

NEW RADIATOR IS BIG FEATURE OF LATEST PONTIAC

Oakland Motor Car Co. Is Again In Role of Pioneer

The Oakland Motor Car Co., continuing its pioneering activities, which brought Duco, four-wheel brakes, the fuel pump, and many other major developments to the motorist, has scored again through its introduction of an entirely new principle of heat radiation.

The "cross-flow" radiator, one of the features of the New Series Pontiac Six, has attracted a large share of attention among the "radiator" enthusiasts who have thronged the automobile shows and the Oakland-Pontiac show rooms since the latest Pontiac was first shown on January 5.

Flowing horizontally through 384 inches of radiator core cooling surface, instead of vertically, this radiator takes advantage of the principle of condensation. It has 40 square inches more radiating surface than the old radiator and contains 12 quarts. It has two side tanks, connected by a core with horizontal water passages and a top tank. Water from the engine enters the inlet tank and flows cross-wise through the core into the cool water tank on the other side. It is then returned to the engine.

The cool water tank extends up the side and across the top, where the filling cap is located. While passing cross-wise through the core, any water or anti-freeze mixture which may have become vaporized in the engine is cooled and condensed before it reaches the vent. This is an improvement over the vertical type, where much water is lost because of this vapor escaping through the overflow pipe. In cold weather, when alcohol or anti-freeze mixtures are used, it is particularly effective, due to the fact that these mixtures vaporize at a much lower temperature than water.

The rugged core on this radiator is another improvement, the core being supported on three sides by tanks instead of only on two.

Copper is used in the construction of this radiator, instead of brass, marking another departure in construction. Circulation is handled through a completely redesigned water pump which is similar to that on the Oakland All-American Six. End thrust is greatly reduced through a balanced impeller. The fan is a 15-inch two-blade type, turns on bronze bearings, and is driven by a belt. The cooling system is thermostatically controlled.

THE DRUMMER'S PRAYER

"Oh, Lord, look with a forgiving eye we beseech Thee, on the buyers who tie to us about the low prices our competitors give them strengthen the memory of those who are always going to give us a good order the next time.

"Oh, Lord, soften the hearts of the buyers who, as soon as they see a drummer, get as busy as a hen with one chicken and keep him standing around until his feet warp, and then buy as much as two dollars and sixty-cents worth and want that billed out the first of next month.

"Good Lord, curb our tendency to flirt with the married women (the single ones don't count, and they expect it). Teach us not to complain of the roller towels that the multitude have used before we get there.

"Lord, give us digestions like alligators, that we may well digest the loin steaks that are cut from the neck where the yoke worked. Teach us to be thankful for the stump-water served us and called coffee. Toughen our hides that we may sleep soundly in hotel beds already inhabited. Cause us to look with charitable eyes on our competitors, who are a sorry lot anyway. Lord, soften the hearts of our employers that they may render us what little commission is due us in full.

"Oh, Lord, teach our wives patience, so that they won't expect our wages until we get them. We beseech Thee, oh Lord, to overlook our absent-mindedness when we are away from home and forget about being married, and, in conclusion, we beg Thee, when we have made our last trip, please don't send us below, for we have had our share of that place here on earth.

GOT RID OF POISON

Kentuckian Finds Black-Draught a Great Aid in Relieving Constipation, and Soon Feels O. K.

Catlettsburg, Ky.—Mr. Miles Hopkins, of 1218 Center Street, this city, says: "It was a time when my health was not so good. I suffered a great deal from gas pains. My system was saturated with poison which was not properly eliminated. From time to time I had severe headaches, and I felt sluggish and dull. 'I know of Black-Draught as a medicine for constipation, so I thought I would try it. For a while I took a small dose every night until my system was rid of the accumulated poison. 'I gained in weight and my general health was good. That experience made me realize the merits of Black-Draught. I kept it in my home and when I begin to feel lifeless and dull, I take a dose, after which I feel O. K. again. 'People generally do not realize the risk they take in allowing constipation to run on. I try to keep my system cleansed, and I find Black-Draught a great aid in doing this.'"
