Fair Off To Good Start Despite Weather

Rain Slows Up Placing Of Exhibits, But Everything Will Be Ready By Tonight; Crowds Expected During Balance of Week

dition For Today's Speed Program

The Roanoke Fair opened this morning working against nature's handicaps, mud and dampness. Exhibits were still pouring in however and the erection of the midway and amusement stands gave the place its first gala appearance. The past three days rain has tended to dampen the spirits of all those involved but the weather promises to clear now and the coopera tion and interest of all the County people are putting new life in the event and prospects are that we will have a better fair than ever before. It is certainly evident that there are more exhibits than usual and a much greater number of articles are listed in the prize contests. Today when few of the booths were completed and preliminary preparations were still going on a large crowd of attendants from every part of the county were enter ing the gates soon after they were

The community exhibits by the Farm Life and James ville Schools are splendid and are a credit to the county and State. The Martin County Farm Demonstration display is especially good and is proof of the fine work Agent Brandon is doing. We were particularly pleased with the Bertie County Demonstration work and were told by a representative of many big fairs that the Bertie County exhibit is the best he has ever seen of its kind. The following schools, Jamesville, Oak City, Williamston. Robersonville and Everetts have displays of their pupils work on the second floor of the main building. We will give a more detailed account of their exhibit later for it deserves special mention. On the other half of the second floor are the colored school exhibits under the capable management of Mary Gray and are represented by Jamesville, Hamilton, Williams Lower, Biggs, Robersonville and Williamston schools. Sarah Williams, the Beaufort County Home Demonstration Agent has her County's display here too and Williamston Motor Company has an attractive booth with two of their recent model Fords on display. The American Limestone Company, of Knoxville, Tenn., is represented at a booth by Messrs. D. S. Coltrain and Z. L. Groome. One of the most popular places on the fair grounds is the Maxwell House Coffee booth where cups of delicious coffee are served free under the management of Mr. R. V. Ross, of Raleigh. That brand of coffee is certainly bearing out its slogan "Good to the last drop" this cold damp day and we are not surprised to learn that it won first premium ribbons at the Wilson, Goldsboro and Raleigh

Owing to the incompleteness of the exhibitts of the fair this morning there were several displays we were unable tot visit before going to press,

BEAUTY CONTEST GREAT SUCCESS

Miss Trulah Ward Page, of William ston Selected As Beauty Queen; Style Show A Big Hit

The beauty contest is over and the vinner is Miss Trulah Ward Page, of Williamston.

No more enjoyable entertainment has been afforded the people of this community than the Musical Fashion Show and Beauty contest arranged by the Young People's Service League of the Episcopal Church.

From start to finish there was comething doing every minute. A good musical number first then the showing of the latest sport wear followed by the introduction of one of the beauty contestants.

The district winners in the beauty contest were: Winsdor, Miss Perry, who failed to compete for Queen of eauty); Miss Ruth Whitfield, from Robersonville; Miss Helen Davenport, from Hamilton, and Miss Trulah Ward Page from Williamston. The winner State vs. Henry Little, charged with from Jamesville was too ill to appear carrying concealed weapon. Found and after much urging coaxing on the part of the managers of the beauty contest, Miss Carrie Sexton consented to represent Jamesville. The managers of the contest desire to compliment Miss Sexton on such a fine comty spirit, for Miss ! consented to appear as Miss James-Meeting Thursday ville and when she learned that otherwise her home section would not be represented.

TOBACCO IS STILL KING IN PRICES

Williamston Market Right Along With Leaders; Over Hali Million Pounds Sold

Tobacco is still King in the prices that are being paid for farm products The Williamston market is right along with the highest and still above many markets and it is continuing to draw obacco from a very wide territory. The prices have again reached the high level of two weeks ago and will continue to stay there very probably, anless the farmers rush tobacco in to such an extent that the buyers cannot take care of it. This will, also, very probably not happen again as the peanuts and cotton have been house | and grading can be done systemmatically Nearly five million and a half pounds have been sold on the local floors and the warehousemen tell us there will be quantities more brought here because the growers have confidence in our market which has lived up to everything that it promised before its auspicious opening this fall.

MABEL CODY'S FLYING CIRCUS

To Put On Program of Air Thrillers R. F. Pope Runs Into Truck Belonging And Automobile Races At Local Fair Grounds Saturday

Williamston has a paramount attraction for Fairs in Mabel Cody's Flying Circus. Miss Cody has a national reputation for braver and She has accomplished results in the flying world that equal in daring the exploits of her noted uncle, Buffalo Bill. The Roanoke Fair was fortunate in securing the service of only accommodate a few of the many offers of engagements she has. The only other point in Eastern Carolina that she will touch is Rocky Mount. Mr. R. C. Burns' Miss Cody's press agent, tells us there are eleven members of the company and that the advance plane will make a fifty mile circle over Martin county on Saturday making an air visit to most every town is remarkable for its thrills and has the biggest attraction given. The coming of the flying circus is of great moment to our people at this time when the whole world is making such strides in flying progress and when prophysies are being made that the flying machine will some day be as common as our automobile. At any rate if Henry Ford makes as good market for his patented machine as he has for his motor car air traffic will mean no idle promise. Miss Cody's engagements would not which is to be regretted as her act

The fact that the Roanoke Fair management was able to secure the Flying Circus exhibition only because of Miss Cody's personal friendship with the manager, Mr. H. M. Poe, is more evidence of the eminence of our manager.
