

WAR SAVINGS STAMPS BEING REDEEMED FAST

Federal Reserve Bank At Richmond Makes Good Report

More than $16,000,000 has been paid by the Federal Reserve Bank of Richmond to the owners of War Savings stamps, series 1918, since January 1, 1922.

The local postmaster cautions all who receive such funds to beware of all efforts of unscrupulous promoters to induce them to use the proceeds of their War Savings stamps to buy questionable stocks or invest in highly speculative ventures.

The postmaster strongly recommends the opening of a postal savings account or the reinvestment of such funds for another five years in Treasury Savings certificates which yield 4 per cent interest per annum, compounded semi-annually, if held to maturity, or may be cashed at any time at about 3 per cent, simple interest per annum.

These certificates are perhaps the only securities in the world which are sold with an absolute guarantee as to their worth during the period for which they are issued.

Arrangements for purchase may be made through the post office.
