Who Pays High Prices?

Ask the consumer who buys eggs at 40 to 50 cents, chickens at $1 gr more, hams at 40 cents, butter at 60 cents, coffee at 50 to 60 cents, and go on almost through the entire list of the things that we acknowledge as household necessities—sugar excepted—and we find the man who has to eat is paying dear for what he gets.

It so happens that people of this particular section can easily lower their needs along this line, because in this country of agriculture we are able to raise most of the needs of life. It is a real tragedy to see many homes without even summer gardens, and only a few with all the year-around gardens, and then see them grazing on German or Swedish cabbage patches, eating New Jersey onions with Maine or Minnesota potatoes. Half the farmers do not produce potatoes for a fourth of the year, and those same fellows stick their heads in high-priced Chicago tin cans three times a day for something they too often can't tell whether it came out of a pig pen, cow lot, or mule stall. It is just canned goods.

TOO MUCH SYMPATHY SHOWN SOMETIMES

In the trial of W. J. Ausban for the killing of his father-in-law and brother-in-law on August 2, it was easy to see the dead forgotten and sympathy for the living multiplied.

The thing we call sympathy generally plays a strong part in the trial of cases, causing the law to lose much of its correcting influence.

This case was about as rich a harvest from lawlessness as is generally seen.

Family relations, father, son, and son-in-law, going for years, drinking liquor, and so far as Ausban selling liquor in large quantities; occasional quarrels, sometimes a fight, much cursing—all finally culminating in two murders and one trial for murder.

Some witnesses testified that all were in fault. No truer testimony was given in all the hearing. The dead men were the aggressors and Ausban was the retaliator and fought with as much willingness as did the Moores. First, he came in the road and participated in the row, and Moses Moore,

PALE, NERVOUS

West Virginia Lady Says That She Was in a Serious Condition, But Is Stronger After Taking Cardui.

Huntington, W. Va.—"I was in a very weak and run-down condition—in fact, was in a serious condition," says Mrs. Fannie C. Bloss, of 1964 Madison Avenue, this city.

"In my left side the pain was very severe. It would start in my back and sides. Part of the time I was in bed and when up I didn't feel like doing anything or going anywhere.

"Life wasn't any pleasure. I was very pale. I was nervous and thin, and so tired all the time.

"My druggist told me that Cardui was a good tonic for women and I bought a couple of bottles. I took two bottles, then I noticed an improvement. I kept on and found it was helping me. I have taken nine bottles. I'm stronger now than I have been in a long time."

Cardui is made from mildacting medicinal herbs with a gentle, tonic, strengthening effect upon certain female organs and upon the system in general.

dently upon the theory of self-defense. Some criticism of the verdict has been made, because Ausban was a fighter and not a defender. He had participated in the first end of the fight and helped to increase its fury more than any person connected, carrying it so far that he killed all the other participants, and then claimed self-defense. And the dead men were gone—not there to tell the story.

The Smart New Tudor Sedan Will Especially Appeal To You

The Ford Tudor Sedan, recently announced, is an attractive closed car with all-steel body in deep Channel Green, and bright nickeled radiator.

A pronounced stream-line effect has been achieved by dropping the chassis and lowering and lengthening the body. This also results in greater riding comfort because seats are low and deep, and the car is roomier.

See your nearest Ford dealer and have him explain the many new features, such as gas tank that is filled from outside, one-piece ventilating windshield, large fenders, attractive upholstery, wider running boards and doors and improved brakes.
