

TO OBSERVE CLEAN-UP WEEK APRIL 19 TO 24

Town Officials to Aid Womans Club Campaign in Cleaning Up Yards and Lots

Town to Furnish Carts To Dispose of All Refuse

MAY OFFER PRIZES

Clean-Up Week will be staged in Williamston during the week beginning April 19th. This campaign will be put on by the Woman's Club and the town authorities, who are very anxious to clean up and beautify our lovely town. This means cleaning up yards and vacant lots all over the town.

There is a town statute requiring all vacant lots to be kept clean, but there are few, if any, that are in such condition that legal steps could not be taken to have them cleaned; but what the club women and town officials want is to get our people interested enough to get them to clean them up and then beautify their yards and lots by planting shrubs and flowers. A prize will probably be given by the club for the prettiest yard later in the summer.

The town will provide any extra help needed to get the refuse carried away, and the mayor assured the club that if the women ask for help to get the work done, he will assist in any way. Some people who have vacant lots have said that they would pay for getting them cleaned if some one would see to it. If that is the case, report them to Mayor Coburn, Chief of Police Daniel, or to the club officials, and they will get them fixed.

Details in full of the campaign will be given in Tuesday's Enterprise.

Sunday at Memorial Baptist Church

Sunday night, at 8 o'clock, the sermon subject will be, "The Ascension of Jesus." He spent forty days upon the earth after the resurrection, and then, went back to the Father, where He ever liveth to make intercession for us.

At the morning hour, the Lord's Supper will be observed. This is one of our sweetest services, and should be well attended.

The pastor of this church will preach at Pine Grove Sunday afternoon.

The pastor is very grateful to the people of the town and surrounding country for the royal support given him during the meetings.

The pastors and members of other churches, the Federation members and the people from the rural sections. The faithfulness of the prayer meeting leaders was very commendable. Those furnishing the music did their part faithfully and nobly.

It seems the consensus of opinion that much good was surely accomplished.

Our heartiest thanks are extended to the Editor and staff of the Enterprise for their kindly notices of the meeting, and for their perpetual willingness to lend the columns of their paper to the propagation of any religious matter.

Mrs. H. C. James will leave tomorrow for Washington City where she will join her husband, who has accepted a position with the Peoples Drug company in that place.

WILLIAMSTON MAY GET LANDING FIELD

Williamston on Route Proposed to Reach From New York City to Miami, Florida

The following letter was received by Mr. G. H. Harrison, chairman of the Town Board, this week: President, Town Council, Williamston, N. C.

Dear Sir: This company is cooperating in the establishment of Main Air routes in various parts of the United States and lower Canada.

The purpose back of this effort is the establishing of landing fields at frequent intervals along these main routes in order to stimulate the use of, and demand for, airplanes for both private and commercial use.

This company has been organized to furnish specialized information and advice in connection with the establishment and development of landing fields and to that end is constantly in touch with all developments and suggestions along those lines.

Your community is situated in the line of a route proposed to reach from New York City to Miami Florida.

The initial cost for the establishment of a suitable day field is not large, and, as conditions demand, the equipment of such a field can be added to; and in many cases, outside capital can be secured to assist in financing the project.

If your community is at all interested, we suggest that a preliminary investigation and report be made with the end in view of becoming one of the Airports on the projected route.

The expense for such report would not be large and we offer the experience of our organization in that connection.

Very truly,
AIRPORT ENGINEERING CO.

Catholic Chapel Car Is Here for Stay of Week

Father David Sweeney In Charge; To Lecture Every Night

PUBLIC IS INVITED

St. Peter's Chapel car, under the direction of Father David Sweeney, has arrived in Williamston for a stay of a week. This is one of three chapel cars in the United States, and is made possible by the gift of a California woman, who left several million dollars for the equipment and maintenance of the cars. In an interview with Father Sweeney he said that his visit to non-Catholic North Carolina is not for the purpose of proselytizing but for the convenience of Catholics who live in places where there is no church in order that they may attend mass and avail themselves of the opportunities of practicing their religion which would not be possible were it not for the presence of the chapel car. He also stated that he wished to lecture on the great teachings of the Catholic Church, which have been so misunderstood, and through ignorance of the people such false conceptions had been spread abroad. He will lecture each evening at 7:30 o'clock, and every citizen of Williamston and the near-by sections is invited to be present.

Father Sweeney is, of course, highly educated, as all the priesthood of the Catholic Church must be, and is a man of liberal views, widely traveled, and it is certain that his lectures will be of much interest and will give out much information. St. Peter's Chapel car is a splendidly equipped Pullman car; there are library and reception rooms, where Father Sweeney receives his guests; the chapel itself, in which is a most beautiful altar made to conform in perfect taste with the furnishings of the car; berths for eight people, and a dining room. The car was built at a cost of fifty thousand dollars, and has much of interest to those who wish to visit it.

WEEKLY SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

April 11—The Story of Creation—Gen. 1:1-3, 26-31.

By C. H. DICKEY

Without preliminaries, without introduction, the writer of the Book of Genesis starts knocking off nuggets of gold in the very first sentence.

"In the beginning—God!" This is sublime. It drives hard at the heart; it goes at the roots; it delves to the foundations.

Here is where the squabbles arise about science and religion.

But why all the worry? Who knows just when God performed the moving events of this great poem, and who knows how He did it? Whether He made our world in six days, or in six periods of time—what difference can it possibly make—And whether God made man in a moment or during a process—who knows, and what possible difference can it ever make?

The real scientists do not deny the existence of God—why should they? The real religionists do not deny the legitimate field of science—why should he. The scientist starts with what he finds; the religionist pushes on back behind what is first found to what the poet called "The first great cause, least understood."

It is possible for good people to flit away valuable time here, and at the same time to miss the beautiful content of this moving piece of world-literature.

"In the beginning—God"—fix that in the mind of the child, and it will not easily give place to any other conception. If God was in the beginning working, creating, sustaining, shaping, and fashioning—if the heart gives assent to this, it seems that the fundamental has been fathomed.

The creation of the first people is only a portion of the moving events of these first chapters in Genesis. But it would seem that all else had been done to make way for them.

Whether or not only two persons at first appeared on the earth, or whether "humanity" was created and brought to life may be, even with honest souls, open to question. But, again, what difference can it make? We are all here; and the fundamental question now should be, "Where are we going?" more than "Whence came we?"

Right here in the beginning God starts a family. Ever since then the family has been the unit of society, and the pivot upon which the world's civilization has turned. God peopled the world and chose a particular people for His divine family purpose.

From this family the Christ was to come into the world. God has always dealt with families.

Frequently one hears the statement that one does not care for the Old Testament—that it is quite enough to read the New. Quite wrong. It is absolutely impossible, thoroughly and altogether impossible, for one to be any sort of Bible student and not be familiar with the contents of the Old Testament. It is fundamental to a study, intelligently, of the New. Without it, our New Testament would have no roots, no background.

We are now entering upon a quarter's study right in the beginning of things. The conceptions are glorious, the events moving, the people are thoroughly human. There is great worth here in the Old Testament. Any person interested in Bible study neglects it at a very great loss, indeed.

Dr. George Collins of Raleigh was the guest of Dr. W. E. Warren last night.

Misses Hattie Thower and Clyde Hassell heard Will Rogers in Greenville Monday night.

Teachers And Parents Have Good Meeting

Report on Condition of School Auditorium Expected Soon

ORDER CLOCK PARTS

The Parent-Teachers had a very good meeting yesterday at their regular session. The president, Mrs. P. B. Cone presided.

There was not very much business to attend to but parents present were gratified to hear that an architect will be here at an early date to inspect the school building and find out whether it is safe or not. Professor Seymour had been assured of this by the State department.

The committee on the closing of the lane between K. B. Crawford's and J. D. Leggett's to autos, reported that both Mr. Crawford and Mr. Leggett were glad to have the lane closed and this will be done at once.

Parts have been ordered for the town clock and soon our town time piece will not deceive us by wearing four different faces.

An interesting program was given by children of Misses Martha Anderson and Eleanor Stanback, teachers of the third and fourth grades, respectively.

There were town songs by the classes and the following appeared on the rest of the program, Katherine Shute, original story; Alma Shirley, poem; Mattie Gurganus, April fool joke; Lottie Bell Ward, story; Billie Peace Lape, poem; Josephine Anderson, poem; Wilda Jenkins and Sarah Cone, song; Grace T. Barnhill, original story; Ruth Jenkins, poem.

Telephone Employees Guests at Fish Fry

One of the best fish fries in several seasons was enjoyed by officials and employees of the Carolina Telephone and Telegraph company last evening at Ray's camp, near here. With Mrs. Dona Stallings as hostess and Mr. J. W. Manning as host, a delightful menu was prepared and the fried shad and stewed rock met with more than a hearty favor, not even mentioning the strong appetites.

Three cooks were kept busy several hours preparing and cooking the 80 pounds of rock and shad, and the food itself was evidence of their skill. And while three cooks were busy with the fish and cornbread, the kind Mother used to bake, "Min" was busy preparing the most delicious Irish potatoes after the French style. And then with coffee and pickles the meal was complete, and was most appetizing.

Misses Lovy Brown, Ruby Howell, Mary Allbrooks and Annie Kinlow and Messrs. W. R. Johnson, W. C. Darrow and W. H. Hines of the Tarboro exchange were pleasant guests. Mrs. Stallings and Mr. Manning had also as their guests many of our townspeople as well as several from other towns.

The afternoon party will be for the children, and tickets to play, which includes refreshments, will be sold for 25 cents each.

The evening party will be for both men and women and tickets will be 50 cents each. Anyone desiring a table reserved may do so by telephoning Mrs. J. W. Manning.

Both rock and bridge will be played. The hours are 4 in the afternoon and 8 o'clock in the evening.

Terrific Storm Visited Washington Yesterday

A terrific storm visited Washington and vicinity last night and a great deal of damage was done, the exact amount not being known at this time.

At noon today power had not been restored and the various industries of Washington were at a standstill. Telephone and telegraph lines as well as power and light lines were destroyed, there being few poles left standing where the storm was heaviest.

S. S. HADLEY BADLY INJURED BY AUTO

Car Breaks Arm and Makes Several Bad Bruises Around Head; Accident Unavoidable

As he was walking across Main street in front of the Dunn Plumbing shop at 12:45 today, Mr. S. S. Hadley was run over by a Ford coupe driven by Miss Mary Cook. Miss Cook was on her way home and started to turn out for Mr. Hadley when he looked around and turned in front of the car. Miss Cook then turned the other way and Mr. Hadley, badly frightened, turned in the same direction. Before Miss Cook could stop her car it had knocked Mr. Hadley down, one wheel running over him. In some way, Mr. Hadley doubled up under the car and was dragged several feet before Miss Cook could stop. The car was going at a very slow speed and both Mr. Hadley and Miss Cook were so badly frightened that the accident was unavoidable almost.

Mr. Hadley was rushed to his home near by in an unconscious state, but he regained consciousness a few minutes later. Doctors Saunders and Rhodes were called, and at the present time have not been able to determine the extent of his injuries more than a broken arm and several bad bruises around the head. It is thought, however, that his injuries are not as bad as once expected by eye witnesses to the accident.

Miss Cook had to be carried home and was in a very nervous state immediately following the happening. The car was slightly damaged, a large dent being made in the radiator.

A. J. Jones Called Before Mayor Coburn

A. J. Jones, of Creswell, but who is stationed here for a few weeks with the Highway commission, was called before Mayor Coburn last Wednesday night to face a charge of drunkenness. Jones pleaded guilty to the charge and when evidence was given in the case Mayor Coburn released him with a fine of $3.50 and costs.

Jones was attending a square dance at one of the local warehouses last week and he, drinking to the tune of the fiddler, took on a little too much. He cussed a little, but did so with no bad intentions and when the Mayor learned the defendant was a widower with five children a small fine accompanied with costs was imposed.
