BETWEEN YOU AND ME
By Francis Speight

ABUSED OUR PRIVILEGES

When e'er you see some old dog dragging around a chain and block, It's just because he's been nagging at passing folks, or stock.

And when you see us swat some hornet, Or humble-bee, or fly, You can bet your bottom dollar on it, He's pestering us, that's why.

And those poor folks who're sitting musing, Behind a lock and key, Are there because they've been abusing Some privilege when free.

So, "shalt not" laws that seem enslaving, Would ne'er been in use, But we can't keep from misbehaving When we are turned a loose.

WAR SAVINGS STAMPS MAY BE EXCHANGED FOR TREASURY CERTIFICATES

During the war the government offered war savings stamps, paying 5 per cent as a method of saving for people of small means. Since the war and to take the place of war savings stamps, the government offered treasury savings certificates in denominations of $25, $100 and $1,000, now sold to investors at 20.50, $82 and $820, respectively. They pay 4 per cent if held until maturity, five years from the date of issue. About $625,000,000 of war savings stamps, series of 1918, become due January 1, 1923, and the government now offers to issue treasury savings certificates in exchange for them, affording the owners an opportunity to continue a safe investment with good interest. Saving has furnished the life blood for many nations and insures prosperity to the people. The government is doing everything possible to encourage saving in the United States by offering sound and attractive securities for the investment of small sums. If you want to save and insure your future, it would pay you to investigate Uncle Sam's saving system.

"It is to be hoped that every person who can do so will exchange war savings stamps, soon to fall due for treasury savings certificates," said Postmaster Jesse T. Price. "The large amount of money invested and the great number of persons who purchased war savings stamps showed that the people of this country could save money when the necessity arose. Now, if they will take the money they saved when they bought stamps to aid the government in the prosecution of the war and buy treasury savings certificates, they will demonstrate that the thrift lessons of the war have not been without effect. The holders of war savings stamps have seen investments of about $20.50 grow to $85 in five years, and larger amounts in the same proportion. They can see the same thing repeated if they reinvest in the treasury savings certificates. Interest accumulates at the rate of 4 per cent each year, compounded semi-annually. The savings certificates are exempt from the normal federal tax, and from all state and local taxation (except estate and inheritance taxes), and may be held to the amount of $5,000 maturity value, for each issue, by every member of a family. They are backed by the credit of the United States government, and afford an easy and sure method of saving."
