Announce Rules and Regulations for This Year's Queen Contest

LOCAL CHAMBER OF COMMERCE HAS NOT YET DECIDED UPON METHOD OF SELECTING WILLIAMSTON'S QUEEN; CHANGE VOTING METHODS.

The eligibility regulations for the Queen's contest, which names two queens at each of the annual Eastern Carolina Exposition follows:

1. Must be single.
2. Can not be under 18 years of age.
3. Must be formally and officially entered and name sent into the secretary-manager at Kinston by March 15, 1925.
4. Only one from each town in Johnston County can be entered, who will compete with Johnston County candidates for a diamond ring.
5. Only one can be entered from each town outside of Johnston County, who will compete with the candidates from outside of Johnston County for a diamond ring.
6. Each party will vote for two.

The queen's contest is one of the most interesting features of the Eastern Carolina Exposition. Each year two lovely diamond rings are given the queens who are voted upon by all those who attend this mammoth entertainment.

Miss Nina Upton represented Williamston in Wilson at the first exposition put on by the Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce, and Miss Lydia Cook was Williamston's queen last year, when the exposition was held at Kinston.

The regulations for 1925 are different from those of previous years in that the queen has to be selected a month in advance, and her name has to be in the secretary-manager's office thirty days in advance of the exposition.

The local chamber of commerce has not yet decided upon a plan by which to select the queen for Williamston, but we have its statement that it will soon announce the manner in which she will be nominated.

Method of Voting

The method of voting has been changed materially, and will be seen by reading the rules below:

All queens will be required to report for the parade Monday afternoon, April 15th, at 2 p. m.

Each admission ticket will have a coupon, which will entitle the purchaser to 10 votes for each queen, for adult's ticket, and 5 votes for children's tickets, or half tickets. A person may vote as many times as he purchases tickets.

The ballot box for receiving votes will be open on the inside of the exposition building Monday afternoon, at 2 p. m., with a competent man in charge to see that all voting is done fairly. Each coupon will have two blank spaces for two queens. The names of the two towns, one in Johnston County and one outside of Johnston County, to be voted for. You will write the names of the two towns whose representatives you wish to vote for in the blank spaces.

The ballot box will be closed Thursday night, April 16th, at 11 o'clock, and no more votes will be accepted. The ballot box will then be turned over to the tellers who will consolidate the votes and report the winners as early Friday morning as possible.

The two queens will be crowned on Friday night, April 17, at 7.15. Trade tickets will be given out to the merchants in towns that have queens entered who are members of the Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce March 15. With each dollar's purchase in cash or paid on account the merchants will give to the purchaser 10 votes. These votes are to be held until the ballot box opens on the opening day of the exposition.

These trade ticket votes will have two blank spaces for the names of the two towns sending queens to be inserted. These votes are to be treated just as the regular admission votes. All of these trade votes must be in the ballot box by 11 p. m., April 16th.

Every local queen, if she will handle, will go into the exposition with a large following, because she will have had a month to get local trade votes. It will be to her advantage to see that her friends call for these votes when buying and to buy from merchants who are giving votes for exposition queens.

The queens will be entertained free by the good ladies of Johnston county. All queens will be the guests of the Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce at the annual dinner April 6, at 12 o'clock, noon.

TWO CASES OF SCARLET FEVER

Second Grade of Local School Out Today While Room is Being fumigated

Two cases of scarlet fever have recently been reported to Dr. W. E. Warren, county health officer.

Owing to the fact that one case was a school child, Dr. Warren had the children of the second grade, of which the child is a member, stay at home today while he is having their room fumigated. This will eliminate all danger of contagion from the room. But should any school child get up feeling bad the health officer insists that the parents keep that child out of school for that day.

ROBERSONVILLE CITIZEN DEAD

Mr. B. H. Roberson Dies at His Home—There Last Friday; Well Known Over the County

Robersonville, Jan. 30.—This town and community suffered the loss of one of its oldest and most respected citizens in the death of Mr. B. H. Roberson on Friday, January 23. The immediate cause of his death was brights disease. However, his health has not been robust for several years.

Mr. Roberson was 73 years old, having been born and raised near here and had lived here and at Gold Point practically all of his mature life. For many years he was an active man of affairs and was closely connected with the business and social life of the community.

In early manhood he was happily married to Miss Fannie Coburn, with whom he has lived for more than 50 years, and who survives him. Four sons and five daughters also survive. His sons are Mr. J. Henry Roberson of Gold Point, Mr. W. A. Roberson of Belhaven, and Messrs. Harvey and A. Pitt Roberson, of this place. His daughters are Mrs. G. A. Crofton, of Lumberton, Mrs. H. L. Everett, of Gold Point, Mrs. Heber Munford, of Ayden, and Mrs. C. A. Roberson and Mrs. C. L. Wilson, of Robersonville.

The funeral was conducted from his residence on Saturday, January 24, by his pastor, W. G. Hall, of the local Baptist Church. The pallbearers were Messrs. J. H. Roberson, Jr., Mr. W. J. Little, J. C. Keel, Wiley Rogerson, W. H. Holliday and Mayor G. H. Cox.

All our young people between 9 and 16 are eligible for membership in our Junior or Intermediate R. Y. P. U. Better come and see what they are doing. On February 22 they will have charge of the evening service and will give a patriotic program. This date also marks the beginning of our training school. Come and worship with us.

The sooner you select your queen the better it will be. You will be advised what merchants in your town are offering queen votes. For further information write N. G. Bartlett, secretary-manager Eastern Carolina Exposition, Kinston, N. C.

FEW CASES IN THE RECORDERS COURT

Manufacturing Whisky, Abandonment, and Larceny Cases Comprise Total for Week

Recorder's Court this week was of little interest. However, enough evidences were called in to pay in cash and labor enough to pay all court expense.

The first case called was against Charlie Perry and Isaac Williams, charging them with manufacturing liquor.

The court found Charlie Perry not guilty and he was discharged. The other defendant, Isaac Williams, was found guilty of having liquor in his possession and was fined $50 and the costs of the action.

The next case was against Will Rogers, charged with abandonment; he was found not guilty.

Albert Coffield, charged with larceny, was found guilty and sentenced to the Edgecombe County roads for four months.

IN AND AROUND STATE CAPITAL

Favorable Report on Pardon Board Bill; 421 Accidents on State Roads in Four Months

Raleigh, Jan. 30.—Interest seems to be gaining ground in the many questions before the legislature.

The judiciary committee of the House has made a favorable report on a bill creating a pardon board. This measure has been advocated for a number of years. This would relieve the governor of this duty, which is regarded as one of the most difficult things the governor has to deal with, and which perhaps hampers him in his work more than any other feature of his official duties. A pardon commission seems probable.

The State Highway Commission reports 421 accidents on the State highways in four months, resulting in 27 deaths. The principal cause assigned for these accidents is carelessness. The largest proportion of the accidents occurred where the traffic is greatest.

R. A. Doughton, commission of revenue, announces that his board will make few changes in the income tax bill of last year. He expects the legislature to change the rate of tax on incomes. The present rate is 1 per cent on incomes up to $2,500, and rises one-half of 1 per cent until it amounts to three per cent on incomes above $10,000. The opinion of Mr. Doughton is that there will be a considerable increase in the rate on large incomes. The constitutional limit is 6 per cent.

One proposed bill will make big increases on inheritance taxes, license taxes, and privilege taxes on railroad telephone companies and other public utilities.

Corsets for Ankles Appear in London

Corsets for ankles have appeared for sale in the beauty shops of London. They are of rubber and are guaranteed to reduce the circumference of the thickest ankle to the slender dimensions so much sought by the women of today.

The modiste who is showing them contends that there is no discomfort in wearing the ankle corsets, and it is an ideal way to reduce ankles.

The Germans originated the miniature corset probably because the German women are naturally thick set and big jointed.

We are carrying a full line of fruit of all kinds. Let us supply you with oranges, bananas, and apples. Purvis & Pope—Adv.

Mr. R. G. Harrison arrived home last night to spend several days with his family.

Enterprise Buys Lilley Job Shop

The Enterprise Publishing Co. this week purchased the Simon Lilley Print Shop and combined that shop with the job department of its plant.

Mr. Lilley has been doing a good business in the town and county, and has a large list of patrons and customers whom the Enterprise invites to its shop, where it will try to render the prompt service that Mr. Lilley did.

Combining his plant with the equipment of the Enterprise gives us an up-to-date and well-equipped job printing shop, and our force is adequate to take care of all orders, rush or otherwise.

DRAINAGE MEET HELD TUESDAY

Held in Greenville; Consider Drainage for Eastern North Carolina

President J. W. Holmes, Farmville, Secretary N. G. Barlett, Kinston, K. B. Crawford, Williamston, and F. M. Wotten, a committee of the Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce, and President Fred P. Latham, Belhaven, Hon. John H. Small, Washington, and N. W. Potter, of the North Carolina Drainage Association, New Bern; Hon. W. L. Caboon, Elizabeth City, representing the State Highway Commission, and Hon. Brent S. Drane, Raleigh, State geologist, and W. S. Alexander, of the reclamation commission, Charlotte, were in session Tuesday in Greenville, considering drainage for eastern North Carolina and endeavoring to promote drainage for this section.

Following the development of highway for the State the plan to remove surplus water from farm lands in eastern North Carolina is one of the live questions in the State. Certain it is that no undertaking is of greater importance to the development of eastern North Carolina than removing the excessive surface water from the farms and swamps of eastern North Carolina.

The purpose of this meeting was to assist the legislator to present facts to the present General Assembly and aid it in its service to the State in this particular undertaking.

"Fair Play" Asks Why Lon Hassell Has Been Barred From Local School Basketball Team

"Who threw the overalls in Mrs. Sturphy's chowder" is being asked by reference to the ruling of the March County Athletic Association at its meeting on the 17th instant, whereby Williamston took an overdose on the elimination of Hassell from its basketball team. We do not wonder why the managers of the other schools desired this elimination, but what concerns us is what was Williamston doing while the medicine was being forced down? A good-natured rivalry between teams is to be desired, but when seemingly short cut are used, the matter becomes a problem which is brought to the attention of the public who foster these school teams.

The desire of folks to start something to their advantage and the wholesale swallowing of the same by the opposite sides are two separate and distinct matters. To say the least, the oesophagus of the Williamston manager is not inelastic, but rather of easy passage, for he surely gaped down a big dose of "put-me-to-sleep" medicine.

The adoption of strict college rules by the association strikes a laugh, especially when everyone knows they were directed toward one lone player, who seems to have made chills chase each other up and down the spine of a certain coach.

Well, this same member of the Williamston team is head and shoulders above the majority, but he is just a young boy who entered school grades for working a year, and because he had an accident he is to submit to the humiliation of being eliminated from his school team by rivals, who happened to be on their jobs at the right time with the plot formed and ready to put over on Williamston.

FAIR PLAY.

Want Highway Law Amended

Local officers say that since the recent decision of the Supreme Court in the Henderson case, which declared the city law invalid requiring automobiles to come to a full stop upon entering certain streets, a few drivers are crossing streets at a good gait, making some of the street intersections in the city dangerous for children.

If this city law is invalid, there should be an amendment to the State highway stop law giving the towns and cities the right to retain the old stop law at street intersections, and local officials will urge the present legislature to add this amendment, we were informed by Mayor Hassell this morning.

SHOULD KNOW T. B. SYMPTOMS

State Sanatorium Is Making This Possible by Diagnostic Clinics and Free Literature

Sanatorium, Jan. 30.—The extension department of the North Carolina Sanatorium is trying to make it possible for every person in North Carolina with tuberculosis to find it out and to find it out in time to get well. To do this it employs two whole-time traveling specialists to hold diagnostic clinics free of charge in any part of the State. Dr. S. E. Lee and Dr. D. R. Perry, the clinicians employed for this work, are experienced physicians in tuberculosis.

A special bulletin, "Tuberculosis, its symptoms, cure and prevention," that gives in detail the symptoms of tuberculosis and what one who has tuberculosis should do to get well, is issued by the extension department. It is sent free of charge to anyone requesting it.

Every morning, from 8 to 11, diagnostic clinics, also free of charge, to the patient writes for an appointment, are held at the North Carolina Sanatorium. An appointment for examination can be made by writing the superintendent, Dr. P. P. McCain.

Many far-advanced cases of tuberculosis say: "If I had only known the early symptoms of tuberculosis." Early diagnosis means tuberculosis cures, lives saved and money saved for the State and for its citizens.

The free traveling tuberculosis clinics in North Carolina were first begun in 1920. At that time the work was under the supervision of and was financed by the North Carolina Tuberculosis Association. Since February, 1924, it has been carried on under the direction of the extension department of the North Carolina Sanatorium and has been supported by State appropriation. Thousands of persons have been examined and hundreds of cases have been diagnosed and treated since these clinics were begun.

The clinics away from the Sanatorium are held under the auspices of the city or county health officer, the local physicians, the public health nurse, the superintendent of public welfare, civic league, or local health organizations interested individuals, and the county medical society. If you would like for your county or community to get the benefit of a free clinic, take the matter up with one of these officers or organizations or write to the Extension Department, Sanatorium, N. C.

Every person in North Carolina should have a thorough physical examination. But it is almost imperative that the following cases of people be examined: (1) Those who have any one of the symptoms of tuberculosis. (2) Those who have been closely exposed to infection by an open, active case in the family, especially children. (3) Anyone who is ill in any way and has not obtained a positive diagnosis of another disease.

By writing the Extension Department, Sanatorium, N. C., any citizen of North Carolina whose health isn't what it ought to be may receive free of charge information that may keep the citizen from filing an untimely grave, a victim of tuberculosis that might have been cured.

NEWS OF THE DAY IN WASHINGTON

Muscle Shoals Bill in Conference; Investigate Parks for South; Fight on Postal Bill

Washington, Jan. 30.—The Muscle Shoals bill has been sent to the committee of conference. It is expected that the Underwood idea will be followed by this committee.

The House public lands committee has authorized an investigation of the three park sites located in the southern Appalachian Mountains. The committee will have surveys and estimates of cost made of sites in the Virginia Blue Ridge, the Great Smoky Mountains in North Carolina and Tennessee, and also the Mammoth Cave section of Kentucky. The chances seem to be good for at least one great park, in the east, with the possibility of three.

The postal pay bill is creating some fight in Congress. The bill will increase salaries in the Postal Service about $65,000,000, and there seems to be no place to get the money to pay, except by postage increases. The bill will help the greater art of the load on the newspapers. The newspapers feel that the struggle for existence is already about as much as they can stand; therefore, they are fighting the measure on the ground that it is unfair to put all the burden of the increase on those least able to bear it.

An open fight has developed against the confirmation of the appointment of former Attorney General Harlan F. Stone to the United States Supreme Court. His trust relationship seems to be the biggest objection. The fight may lead to some embarrassment. It is expected that a majority of the Senate will sustain the appointment.

The Republican caucus will be held late in February, which will select the Speaker, floor leader, and possibly discuss a few secrets dear to the hearts of Republicans, will not allow the La Follette followers within the caucus gates, the caucus committee having ignored them completely.

The battle scenes are real and are pictures of the biggest battle that occurred during the war. Men are shown and fall before your eyes. The photography is marvelous, and one is able to discern action occurring at dawn, at night, and in fog and rain.

The actualities are so clear you can recognize your son, brother, husband, sweetheart or yourself. The camera goes alongside the doughboys, over the top, through no-man's land. The fall of shrapnel cuts down men, often men in plain view, occasionally stilling the hand that grinds the camera.

Fighting men, bursting shells, blazing balloons, crashing aeroplanes, tanks, machine guns, destroyers, the gas terror, dressing stations beyond charges, will all be clearly portrayed in this stupendous drama of war, which will be shown at the Strand Theatre here Monday and Tuesday night, February 2 and 3.

Mrs. J. L. Williams has returned from Grifton, where she visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Chapman.
