

MRS. J. A. WHITE BURIED HERE TODAY

Mrs. Mary Elizabeth White died at her home near Littleton Wednesday afternoon at one o'clock, after a long and tedious illness.

Mrs. White was the youngest daughter of the late W. H. and Mary Bennett and was born October 15, 1885. On August 26th, 1917 she married Dr. J. A. White, who formerly practiced dentistry in Williamston, but at that time was large planter in Halifax county. Besides her husband, she leaves a little son, James A., Jr., and two sisters, Mrs. C. D. Carstarphen and Mrs. Alonzo Hassell and one brother, Mr. Louis C. Bennett, all of Williamston.

About three years ago she was taken with tuberculosis and Dr. White immediately moved to Hendersonville where they remained for about two years but finding the mountain climate too rigid for her they moved back to one of their farms near Littleton, where she lived until her death. For some time it was thought that she was improving slowly but about the first of the year she was taken suddenly ill and stayed in a hospital in Henderson for some time and was then removed to her home where she gradually grew worse until the end came.

Mae, as she was so well known by all classes, rich and poor, black and white, was one of the most popular girls and young women ever raised in Williamston. Her heart always went out to those in trouble and many little acts of kindness were performed by her that only she and those befriended knew of. Few people have radiated more love and friendliness and have attracted more than she wherever she went.

She was an operator for the Telephone Company here and always rendered the best of service and was a great favorite with the subscribers. There are few people who are more diligent in service than she was. She always did her full duty, even to the smallest detail.

But perhaps no service she ever did was more to be commended than her thoughtfulness and devotion to her mother who was in poor health for some time before her death.

In early childhood Mrs. White joined the Methodist church and she was always active in her church and Sunday School. Her faith was beautiful even in her girlhood but it grew as the years passed by. She rejoiced in the singing of hymns and in prayer, even to death requested such services from her nurses and attendants until death claimed her body and her soul took the wings of the morning and rose to the realms above.

Her remains were brought to Williamston Thursday and the funeral was held this afternoon at 3:00 o'clock by Dr. C. L. Reed, of Kinston, who was for several years her pastor, and who baptized her during his pastorate here.

Today all Williamston mourns the loss of as true and noble woman as ever lived within its borders.

STORIES OF GREAT INDIANS

By Elmo Scott Watson
Copyright, 1922, Western Newspaper Union

RUNNING ANTELOPE'S VIEWS OF HONESTY OF AGENTS

IN THE spring of 1874, while the Seventh cavalry was stationed at Fort Abraham Lincoln, N. D., a band of Hunkpapa Sioux from a reservation near by came to the fort to ask General Custer for the food which they much needed. The steamer bringing the supplies issued them by the Indian department had been frozen in ice in the Missouri river and they had been compelled to eat their dogs and ponies to keep from starving.

Having decided to seek aid from the military, they brought with them their greatest orator, Running Antelope (Aahnehsusa Inyanke), a fine-looking, dignified old warrior, to present their case. Running Antelope described at length the distressing condition of the tribe and denounced their agent, accusing all agents of dishonesty.

At this point General Custer interrupted and asked the interpreter to say to the chief that the Great Father selected only good men for agents before sending them out from Washington. When this was explained to Running Antelope he smiled grimly and, through the interpreter, replied: "Well, they may be good men when they leave the Great Father, but they get to be d—d cheats by the time they reach us."

After the council was over, General Custer invited Running Antelope and his chiefs into a dining room of his quarters for a feast. Dignified and impressive as the old chief was while speaking in a council, he was not so admirable as a table companion. After gorging himself on everything in sight, he emptied the plates and swept the remains of the feast from the very noses of his headmen, into the folds of his robe. Then he belted it at his waist, making a capacious haversack, and granted his appreciation of the hospitality and strolled from the room.

Although Running Antelope had not learned table manners (according to white men's lights) in the tepees of his fathers, he was a first-class fighting man. The majority of his victims were members of the Arrikara tribe. His killing of Arrikaras for 1866 was ten warriors and three women. His greatest single feat was the slaying of five warriors in one day. In the 12 years which the record covers he confessed graphically, to dispatching no less than 30 of those hereditary foes of the Sioux, a record of systematic homicide which doubtless gave him as great a reputation among his tribesmen for being a warrior as he enjoyed among the whites as an orator.

"WHITE LIGHTNING"

It is appropriately called "white lightning." It is the vernacular for the so-called liquor that bootleggers sell.

It breaks the hearts of precious mothers, crushes the love of devoted wives and wrecks the hopes of innocent children.

It ruins manhood, smashes morality and undermines character.

It brings disgrace to the respected and casts shame upon the honorable. It blasts faith, blots out hope and makes of love a mockery.

It fills the jails with the remnants of its destruction and provides the criminal courts with the grist upon which to continue to grind.

It gives a black eye to every good cause and casts a stone at every worth while movement for the upbuilding of humanity.

It makes sensible men crazy and causes good men to think wickedly.

It makes cowards of the brave men and fools of the smart and clever.

It is neither a mocker nor a deceiver but carries with it the brand of its ignominy and the label of its shame.

It is a continual nuisance, a persistent menace, an unvarnished source of evil and a unmitigated curse to mankind.

It makes of virtue a by-word and of goodness a sham.

It is the enemy of the pure, the good and the true.

Its ways are altogether evil and its ends wholly wicked.

Well has it been named "white lightning" for it carries death in its wake and leaves destruction in its path.

PATRONS OF STORES SHOULD FOLLOW RULE

Now that the stores of the city close each afternoon at 6 o'clock except Saturdays, purchasers should make it a point to do their trading before this hour (six o'clock). By doing this you give the clerks and employes a chance to leave the store on time and not compel them to remain as much as a half hour longer. Some shoppers wait until just before closing time to enter the stores, which necessitates the clerks having to remain after six o'clock. Purchasers can do their trading before six just as easy as they can when the stores are ready to close. It works a hardship that could be avoided easily and no one would suffer thereby.

RECITAL BY PUPILS OF MRS. J. D. BIGGS

From eight-thirty to ten-thirty on Tuesday evening Mrs. Jno. D. Biggs, Jr.'s Expression class entertained their parents and friends in a most pleasing manner, at the home of Mrs. Biggs. A miniature stage was erected in the large living room and seats arranged for about fifty. Shaded lights with old rose draperies made a very beautiful background for the performers.

The prologue by Miss Pattie Harris was highly amusing and very attractively given. The introduction to each member of the class was gracefully made by Miss Laura Orleans, giving characteristics of each. Then the class in unison gave a very beautiful interpretation of Poe's "The Bells." This poem, as the title suggests, is very musical and the children had been trained to see something of the music in bells as Poe saw it.

Then the following number were given by the different members of the class:

Reading: "Sister and I"—Miss Katherine Hardison.

Reading: "Jimmy Brown's Steaming Chair"—Miss Margaret Rodgers.

Reading: "The Uncle"—Miss Laura Orleans.

Motion Song: "Four Little Maids at Tea"—Misses Hardison, Peel, Rogers and Williams.

Reading: "The Clowns Baby"—Miss Frances Biggs Williams.

Reading: "The Bell of Zenora"—Miss Ruth Elizabeth Peel.

Reading: "Socrates Snooks"—Miss Orleans.

Reading: "Nebuchadnezzar"—Miss Harris.

Pantomime: "The Famine"—by the class.

Each number of the program was highly pleasing and we should remember what this line of work so capably carried on means to our community, children possessed of poise, an easy flow of language expressed with beauty of tone and voice. The enunciation, poise, expression and impersonation of this class seemed to reach a standard beyond their youthful years.

After the program the hostess served delicious cream and cake. The whole evening was a delight to the parents and friends and was enjoyed by all but by none more than by the gifted and hospitable teacher-hostess herself.

FOR THE RADIO FAN

The part that the grid plays in the operation of the audion or vacuum tube in common use on radio receivers is most interesting. This is the electrode that delivers the pulsations of the radio waves which are received by the antennae, to the "B" battery circuit. The current from the "B" battery passes between filament and plate through the grid itself.

The grid adds to or subtracts from the flow of electrons moving from the filament to the plate, and thus affects the phones on the "B" battery circuit so that he phone diaphragm gives the corresponding signals to those received by the aerial circuit.

"All other things being satisfactory" says Mr. S. E. Leonard, Radio Engineer of the Willard Storage Battery Company, "much depends upon the type of 'B' battery used. The new Willard Radio 'B' storage battery has met a most flattering reception and has answered a long-felt want among radio operators for a quiet and efficient 'B' battery."

THREE KINDS OF PEOPLE

There seems to be three kinds of people in the world.

First, those fellows who are willing to contribute something, who are trying to give the world more than they get, who are always trying to help others in some way. It may be in individually or it may be generally. Such people are called good citizens.

Second, those people who are willing to give just as much as they receive. They never do more than make an even swap. Such people leave the world just as they found it. No better nor no worse, these people are graded as fair citizens.

The third class are those who are always trying to take more out of the world than they put in it. They are the fellows who are always milking but never feeding, always eating but never working, always riding but never pushing.

EXTRACT FROM SAPIRO'S TALK

"In 1920 and 1921 about 90 per cent of the farmers in the United States lost money on their products and lost real money. In California where we have our inferior products our isolated position as compared to your, 80 per cent of the farmers made net profits on their products—only by Cooperative Association."

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank the people for their kindness and sympathy rendered us during the sickness and death of our mother.

Amanda Canady and Sisters and Brothers.

WORKING ON THE STREETS

The street commissioners have recently made much improvement on most of the streets of the town of Williamston but the greatest of it is that which is being done on Main street at the present time.

This is gratifying to all those who travel this thoroughfare as no other road could be found that was much rougher.

PRESBYTERIAN SERVICES

Rev. J. T. Wildman will preach in Williamston in the Methodist church on Sunday morning and in the afternoon and night at Peel School house.

Rev. W. B. Neil of Rocky Mount will preach every night next week at Peel School House.

WHAT WE NEED WORSE THAN GOOD STREETS

Williamston seriously needs more cooperative spirit, that kind that is not overcharged with selfishness and not the kind that does not care whether or not the other fellow succeeds and is rather glad if he doesn't, but a 100 per cent hearty cooperation that will help every business and every person in town and every person who comes to town.

We cannot have a good town unless it renders a service to those with whom it deals. We must rise up and be doing or we will come day wake up and find that we are sorry.

Get rid of that indigestion stomach trouble and nervousness, build up your system and regain that lost weight. Take Tanlac. Sold and guaranteed by Dr. J. B. H. Knight.

Heavy Rain Tuesday Did Much Damage In County

NO NEW EXPEIMENT SAYS AARON SAPIRO

(Extracts from Aaron Sapiro's recent speeches in North Carolina.)

Cooperative Marketing is real; there is nothing new in it and there is nothing hidden in it. It is an old, old movement. It is more than three generations old in every civilized country in Europe.

It just so happens that this one particular thing the United States is the one country that has been backward in cooperation, and even in this country we have had it in California since 1894.

Now our farmers out there actually market more than three million dollars worth of products every single year through this cooperative marketing; they market perishable and non-perishable things—they range all the way from strawberries to baled alfalfa, from oranges to bottled honey.

This movement is here all over the United States with all kinds of commodities; there is not a word of experiment in it.

In California alone those farmers have faced practically every kind of problem that a farmer can face in marketing his products and they have solved them every one.

"WORK OR GO TO ROADS" SAYS JUDGE HARRIS

News and Observer.

"Helping one's neighbor with the washing does not constitute an alibi to offset a vagrancy charge," ruled Judge Harris in city court yesterday morning. "There are enough jobs for everybody in Raleigh."

A campaign against the vagrants of Raleigh was announced by Judge Harris, as he issued orders to the local police to arrest all persons seen to loaf habitually in the vicinity of Duke's corner, the notorious "deadline" on East Davis street, famed for its whiskey and its brawls.

In carrying out this program two colored men—Connie Rogers and Henry Williams—were put under heavy bonds to provide proper support for their wives. Zany Perry, a negro woman, who has featured in many fights and cutting scrapes in East Raleigh, and who was recently tried and acquitted for slashing a negro with a razor, was sent to the county jail for thirty days on a charge of vagrancy. She had told the court a few days ago that she had a regular job at a local laundry but an investigation by Officer Dannels proved the fallacy of her statement. She took her sentence very lightly, saying that she wouldn't have to worry about something to eat for thirty days.

The foregoing article on conditions in Raleigh reminds us that Williamston, too, has vagrants. A large number of people are living by selling liquor, gambling and immorality. The mayor and the police force should take a hand and look into these matters.

NOTICE OF SALE

Under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in that certain deed of trust executed by W. A. James to the undersigned trustee, and bearing date of June 10th, 1919, and of record in book W-1, at page 686 of the Martin county public registry, said deed of trust having been given to secure the payment of certain notes of even date therewith, and the terms and stipulations therein contained not having been complied with, and at the request of the holder of said notes, the undersigned trustee will on Monday the 12th day of June, 1922 at 12 o'clock M., at the court house door of Martin county at Williamston, N. C., offer for sale to the highest bidder for cash the following described property, to wit:

All that lot or parcel of land situated and being in the county of Martin and the State of North Carolina, in the town of Williamston, N. C., being lots number four and five on block A., of the plat of land formerly owned by J. W. Watts, plot of which is on record in Martin county, register of deeds office in land division book one at page 322, to which plat for a more perfect description, reference is hereby made. Also to a map of survey made by R. A. Calvin May 30th, 1919 and of record in the public registry of Martin county in Land Division book No. One, at page 484.

This the 8th day of May, 1922. A. R. DUNNING, Trustee.

CORN FOR SALE

AT $3.50 and $4.00 per barrel, at my farm. C. B. Harrison, Phone No. 98. 6p

Williamston had one of the heaviest rainfalls of many years last Tuesday. The water did very considerable damage in several parts of the town. Acres of land were under water, the water coming up in houses in several places.

The new store house at the end of West Main street owned by Julius S. Peel and now occupied by Mr. J. B. McGowan as a store and Mr. Daniel Biggs as a residence was flooded to a depth of several feet and practically all the household furniture, clothes and other things belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Biggs were ruined. The beds, chairs, trunks dressers and other heavy articles floated and tumbled about the house. If the water that rushed in so suddenly had not been dirty it would not have damaged the things so badly but it seemed to leave every piece painted with black sticky mud and everything was almost completely destroyed.

The cause of the ponding of the water in the spot where the store was located was the filling up of the open culvert by the railroad company and leaving only large tiling for the water to pass through. And the tiling was inadequate for even a fairly large rainfall, but entirely so for a cloudburst.

The first report that circled around town was that Mr. Julius Peel had fixed his swimming pool and the news brought joy to the young folks of the town and they were greatly disappointed when they found Mr. Peel had not yet completed his plans of 1921.

HEAVY RAINS SERIOUS

The heavy rains are damaging crops very badly. Many farmers report tobacco falling into the field and than half a crop is looked for from present indications, not more than half a crop is looked for. Much cotton and peanuts were washed out of the fields. All crops are full of grass. Some farmers report Irish potatoes rotting in the field.

DEVILUTION MORE TO BE FEARED THAN EVOLUTION

Monroe Enquirer.

"Devilution" is a brand new word, coined by the veteran and beloved Baptist minister, Rev. Reuben James, who lives at Olive Branch. This good old-time preacher, who was in Monroe said he had been reading so much recently about evolution he had concluded it was a species of devilution that had gotten into some folks. "I take my Bible straight," said Mr. James. "In Genesis the Bible very plainly says 'God created the heavens and the earth and from the dust of the ground created He man.' That's enough for me to know and I believe it was all our Creator intended that we should know about the divine plan. Mr. James stated further we should be more concerned about where we are going than from whence we came. 'Devilution is more to be feared than evolution,' is Mr. James belief.

Thousands of people who had lost hope of ever being well again have been restored to health and happiness by Tanlac. Sold and guaranteed by Dr. J. B. H. Knight.
