Cotton Fertilizers and Their Application

As a general rule, all acid phosphate and all Nitrate of Soda up to 200 pounds per acre should be applied before planting. If, as is often the case, more than that amount of Soda is used, the balance should be put around the cotton after chopping.

Some planters on black prairie or delta lands find they can omit the acid and use up to 300 pounds of Soda per acre. From Alabama east, it is generally advisable to use 100 to 150 pounds of kainit with the Soda and acid.

The acid, Soda and kainit, if used, should be mixed together before applying. They may be poured down on a tight floor in a wagon bed, or even on a hard, smooth place on the ground, and shoveled over three times together until thoroughly mixed.

There are several ways of applying the fertilizer, one being about as good as another.

One planter, whose methods have proven very successful for several years past, throws down one furrow with a turn plow, puts in the fertilizer, throws in another furrow from the other side, breaks out the middle with a middle-buster, and the bed is ready for planting. Another method is to finish the bed, open it with a small plow, put in the fertilizer, cover with a harrow and follow at once with a planter.

Side dressings of Soda should be made in cases where not enough fertilizer was applied at planting time. They should not be delayed too long, however. June 15 should be the latest date, and sometime late in May or the first of June is better.

BILIOUSNESS

Retired Minister Tells How He Keeps in Good Form With the Assistance of Black-Draught.

West Graham, Va.—The Rev. Lewis Evans, a well-known retired minister, now past 80, living here, has a high opinion of Black-Draught, which he says he has taken when needed, for 25 years.

"For years I had been suffering with my liver," he says. "Sometimes the pain would be very intense and my back would hurt all the time. Black-Draught was the first thing I found that would give me any relief."

"My liver has always been sluggish. Sometimes it gives me a lot of trouble. I have suffered a lot with it—pains in my side and back, and bad headache, caused from extreme biliousness."

"After I found Black-Draught, I would begin to take it as soon as I felt a spell coming on and it relieved the cause at once. I can recommend it to anybody suffering from liver trouble. A dose or two now and then keeps me in good form."

Made from selected medicinal roots and herbs, and containing no dangerous mineral drugs, Black-Draught is nature's own remedy for a tired, lazy liver. NC-166

Ford Highest in Quality

The quality of a motor car is largely determined by the materials out of which it is built.

Take, for instance, steels—which comprise the major portion of the materials used in automotive manufacturing today. No automobile can have more durable or more satisfactory steels than you get in a Ford.

The upholstery used in Ford closed cars contains a much larger percentage of wool than is ordinarily specified. Genuine polished plate glass is used for Ford windows and windshields.

The story is the same for every item of material used in Ford manufacture. It is logical that such extreme care in the selection of materials should result in a car that is without an equal when it comes to enduring service.

Lowest in Price

Conditions that are unique in the automotive industry make Ford prices possible.

Every manufacturing operation is under direct control of the Ford Motor Company. Iron is taken from Ford mines in Michigan; coal from the Company's mines in Kentucky and West Virginia. Ford glass plants produce the glass for windshields and windows; wood comes from Ford timber tracts. Raw materials and finished products are carried over Ford-owned transportation routes; coke ovens, blast furnaces, a steel mill, foundries and saw mills—all are part of this complete organization.

Under any other circumstances, Ford cars would cost a great deal more than they do.
