Martin County Board of Education Acts Favorably on Petition That Local Schools Become a Part of Its System

New Arrangement Will Mean Much For The Local School

On last first Monday, a petition for the admission of Williamston Special Chartered School to the county system was presented to the county board of education and acted upon favorably.

It means that outlying school districts may be annexed by petition and vote of those residing in said districts and the approval of the committee of the Williamston school district and the county board of education.

It permits by such annexation plan those residents from outside territory to carry their proportional part of the cost of operation of the school beyond the six-month period which is provided by the county.

It will place the Williamston Graded School on the same basis as the other local tax districts of the county.

It makes provision for handling transportation of school children to Williamston on a permanent basis, just as transportation is now provided for other local tax districts.

It places the local school where it may apply for State aid with much better chance of success.

It will enable the county board of education to take direct interest in repairing the building on the same basis as other local tax school buildings.

It is hoped that a still better coordination of administration may be worked out and that the school may avail itself of the advantages which naturally arise from enlargement, more revenue, and more variety in the courses taught.

"Air Railroad"

Paul Henderson, second ass't. Post-Master General, who is resigning to manage the new air transport line, capitalized for $10,000,000 and which will immediately establish an overnight service between Chicago and New York—carrying both freight and passengers.

DEPUTIES CAPTURE STILL AND OUTFIT

Was Found in Williams Township No One Found Near Still; Outfit Destroyed

Deputy J. Raleigh Manning, accompanied by Oscar Jones, captured a copper still and operating equipment together with several barrels of beer a few days ago in Williams Township near the home of Dan Moore, a colored man.

For a long time evidence of a moonshine still could be seen in staggering forms and heard of from foul lips. Many fruitless searches by county and Federal officers had been made for the still.

We are mysteriously assured by some of our friends that it will be something different and that it will begin June 12th and end June 20th.

To the man, woman, and child who sends us the three nearest correct solutions as to what the "green tag" means, the Enterprise will give three handsome presents.

It does not affect the authority to levy taxes heretofore voted by the people of Williamston Graded School district, nor does it affect any bonded indebtedness of the district which it now has.

SHIP CARLOAD OF LAMBS THURSDAY

Ninety-Three Lambs Go To Baltimore Markets; Expected to Net From Seven to Ten Dollars Each

Martin County farmers shipped their first carload of lambs Thursday. The car contained 93 lambs. They were shipped to the Baltimore market, where they are expected to sell for about 16 cents per pound, which will net from $7 to $10 each.

Among the largest shippers were J. J. Roberson and sons, Jamesville, Augustus Williams, Robersonville, Luther Harrison, of Jamesville and V. G. Taylor, of Everetts.

Mr. D. M. Roberson says the lambs averaged about four and a half months of age. The wool clip from their mothers averaged about 5 pounds per ewe and sold this year for 36 cents per pound.

THE ENTERPRISE WEEKLY SERMON

"Why dost thou judge thy brother?"—Romans 14:10.

By REV. C. O. PARDO

When St. Paul wrote his epistles to the Romans, it seems there were two sets of Christians. One set who believed in certain remnants of Judaism and continued to observe them even in the Christian era.

So far there was no harm done. On one side a little narrowness that would wear away; on the other side the need of more enlightenment; so the apostle was content to say, "Let every man be fully persuaded in his own mind."

But these Roman Christians went further. The narrow-minded, scrupulous ones judged; that is, condemned their brethren for doing those things from which they themselves abstained. To these St. Paul said, "Why dost thou judge?"

Now, very often judging is persecuting. This was the procedure of the Dark Ages. Men were persecuted for their opinions, their positions on questions, their views.

Galileo was persecuted because he discovered and said and believed certain astronomical theories—the copernican system. This persecution was forced by the Church of Rome. And Galileo, for love of life, was forced to renounce his views.

So, by judging others, we make the limitation of our own conception, our own thoughts and feelings, the measure and standard for others.

It is no uncommon thing to hear insinuations and surmises that a man is lax, worldly, and even immoral; that he is vicious and sinful and altogether lacking in Christian character, simply because he fails to coincide in our views or matters.

Such remarks as "No Christian will play a game of cards; no Christian will dance," and "the man or woman who fails to do thus and so are not Christians"—well, this is judging.

It is not life or personal liberty that is assailed, but character, which is as precious as life. If you spare a man's or a woman's life but destroy their names, you make an outcast and one who is scorned, because they think different from you—have you not judged him? Is not this wrong?

I truly believe the judging of others to be arrogance. Such judging can only be defended on the claim of personal infallibility. The Pope of Rome may make the claim, but free-born Protestant Americans don't believe it. And they don't sanction or approve of arrogance in Rome or in America.

Are those who judge wiser than their brethren? Are they free from human frailty? Are they the meek, the humble, the Christlike, the learned, the holy, the wise? Or are they generally self-instructed, the weakest of both sexes, the talkative, the arrogant, the self-esteemed, the more righteous-than-thou, who presume to judge another man's views. "Who art thou that judgest another man's servant? To his own master he standeth or falleth."

We who boast of our freedom, who point with pride to the fact that the Constitution assures every man the right of religious freedom, we must be careful not to violate that privilege by uncautious judging of our fellow man and brethren.

"St. Paul said in that wonderful thirteenth chapter of First Corinthians, "If I speak with the tongue of men and of angels, but have not charity, I am become as sounding brass or a tinkling cymbal." Charity or love, the apostle said, is as follows: "Love or charity envieth not, vaunteth not, is not puffed up; doth not behave itself unseemly; but faith, hope, love abide, and the greatest of these is love."

An Opportunity To Help Our Neighbors

Last Thursday afternoon the writer of this little piece was on my way home when I happened to think of some shopping that I wished to do. It was about 7 o'clock but one door of the next store that I came to was open, and so I went in there, asked for several articles as I happened to think of them, and kept the clerk busy until a little after seven.

Before leaving I happened to say, "Are you not supposed to close the store at 6 o'clock?" When the young woman replied I saw how tired she was, and she said, "We are; but folks begin to come in about 6 o'clock and we can't get home until about seven." This woman is the mother of three children and after getting them fixed up for the day she goes to work each morning at 8:30. She has little time to rest during the noon hour, no time for a nap, and when 6 o'clock comes she naturally is very tired.

She said that she did not feel hard toward the women who do their shopping after six, because she knew they did not think about what it meant to the clerks.

But what an opportunity it is for us to help the women who clerk and the men, too, for the usually begin work early in the morning and are very tired when 6 o'clock comes. Let's we people of Williamston help our store folks by shopping before closing hours.

A SHOPPER. (Who has resolved to do better.)

CHURCH OF THE ADVENT

Rev. C. O. Pardo, Rector Trinity Sunday, 1925

9:45 a. m.—Church school. 10 a. m.—Advent Bible Class. 11 a. m.—Holy Communion and sermon.

3:30 p. m.—Holy Trinity Mission. 8 p. m.—Evening prayer and congregational meeting.

Trinity Sunday is peculiar from the other days in the church year in the fact that it celebrates not an event but a doctrine. The doctrine of the Trinity is the fundamental doctrine of Christianity. This teaches that God is three persons in one God. And while not mentioned in the Bible by the name "Trinity," the doctrine is plainly set forth in such instances as where Christ gave command to His Apostles to "Baptize in the name of the Father, the Son and the Holy Ghost."

ROAD BUCKLES; CAUSED BY HEAT

Several Cars Have Narrow Escape And Serious Hurt As Result Of Hitting Bump

Hot weather caused the concrete road at Beaver Dam Swamp, near Everetts to "buckle" Tuesday, the pressure causing the edge of the concrete on the Robersonville end of the bridge to jump on the bridge, standing about 7 inches high. Several cars struck the square and sharp edge of the cement and narrowly escaped serious damage. A car driven by Joe Carroll, of Aulander, containing five others was damaged. Some of the passengers in his car were thrown up so high in the top of the car that they were badly cut and had to have surgical attention.

Other cars had their tires cut when they struck the obstruction.

Notice came to Mr. Cherry, who has charge of all the roads in this section, and he posted danger signs, which saved further trouble.

POOR COTTON CROP IN COUNTY

Cold Weather Has Retarded Growth; Other Crops Fair; Tobacco in Some Sections Very Good

The cotton crop in Martin County, to date, is very poor, and unusually backward in every respect. The cold wet weather in the early season caused poor germination, which resulted in an irregular stand and the following cold weather had a tendency to kill that in a growing condition.

Other crops are fairly good, varying in different sections of the county. Tobacco generally is very good and some sections the best seen in years. The cotton belt throughout North Carolina reports conditions better than average years. With the continued warm and dry weather cotton is expected to grow very rapidly and overcome the cold "spell" which hindered its growth several days ago.
