Roanoke Fair Free Acts Will Be Among Best In North Carolina This Year

Outdoor Program of Roanoke Fair This Year Will Be Greatest In Its History

The outdoor program of the Roanoke Fair this year will be the greatest in its history. The management has worked for several months to secure acts that will please all kinds of folks.

The Randow Trio, two men and a lady in comedy tumbling, will furnish amusement to young and old alike and is the highest-paid act of its kind in showdom today. Manager Poe knows this act personally and it has worked for him in Shrine circuses, and has the record of two years continuously with the J. W. Moore Indoor Circus Co. It could not be played elsewhere until this year. These people put on two acts, both of a different nature.

Then there is Harry Cavilla, the clown from the Barnum Show, the one-man band, and who always has some funny stunt for the people. He will work at all times to amuse the people.

Last year's patrons will remember Guilmette, the aerial wizard, who will come here again by special request from so many people.

The Parentos, a man and a winsome maid, who are some artists, will be seen in two acts, high drops and other thrills.

The greatest of them all, McDonald's Royal Scotch Highlanders band, the best musical aggregation on the fair circuits today. A visitor who heard them last week said that it was a treat to listen to the band, and then there is that singer, a real Scotchman—kills and all—who is a real vocalist. The writer heard him and there were encores until he was exhausted and asked to be excused.

There are several other special numbers with the band that are topnotchers. Don't miss the band; it's the best thing in the way of amusement ever in a fair.

There will be other acts and comics by the clowns, who will be before the stand every minute, and the patrons can be sure of an afternoon and evening entertainment every day from the many features that are offered this year.

On Tuesday night the winner of the Roanoke Beauty Contest will be crowned queen of beauty, and on Wednesday night the Ku Klux Klan will have a parade and exercises.

The fireworks—and there are twice as many this year as ever before—will blaze forth every night after the show.

Among others, the Roanoke Fair Association has received entries from the great Pittman stable for the races here this year. In 1923, when the great stake circuit was in existence and this fair was a member, the Pittman stable was among the best—won the race.

Mr. Pittman assured the management that lots of horses which are now racing the great stakes in the north would break their trip south with a stopover with the Roanoke Fair.

The Roanoke Fair this year is a member of the Carolina Short Ship Circuit and will race the same programs as several other fairs in the State.

Mr. George Taylor, of Everetts, who was operated upon for appendicitis at the Washington Hospital Wednesday, stood the operation well and is getting along very well.

FIELD DAY EVENTS PLANNED FOR FAIR

Recognizing the fact that young people are going to exercise their physical make-up anyway if not guided in their activity, the principals and coaches of the schools of Martin County met on the 6th of October and organized the Martin County Athletic Association. MOVING PICTURE SERMON SUNDAY

Rev. C. O. Pardo Will Hold Sunday Night Service In Opera House; Short Sermon and Picture

On Sunday night, October 11th, in the Strand Theatre, Williamston, there will be a religious service different from any heretofore held in Williamston. Rev. Clarence O. Pardo, rector of the Episcopal Church, will conduct the service which will consist of the regular evening service as used in the Episcopal Church, and it will all be thrown on the screen. The various readings, the responses, and the hymns will all be flashed before the eyes of the people. Mr. Pardo will deliver a short sermon on the "Gospel of Some," after which will be shown a six-reel moving picture, "Faith and the House of God."

There is no admission charged and everyone is invited to attend the service and enjoy the picture.

Children under 12 years of age must be accompanied by older persons.

The idea of a service from the screen and a moving picture in connection with a religious service is a new one for this community, but is a very popular one in Tarboro, where for the past four years the theater service has given teaching instruction and inspiration through the sermon and pictures.

C. O. Moser Speaks At Scotland Neck

Mr. C. O. Moser, general manager of the American Cotton Growers Exchange, in an address to the citizens of Halifax County declared that the cotton growers associations operating in all the cotton-growing States of the South were making great progress. He pointed out the many advantages of group selling of raw materials and declared that the farmers' organizations were in a position to obtain money at a low rate and their insurance has been reduced about 95 per cent by the process of storing in modern warehouses.

He stated also that the deliveries had increased about 20 per cent this year and that the cotton cooperatives were making efforts to reduce freight rates and other costs affecting the cotton trade in order to give the producer a better profit.

The speech of Mr. Moser, which is considered one of the best ever delivered in this section will be printed in full in this paper at a later date. It will be worth your while to read carefully what he has to say as one of the south's leading business men.

He married Miss Hilda Burras about two years ago.

POSTAL ROBBER TRIAL SATURDAY

Postal Clerk Who Robbed Rocky Mt. Office and Shot Self Will Be Heard by Commissioner

Several weeks ago when the startling news was flashed that the Rocky Mount post office had been robbed of $35,000 in cash and the assistant cashier shot by armed bandits who made their escape in a car it was soon seen that the statements made by the wounded man, who was the only person in the office at the time, did not tally with reason, and suspicion at once pointed to him.

A number of post-office detectives were soon on the ground and began to make a study of the case. They found two packages of the money in the basement of the post office building on the second day after the robbery. They did not molest the money, but put a secret watcher over it for ten days, thinking that if there was an accomplice in the robbery he would show up. No one appearing, the money was taken care of, this left only one package containing $5,000 missing, which was found hidden under a part of the running board of an old automobile among some weeds on a vacant lot in the rear of the post-office building and only 16 feet from the place where the assistant postmaster's car was parked when he claimed to have been overcome by the robbers.

Since the occurrence he has been in a hospital under a guard of U. S. marshals. He vigorously maintains his innocence, yet rumor is strong that the government will show a case that can not be resisted.

HIGH SCHOOL NEWS NOTES

Contest to Add Books to School Library; Football Team Needs Financial Assistance

The high school boys and girls have divided themselves into two groups, each group having chosen its own captain. Ruth Manning heads one group and Lucille Hassel the other. The purpose of the groups is to increase the number of books in the library. Each group has had much success, the total number being over a hundred already collected.

The winning side will be determined by means of a point system, for instance, a book such as "Ivanhoe," or "Don Quixote," will receive 2 points, while a book such as "To the Last Man" or "The Mysterious Rider" will receive 1 point. The side having the most points will be given a party by the side that has the least number of points. The campaign will end Tuesday and the party will be given the following Friday. The campaign has been raging since Tuesday of this week. The groups have as their aim a total of at least 200 points.

Anyone wishing to donate a good book or a few good books kindly give it to any member of the groups. They are collecting books from every source—good books.

Football Team Improving

The football squad is steadily improving and football tactics are being used among the boys in practice. Coach Bowden has been putting the boys through the "toughening-up" process during the past week, so that when the uniforms arrive the boys will be able to don them and play a "sure-enuff" game.

We know our townspeople are interested in athletics, and if a team shows any pep, they will stand by to the last. Our uniforms and equipment will cost around $200, and we are asking the town to donate $100 and we will raise the other $100 within ourselves. We can not get the equipment out of the post office until we get the money, so we will all try to get it together as soon as possible, so that our playing may not be retarded.

Proceeds of Play Help

Despite the fact that so many were disappointed in the play, "Rosetime," the proceeds, about $60, will do a great deal toward increasing the funds of the parents-teachers association, which is working to get needed improvements for our building and grounds. Mrs. Dunning and those who so kindly aided in the several capacities in staging the play are due much praise for their interest and efforts.—Reported.
