DIVORCE CASE IS AIRED HERE

Prominent People of Washington, D. C. Involved; Depositions Taken Here Yesterday

A divorce case which involves several prominent people of Washington, D. C., among them Lieut.-Com. John W. Cummings, of the U. S. Navy, was given a hearing in Williamston yesterday.

Lieut.-Com. Cummings is suing his wife for divorce, alleging in his complaint that she had illicit relations with Geo. W. Sommers in Norfolk on the night of June 9th of this year. Sommers, who was at that time a salesman for the Heinz Pickle Co., is named co-respondent, but before the hearing was completed Attorney Baker, for the plaintiff, hinted that there were others who would be named.

The question which was to be brought up at the hearing was the whereabouts of Sommers on this particular night in June. Sworn statements of Mr. J. H. Britt, proprietor of the Britt Hotel, and Charles Knight, manager of the local Penders Store, would indicate that Sommers was in Williamston.

These gentlemen appeared before Hugh G. Horton, commissioner, to make the depositions, and testified that Sommers was here, Mr. Britt seeing him register, in which statement the hotel register bears him out. Mr. Knight remembered giving him an order for goods on or around that date.

Stubs and Stubbs appeared with Attorney Baker, of Washington, for the plaintiff, and Lamb & Coburn and Dunning and Moore for the defense.

Mr. Sommers, it is reported, is in Florida and beyond denying that he was in Norfolk on the night mentioned or had any relations with Mrs. Cummings, has not been nor is interested in the case.

Striking Employees Return to Work

The strike by the Atlantic Coast Line Railway telegraphers called for 4 o'clock Monday did not materialize as expected.

Many agents and operators did not go out at all, and a large majority of those who did go out, it is understood, returned to work this morning.

The Williamston office was not closed at all.

The differences between the railroad and its employees seems to be of a minor nature, and is in the hands of the railroad labor board for adjustment. Perhaps the employees acted hastily in calling the strike until the investigation of the differences by a disinterested board could hear all matters.

Labor unions have possibly done more to keep things stabilized in the business world than any other one agency, yet discretion is a very necessary thing in such organizations.

Big Breaks of Tobacco Both Days This Week

There have been big breaks on tobacco on the local floors both yesterday and today. It was estimated by floor managers this morning that there was considerably over 200,000 pounds on the floors this morning. Every warehouse was full and most all of them crowded to their limit.

Prices were fine yesterday, several of the warehouses averaging around 35 and one above 36 cents. Today prices are off some, but many high averages are being made.

Buntings Store At Bethel Is Robbed

Buntings store at Bethel was broken open Sunday night and $1,500 worth of dry goods, clothing, and notions were stolen. No one has yet been arrested, and there seems to be no definite clue as to the perpetrators of the crime.

This has been a great year for store robbing, and Bethel seems to have suffered more than the other towns around.

BEAUTY CONTEST DRAWS TO CLOSE

Only Four Days Left To Vote For Your Favorite; Contestants' Friends Are Busy

The Roanoke Beauty Contest, which has been running for the past several weeks, is drawing to a close. Only four days of voting now until the votes will all be in and counted; then we will know who has the greatest number.

Up to date the votes cast number into the millions and by Saturday night there is no telling how many votes will have been cast for the district beauty representative.

Some young lady from Windsor, Robersonville, Hamilton, Jamestown, and Williamston will represent their town in the contest. Who these young ladies will be depends upon their friends and admirers. But remember all votes must be in by Saturday night at 10 o'clock. After that time no votes will be accepted.

On Tuesday night, October 29th, at 8:15 in the opera house, Williamston, these district winners will appear before the judges. Then and there one of the district winners will be selected the queen of beauty.

The judges will make their selection on the following basis:

1. Carriage and walk, 20 per cent. 2. Grace, 20 per cent. 3. Figure and form, 20 per cent. 4. General appearance, 20 per cent. 5. General beauty, 20 per cent.

This means there are 100 points. The young lady adjudged to possess more grace, having the most correct carriage and walk, the best general appearance, and whose figure and form is considered the most beautiful, while possessing the greatest general beauty will be queen of beauty, will win the beautiful diamond ring; and on Tuesday night, November 3, will be crowned queen of beauty at the Roanoke Fair.

Three judges have been secured—the judges come from another county and from towns not represented in the contest.

At the conclusion of the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Roberson graciously received the marriage party and relatives and intimate friends who had come from a distance to witness the marriage.

Mrs. Roberson wore an imported gown of black crepe with cut steel beads and carried an arm bouquet of pink roses. The magnificent colonial home was attractively decorated throughout. The guests were much interested in witnessing the very large number of handsome wedding gifts.

The progressive town of Robersonville witnessed a most beautiful marriage Thursday night, when Miss Helen Roberson, of Robersonville, and Mr. George Lewis Mardre, of Windsor, were married in the Baptist church.

A crowd witnessed and heard the old impressive and beautiful ceremony of the Episcopal church. The marriage rites were performed by Rev. A. J. Mackie, rector of St. Thomas Parish, Windsor.

The church was elaborately and beautifully decorated for the occasion. Autumn's golden flowers and green shrubs on a background of pure white with vari-colored potted plants gave a splendid setting to this magnificent scene.

The announced hour of half past five in the afternoon heard the sweet notes of the piano as Miss Mary Adkins, deftly rendered appropriate selections. The approach of the wedding party was heralded by the beautiful rendition of "Because," and "To You," by Mrs. Bruce Fountain, of Leggetts.

The marriage procession was received at the altar by the Reverend Mr. Mackie, and came in the following order: Ushers, Mayo Little and Edgar Johnson, of Robersonville. Pages, Miss Edith Wilson Summer and Roscoe Lovett, of Robersonville. The little people were dressed to represent a bride and groom and received many congratulations.

The professional, Lohengrin's, "Bridal Chorus," announced the approach of the immediate bridal party. Bridesmaids, Mrs. Mayo Little and Mrs. Clarence Beasley, Coleraine; Mrs. Ethna Anderson and Miss Helen Little, of Elizabeth City.

Mrs. Mayo Little wore a gown of white duchess satin and chantilly lace with pink hat. Mrs. Clarence Beasley was gowned in salmon crepe, heavily beaded in gold with hat to match. Mrs. Ethna Anderson wore rose crepe with ostrich trimming and hat to match. Miss Helen Little, cousin of the bride, was gowned in peach crepe, pearl embroidered, with peach and black hat. Each of these bridesmaids carried a shepherd's crook, from which showered bouquets of roses of the color to match their gowns.

The groomsmen were Vance Roberson, of Robersonville, and J. Cooper Perry, Peter Rascoe, and Wm. P. Gurey, of Windsor. The dames of honor were Mesdames Leighton Blount, of Bethel, N. C., and Mrs. John M. Gatling, of Windsor, N. C. They were both gowned in violet crepe and black satin, with hats to match and each carried arm bouquets of pink roses.

Miss Della Louise Roberson, gowned in Nile green crepe with crystal bead trimming and hat to match, was maid of honor.

Little Miss Phyllis Gatling, of Windsor, niece of the groom, beautifully performed her duty as ring bearer. The ring was embedded in a hand bouquet of pink roses which she gracefully carried.

Market expectation noted the approach of the bride on the arm of her father, J. H. Roberson, jr. The bride wore a lovely creation of white duchess satin and real Spanish lace, elaborately embroidered in pearls. Her veil was a Spanish model of tulle and Spanish lace caught with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of brides' roses and valley lilies.

The marriage group was completed by the approach of the groom accompanied by his best man, Hon. John M. Gatling, mayor of Windsor.

The full ritual of the church was used and its richness was most impressive. The ceremony ended, the party in reverse order passed out of the church and repaired to the beautiful colonial home of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Roberson, jr., father and mother of the bride.

It was a very beautiful and interesting ceremony and the entire scene and every movement fitted to exactness with the magnificent ritual clearly pronounced by the rector of St. Thomas.
