MR. F. W. HOYT PASSED AWAY VERY SUDDEN

Had Been In Ill Health for the Past Several Years.

The quiet Sabbath day, November 4th, 1923, marked the passing of the soul of Frederick W. Hoyt, one of Williamston's prominent citizens, at his home on Main street. Few friends knew of his extreme illness, so sudden was the attack and so. The night previous he had suffered much with pain, but after some hours, he rested more and was receiving some attention from his wife, when he came to his physician could reach the room. Though he had not been in good health for two years and more, the days found him doing the daily tasks with cheerfulness.

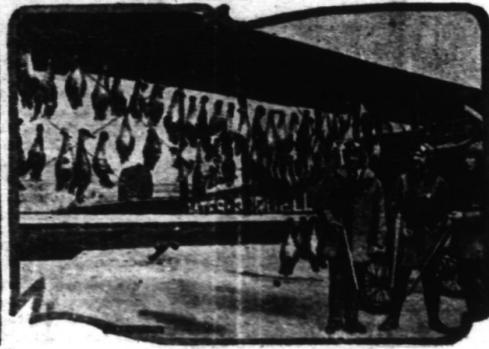

Born in Washington, North Carolina, on May 30th, 1872, he inherited the sterling qualities of his parents, Edmund Slade and Margaret Grist Hoyt, who are remembered as among the first citizens of Beaufort and whose influence is still alive in the Parish of St. Peter's. Edmund Hoyt was for many years senior warden of the Parish, and his son, Frederick served as vestryman for years also, and coming to Williamston to reside, he took upon himself the same duties and faithfully helped in the work for the advancement of the church's influence in the community. Appropriating unto himself the instructions of his parents, his loyalty to home, church and state was true and lasting, fitting him for the sternest battles of life which every man enters. By blood and rearing, he was truly a southern gentleman, chivalrous teaching of that valiant soldier of the cross, Dr. N. Collin Hughes, under whose instruction he was placed, wrought in him added qualities of heart and mind.

On November 21st, 1905, he married Miss Emma Hassell of Williamston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hassell, and grand-daughter of the late Elder Cushing Biggs Hassell. To them were given three children: Frederick, Eugenia, and Frances, who with their mother survive him, together with two sisters, Mrs. J. B. Moore and Miss Julia Hoyt, and three brothers, Messrs. J. K. E. S. and James Hoyt, all of Washington N. C. For three years after his marriage, he lived in his home town, and then came to Williamston, where he established the Hoyt Hardware company, which he managed until his death. In his adopted home, he proved the good citizen and gathered around him a large number of staunch friends, who keenly feel his removal from their midst. The world can judge and praise, but the life in the home is the truest index to that of father and husband. So it was that he who has passed into the other life, carried the best into the home where his loved ones dwelt; to his wife and children he was ever the tender companion and counselor through all the years.

Though not actively engaged in the work of fraternal orders, he was a Mason and an Elk. He said that the beautiful truths of Masonry were taught him by his father, who for many years was master of the lodge at Washington.

Yesterday at 4 o'clock, p. m., funeral services were held at the Church of the Advent in the presence of a large number of friends and relatives. Preceded by the vested choir, the ca-

Hunters Shoot Ducks From the Air

As soon as the duck hunting season opened in California these three men went out with an airplane from which they shot all the birds the law allowed them.

Let was borne into the church, while Rev. Morrison Bethea, former rector and friend, read the Scriptural sentences. Rev. J. E. Garvey, who has recently come to the Parish, read the lesson. Favorite hymns: "Asleep in Jesus," "Lead Kindly Light" and "A- Hide With Me," were sung by the choir. Autumn's most beautiful floral offerings, the gifts of friends and relatives, filled the entire chancel, showing forth a fitting tribute to the dead, who in life, loved the beautiful true.

The interment was made in the Baptist cemetery, the committal service being read by Rev. Morrison Bethea and Rev. Stephen Gardner, of Washington, N. C., read one of the hymns for the dead, just before the benediction. Loving hands covered the mound with flowers after the choir had sung "Ten Thousand Times Ten Thousand," "My Faith Looks Up to Thee," "Nearer My God to Thee," and "There Is a Blessing Home."

Active pall bearers were: Messrs. Carl Richardson, Edmund Harding, Charles Moore, C. D. Carstarphen, K. B. Crawford, Dr. H. B. York, A. R. Dunning and A. T. Crawford.

RALPH COLLINS IS ARRESTED FOR RECENT SHOOTING

Charged With Shooting Dr. A. W. Disoway At Columbia

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—The remains of the late Dr. A. W. Disoway, who died in the Washington hospital here Saturday night at 10 o'clock as the result of gun shot wounds received at the hands of an unknown person in a house near Columbia, Friday night, were taken to his former home New Bern, yesterday for interment.

Dr. Disoway was on a hunting trip with a party of friends and was spending the night in a house in the country near Columbia.

According to Earl Davis, who brought Dr. Disoway to the hospital here, says he found the wounded man in his room at the country house helpless from gun hot wounds in both thighs. Davis alleged that one or two men entered the doctor's room about 2 o'clock Saturday morning and fired on him twice with a shot gun and then fled. He was unable to say who the assailant were, but reported that the Tyrrell county authorities were on their trail. Davis with Dr. Disoway arrived here Saturday afternoon, who at the time of his arrival was pulseless from loss of blood. His parents and wife reached his bedside shortly before his death.

Dr. Disoway was practicing medicine in Columbia. He was reared in New Bern. He is survived by his wife, his parents, and one sister.

Later—Ralph Collins, who is charged with the shooting of Dr. Disoway has been arrested and is now in jail awaiting a preliminary hearing.

MRS. WEIL GIVES SUM OF $6,000 TO COLLEGE

To Establish the Henry Weil Fellowship Fund at N. C. C. W.—Encourage Graduates

GREENSBORO, Nov. 1.—President I. Foust of North Carolina college, has received a check for $6,000 from Mrs. Henry Weil, of Goldsboro, with which to establish at the college the Henry Weil Fellowship fund. This fund, according to the provision of the endowment is "to be used as an award to encourage graduate work, and is to be administered by the president of the college and a committee from its faculty."

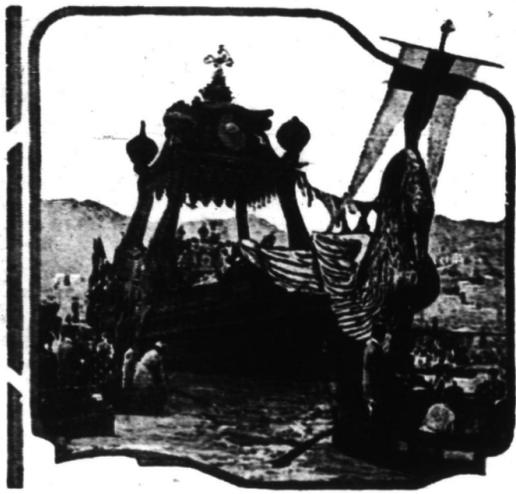

For several years it has been the hope of President Foust to establish at the college a number of fellowships in order that the more scholarly young women who graduate from institution might have substantial encouragement to continue their studies in some special field of work. The Henry Weil Fellowship fund will be the first to be established, and the generous action of Mrs. Weil is a source of great satisfaction not only to President Foust, but to the faculty and students as well.

PLANS FOR ROANOKE FAIR ARE NOW BEING PERFECTED WITH ALL ARRANGEMENTS PROGRESSING

Three New Stock Buildings Have Been Completed With Necessary Additions Being Made To Others; Grounds Put Into Shape

Everything is rapidly being put into readiness for the great Roanoke fair to be held here next week, and as the days pass by everything looks better and better for Williamston to have the best fair in eastern Carolina this year from every standpoint.

The management has booked the entire organization of the Greater Sheesley shows—double the amount shown at other fairs in this section—all other associations booking this organization have only secured part of the attractions; the shows exhibiting at two fairs the same time, but the whole works is coming to Williamston—35 car loads—packed like one, a show organization can pack themselves full of the best entertainments that money can buy, and that can not be bought from the Sheesley organization at any price, but can be seen by the public who come to the Roanoke fair for a paltry admission fee.

The program for the races of the Roanoke fair as announced by the manager of the fair will be greeted with delight by the lovers of good racing in this section.

It takes money to draw good horses and the purses offered by the Roanoke fair brought results in entries from states and more than one hundred and fifty horses have been entered.

The 2:20 trot on Tuesday will be the Bertie stake and as that is school day and all children of school age will be admitted at the main gate free, no doubt bring a throng from that part of the country.

Other adjoining counties will have their days at the fair for the races, and the entire race program is as follows:

Tuesday, Nov. 13
2:20 trot (closed)	$1,000
2:18 pace	400
Wednesday, Nov. 14
2:17 pace (closed)	$1,000
2:12 trot	400
2:06 pace	400
Thursday, Nov. 15
2:14 trot (closed)	$1,000
2:11 pace (closed)	$1,000
2:11 pace (closed)	1,000
2:17 trot	400

On account of the large number of entries of horses to compete in the races, the Roanoke Fair association was forced to erect three new buildings to care for the horses while here. These buildings are now completed, and ready for the horses when they arrive.

The other departments of the fair have also been increased and there will be amazing exhibitions for the spectators when the gates of the fair grounds are thrown open to the public Tuesday morning, to remain open for both day and night exhibitions through Friday night.

The Roanoke fair last year met with the unanimous approval of all attendants, but this year, with all departments increased and bettered by a least one hundred per cent, it will doubtless be the talk of the entire State. People will come from far and wide, because the attractions will be here that they will not be able to see elsewhere, and there is no reason why Williamston should not see the largest crowds here all next week that have ever assembled at anything less than a State fair.

NINE FOOT ROAD

We hear that the contract for a nine foot surface road from the Roanoke bridge to the Hertford line is likely to be let in a few days.

The Ledger is exceedingly anxious to know whose duty it is to take action, vigorous steps to enter Bertie county's protest against any such farce as a nine foot highway. Somebody in Bertie county is sitting down doing nothing in this matter. Who is it? The people want to know. Is it the fight for the Roanoke bridge and road to Norfolk, Bertie was a leader. County commissioners, is it your duty? Road commissioners, is it your duty? Private citizens, is it your duty? Lost, strayed or stolen, someone whose duty it is to enter Bertie county's protest against a nine foot road.—Windsor Ledger.

We heartily coincide with your sister organ. If that don't bring him or her or them to the surface try it in red ink. The pot should get to boiling in short order.

WILLIAMSTON YOUNG LADY WEDS PENNSYLVANIAN

Popular Young Couple Were Married at the Episcopal Church

On Saturday at high noon at the Church of the Advent, Josephine Ransom Davis and Mr. Edgar Green Pascoe were united in marriage by the Rev. J. E. Wane. The ceremony, which was characterized by its simplicity was very impressive, the ring service of the Episcopal church being used.

The church was very simply but beautifully decorated for the occasion. Long leaf pine was used with yellow and white chrysanthemums and tapers in gold candlesticks burning.

Mrs. Carrie Eggs Williams was in charge of the music and she very beautifully rendered several selections from McDowell, Schubert and Mendelssohn before the procession by Lehengrin, and the recessional by Mendelssohn, by which the bridal party entered and left the church.

The ushers were Messrs. John V. Manning and Edward L. Herbert of Norfolk. Miss Elizabeth Clark of Norfolk was maid of honor and Mrs. Oscar Shannon Anderson, cousin of the bride, was dame of honor. Miss Clark wore a midnight blue charmeuse and carried red roses. Mrs. Anderson wore a gown of black silk Romana crepe with black picture hat and carried red roses also.

The groom was attended by his brother-in-law, Lieutenant Billings of Camp Bragg, as best man he was in full dress uniform.

The bride was very pretty in a suit of dark blue poret twill with grey and silver accessories. She was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Charles E. Davis of Norfolk.

Mrs. Pascoe is the youngest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Chas. E. Davis and is maternally a granddaughter of Dr. Edward Ransom, who was one of North Carolina's most prominent citizens. She has made her home in Williamston with her aunt, Mrs. Wheeler Martin, since the death of her parents in Norfolk several years ago and has many friends here who regret to see her leave.

Mr. Pascoe is originally of Pennsylvania, but has been in the employ of the Union Paving company in North Carolina as head of the asphalt department of that company and is a young man of much ability. He was in Williamston for several months and is remembered here very pleasantly.

Mr. and Mrs. Pascoe left by motor immediately after the ceremony for Greenville, S. C., where they will spend a few days before going to Charlotte where they will be at home.

Those attending the wedding from out of town were: Mr. and Mrs. Edward Herbert and Mr. Charles E. Davis and Miss Elizabeth Clark of Norfolk, Lieutenant and Mrs. Billings kinds for spectators at Washington, D. C.
