Insane for Convenience

The Hickman trial is another of those cases where evil deeds are being charged to insanity. Nothing in the Hickman family is now too bad to bring up to help save the wayward young man.

Even the divorce of his father and mother now comes up for review. This is another reason why fathers and mothers should do everything possible to prevent divorces. It places their children in dangerous currents of society.

Of course, Hickman will be able to prove a high-strung ancestry, with many mean streaks in it, which—for safety and convenience—they now call insanity.

Biting the Hand That Feeds Them

This week the United States government obeyed the laws of turkey by ordering the closing of an American school in Turkey because four Moslem girls were converted to Christianity while attending the school.

The laws of Turkey prohibit all teaching of Christianity in any of their schools, and our government found it necessary in obedience to the laws of Turkey to close the school.

It is said that American schools and Turks educated in American colleges are solely responsible for keeping Turkey from open Bolshevism. The teachings of such schools and of the better educated Turks will eventually change things and make Turkey more tolerant in religious matters.

Is Life Only a Joke?

There was a time when certain underlying principles were the basis of every decent home. Among them was found reverence; that attitude of man which places him in the attitude of a servant or one who is glad to bow down and worship his maker, keeper, and preserver, his God and Father. In that day even the gray hairs of the community were respected, although there was nothing but age to mark them, perhaps not a single noble deed in all the years that had crowned the wearer with the snow of time.

These qualities in the home went on through life, giving men and women the distinction of gentleness and ladies.

This type of citizen was looked on with pride; even the roughest of the generation looked to them for their leadership. In that day, when a neighbor was in need, the people went themselves and performed good deeds with their own hands. Now they "say it with flowers." In those days people faced the issues of life and met them, good or bad.

It now seems that life is more of a joke. There seems to be something in our reach that takes the place of reverence, worship, and truth.

While there are few that doubt God, yet there are also few who seem to think much about who made them or where they are going; and the race seems to rely on its culture and invention and is swinging in a circle of its own.

Men find no need to go to church and bow down in worship. They are able to turn the dial and get the big preacher's sermon a thousand miles away while they comfortably recline in their plush chairs with a big cigar in their mouths, and at the same time think more intently on the cigar and radio than they do of the God that made the world, the man who made the machine, as well as the material or substance we call electricity for man's use long before He made man.

The life of the day seems in a large way to think this is a new day, all man's day, and one to be run and governed solely in man's own way.

It seems as if we are today occupying the spoiled child's position, getting more than we are working for.

BADLY RUN-DOWN

Kentucky Woman Had "Terrible Time" Doing Her Home Work. Strength Returned After She Took Cardui.

Shelbyville, Ky.—"Several years ago," says Mrs. Alven Jeece, of this place, "my health was very bad. I was very much run-down. I was in such a weak, nervous condition that I was not able to do my housework. I struggled to keep up, because I had to, but many a time I spent hours in bed, trying to force enough strength to go through the daily routine. This condition went on for some time until I heard about Cardui, which some one told me was good for such ailments. I gave it an immediate trial, and, I am thankful to say, my improvement was rapid. I soon was able to do my housework with ease and comfort. I felt fine and I looked so much better. This spring I was not as well as I had been. I was ill in the winter with colds, which left me weak. So I sent at once to the store for Cardui and began taking it. In just a little while I was feeling much better, my strength returned and I was able to get my work done easier and with less effort."

At all drug stores. CARDUI TONIC

Many dairy cows are underized and are low producers because they did not get enough of the right kind of feed when they were young and growing. After a heifer has freshened and is producing milk it is difficult for her to make up the growth she failed to get as a younger animal because of poor feeding.

GOOD WILL

"GOOD WILL," said Justice Wright, of the United States Supreme Court, "is nothing more nor less than the realization on the part of the public that they can get a service that is worth while from a business organization."

This bank counts the good will which it has built up by faithful service as one of the most valuable of all its assets.

It invites business on its record of performance, a record which explains the public's realization that its service is genuinely worth while.

Don't dose a Child's Cold

CONTINUOUS dosing upsets children's delicate stomachs. Vicks is applied externally and therefore cannot disturb the digestion. It acts in two ways: (1) The body heat releases the ingredients in the form of vapors which are inhaled. (2) At the same time Vicks "draws out" the soreness like a poultice.
