North Carolina ranked tenth from the worst, while our proportion of rejections for mental disorders was almost twice the national average.

All of this means that our State has almost twice the proportion of physically deficient and mentally deficient children as the average State in the Union. This means that the North Carolina child is not getting a fair chance from a physical or mental point of view. The reason for this is that the women of North Carolina are being urged to take an active interest in the campaign to make North Carolina feed itself which is being promoted by the Department of Agriculture in cooperation with the Department of Public Welfare and other state officials.

The women of North Carolina are being urged to take an active interest in the campaign to make North Carolina feed itself which is being promoted by the Department of Agriculture in cooperation with the Department of Public Welfare and other state officials. The biggest job you can have as a whole is the bearing and rearing of children; not any kind of children, but children sound in body and mind who will develop into worthy citizens of a great state. In this connection, this campaign is of vital interest as a child welfare measure.

From a moral viewpoint this is a serious question, as many behavior problems result from bad physical condition that malnutrition may be the basis of. The backward, stupid, school child isn't always so because he was born that way. He is frequently so because he is in a state of semi-starvation. And there would not be so many tobacco-chewing, cigarette-smoking, "dope" drinking youngsters if growing bodies were not crying out for some stimulant that should be supplied them by wholesome, well-balanced rations.

A few years ago in another state there was a result in an institution for delinquents. The institution had been a good reputation up to a certain point, when rather suddenly the entire discipline of the place went to pieces. The former superintendent was sent for and her advice in regard to the situation was sought. The first thing she did was to inspect the menu for the week past. On looking them over she remarked that the food which had been given to inmates was enough to put the Old Boy in any body, and her first advice to the management was to serve three good meals a day.

The plan of the Department of Agriculture is to urge every rural family to have a garden, poultry, a cow and hogs, and every urban family to have as much of this as possible. The planting and working the garden and raising the poultry is the part that can be best undertaken by the women and that will depend on them for success. They did it under the stress and necessity of war. They can, and will, do the same if they understand that the successful promotion of this "Live at Home" Campaign will solve some of the serious problems of peace.

NOTICE: A SOW ABOUT 2 YEARS old, white, except for a few small black spots, marked two slits in the right and crop in the left ear, has been at my premises since about the last of November. Owner will please come for her. L. J. Mills, R. F. D. 3, 21

The money donated as a result of the self-denial is to be given to the funds for missionary, educational and benevolent boards.

A NEW PROBLEM TO WORRY ABOUT

The old question of who owns the air above had to be settled many years ago and it was decided that the rights of a land owner begin at a point in the center of the earth and runs from such point until it reaches the surface of the earth. It is exactly the size of the holdings whether said holding be one acre or one thousand acres. The extending lines from the point widen all the time, just as the spokes in a wheel, the further they go the further apart they become. Modern science has to a certain degree interfered with that conclusion as men and nations are now using the air over our heads for the purpose of flying.

Now comes the old question again of who owns that substance which fills all space, certainly all space near the earth's surface, called electricity. It is possible for a man to speak in the center of the United States and be heard by the 110,000,000 people of the entire country at the same instant. Radio systems are being installed all over the country and a family in Williamston can hear the great opera singer in New York any night while their neighbor on the corner can hear a preacher in his pulpit in Brooklyn at the same instant. The instrument which receives cost about $125.00. The two sending instruments from New York and Brooklyn are alike and both of the Williamston receiving instruments are alike, and all use the same conductor. Unless they key to a different wave they have the same results that occur when every subscriber talks at the same time on a party line or when a company of women all talk in a room at the same time (if they would do so), there would be no certain sound, everything would be uncertain. This gives rise to the question who and how must the electric waves be governed. This question may yet grow to be a big one, for some way must be devised to keep all boys and silly girls from monopolizing all known space. They hang on telephone lines to the detriment of business and the disgust of those who would use telephones for legitimate service.

We are wondering how some people can be kept from talking in, what is called, otherwise interrupting the radio service when it comes to be more commonly used. Then the ownership of that substance which we use to carry electric currents or waves will also have to be settled.

INTERESTING TALK BY MRS. MACHERY WEDNESDAY NIGHT

Mrs. Machery, the landscaper, tonight, gave a delightful talk to a meeting of the Williamston representatives Wednesday night. Her descriptions and suggestions dealt entirely with public landscape beautifying and after outlining the work done in several towns in the state she gave effective illustrations of special public grounds. Among these was the University of North Carolina's campus, which is famous for its beautiful trees. Mrs. Machery's speech was worth while and should be instrumental in starting a drive in our town to beautify it, however, we fear that it will have the same result as most of the other efforts made among a few of our citizens to make our town beautiful. They can't get the cooperation of the people at large, which is necessary to make anything a success. Mrs. Machery was here under the auspices of the Twentieth Century Club and she was entertained by Mrs. Harry Murt Stubbs and Mrs. Frank Barnes.

SOMETHING WRONG!

Many complaints have recently been sent to this office against the great horde of loafing vagrants who infest our town. These complaints seem to extend us to cuss them out but they are mistaken. We don't cuss and even if we did, it would have no effect. Road-work is what is needed and since we've got nothing to do with the roads complaints should not come to us at all but to the proper official for consideration.

Doubtless something is needed. We noticed on a back street of the town on a recent afternoon a bunch of about a dozen strong men loafing in front of a little den, which is evidently a center for seamy of the vices which beset the town. Yes, there is something wrong, seriously wrong, too many folks living without work.

JOHN PLUMBE BOYLE

John Plumbe Boyle died at his home in Hamilton yesterday at 3:30 P. M. He died in less than ten minutes after an attack of myocarditis from which he had been suffering at times for many months. Mr. Boyle had recently been to Florida for his health, returning to his home last Tuesday. He had been treated by specialists of Baltimore and Philadelphia as well as by his home physician and while he walked about town yesterday morning his death was no surprise to his physicians.

Mr. Boyle was born in Plymouth sixty-eight years ago. He had no children but besides his widow he leaves four sisters: Mrs. R. H. Everett and Miss Jennie Boyle of Georgia, Mrs. M. A. Cotton of Baltimore and Mrs. Irene Smith of Williamston. He had one brother, the late Frank A. Boyle of Jamesville. Mr. Boyle was engaged in the lumber business for a number of years and after closing out his lumber interests engaged in farming quite extensively, owning several farms, among them the famous Rainbow farm on the Roanoke river. The burial will be at the Hamilton cemetery today and the funeral will be conducted by Rev. Walter B. Clark.

NOTICE

The fact that Craven County had to pay to outsiders three million dollars for foodstuffs last year gave Governor Morrison a good chance to tell those people to plant enough crops this year to feed themselves. What is true of Craven is largely true of Martin county. About half of the so-called "money crops" of Martin go for foodstuffs. This is contrary to nature. We have the climate and soil to produce almost any crop and certainly our meats, corn-hay and heavy foods.

BE ON HAND TO SEE THE RUSH at Harrison Brothers Aluminum sale, March 23rd.

ROAD BONDS BRING PREMIUM OF $4,755

The Board of Martin county Commissioners met at the court house Wednesday March 15th, and opened bids for the $300,000 road bonds. There were about a dozen prospectors present and the successful bidder was Spitzer, Rorick Company of Toledo, Ohio, who took all the bonds paying a premium of $4,755 on them. These bonds are serial and pay five and a half per cent interest. The sale considered good by those acquainted with bond sales. Real work will soon be in operation.

WANT CHAMBER OF COMMERCE HERE TO JOIN N. C. C. C.

Letters are being received here by local business men from officers of the North Carolina Commercial Secretaries Association urging their affiliation with the proposed North Carolina Chamber of Commerce according to Secretary W. C. Manning of the Williamston Chamber of Commerce. An extensive advertising campaign for North Carolina is being advocated by this organization, which has the endorsement of Governor Cameron Morrison, Dr. H. W. Chase, president of the University of North Carolina and others.

The purposes of the organization of the state group are to bring about a greater knowledge and better appreciation of our State's resources, products and opportunities; to systematically advertise our state, communities, products, resources and opportunities to our own people and to the world at large through a monthly magazine, making and displaying motion pictures, conducting advertising campaigns and other methods; to encourage North Carolinians to demand, purchase and use North Carolina products; to bring into the state desirable persons to assist in our state development.

It is hoped by the members of the organization to perfect this organization without delay.

WILLIAMSTON JUNIORS, 11; JAMESVILLE REGULARS, 44

The Junior High School basketball team (the short pants gang) played the Jamesville High School regular team Thursday afternoon and suffered defeat to the degree of 44-11. The Williamston boys did very well, taking everything into consideration, but they didn't even have a chance against the bigger and older boys on the opposing team. Harrison played exceptionally well for Jamesville, in fact he was the only member of the team that seemed to know very much about the finer points of the game. The present Jamesville team is a great improvement over the aggregation they had last year. On a return visit the Williamston boys are planning to show their guests some real playing furnished by boys as heavy and old as themselves.

TOBACCO PRICES LOWER

The sale of tobacco for the month of February taken from the warehouses in North Carolina show that there were 11,125,816 pounds sold at an average price of $14.83. The average price for 1921 was $18.60. This shows a falling off in price of more than 25 per cent which is a greater loss than any business can stand long. The North Carolina crop for 1921 was 239,929,543 pounds. Unless some improvement in financial channels is made it is practically certain that a big crop of tobacco means low prices for the coming year.

SPRING FOOTWEAR

Ever since short skirts became the proper style in women's apparel more attention has naturally been given to the styles in women's footwear. With Milday unable to conceal her shoes beneath a flowing skirt, she insists upon being shod in a manner which befits the rest of her costume.

Retail shoe stores that follow the whims of fashion closely are therefore the most popular. Prominent among such stores in this section of the country is that of S. J. Thomas & Company, in Norfolk, Va. This store was established in 1867 and for years enjoyed the reputation of being the quality shoe shop of Norfolk. It is also now the style center for footwear in its own city and is making an aggressive campaign to secure a larger volume of out-of-town and mail order business.

North Carolina tobacco growers are to have one more chance to sign up for cooperative marketing, according to announcement from Raleigh headquarters of the Tobacco Growers Association. The campaign for signers reopened this week in North Carolina with the state divided into five sign-up districts in charge of experienced campaigners.

The association now has a combined membership of more than 65,000 growers and many of them have volunteered to assist in the final effort to add 75,000,000 pounds of tobacco to the total signed up in North Carolina.

Reports showing how the Kentucky burley growers have solved all their problems and made large sales at satisfactory prices, have stimulated interest in cooperative marketing in North Carolina and several counties which were not active in the past are now anxious to "sign up for prosperity."

This district is in charge of J. E. Lawley and includes the following counties: Carteret, Pamlico; Jones; Lenoir; Craven; Martin; Green; Pitt; Beaufort.

SANITARY INSPECTOR HERE

Mr. J. L. Futrell, State Sanitary Inspector has been here this week, making a survey of the sanitary conditions of the town. Mr. Futrell says the time to comply with the order to connect with the sewer line or build sanitary closets will end April 8th, and all people who live on the power line must connect, those who are not near the line must build sanitary closets by then, required specifications can be had by applying at the Mayor's office. One statement made by Mr. Futrell that will interest the town was that those who fail to comply with the regulations will be prosecuted by the state. There are quite a number of people in the town who have not yet installed water but the regulations laid down by the State will likely get them lined up soon. The high cost of plumbing and the recent hard times have made it difficult for most people to have water.
