The League and The Child

The League of Nations has recently defined the rights of a child. This is the first time that nations at large have recognized the child.

Five things demanded by the league declaration are:

First, the child must be given the means requisite for its normal development, both materially and spiritually.

Second, the child that is hungry must be fed; the child that is sick must be helped; the delinquent child must be reclaimed; and the orphan and waif must be sheltered and succored.

Third, the child must be the first to receive relief in times of distress.

Fourth, the child must be put in a position to earn a livelihood and must be protected against every form of exploitation.

Fifth, the child must be brought up in the consciousness that its talents must be developed to the service of its fellowmen.

If the League of Nations never does another thing than to stand up for this declaration, commonly known as "The Declaration of Geneva," it will be worth far more than the cost.

While the League of Nations was principally for all the people, if it does nothing more than protect the children, it will be a godsend.

Most of the principles outlined are already maintained fairly well in this country, especially so with reference to material things. We have under governmental direction every conceivable institution for the material care and development of the child. We feed it, we nurse it, we educate it, we shelter it, we relieve it when in distress, we try to teach it how to make a living and even to make money. Doubtless we are doing more along these lines than any country on earth. On the other hand, we are running slow on the spiritual side of life, and every inch of spiritual culture we advance has to be done at a great disadvantage. The task is so hard that the material things in life are running a long way ahead of the spiritual culture. Men are fighting and discouraging those who attempt to give a spiritual uplift and a better outlook to those who are entering the tasks of life.

We do not know just what is meant in the Geneva covenant when it says a child must be given the means requisite for its spiritual development. In our own county not a penny is spent for such a service, and the entire burden of such culture is carried on by a very small percentage of the people. Fifteen per cent of the people carry 95 per cent of the burden. Schools for religious training are having hard struggles to live because the state is gathering much tax to pay for schools that are able to give higher literary courses than most church schools.

Possibly one of the reasons why so much crime is being committed by young white people these days is because the State is running too fast in material things, education and others, for the church.

The youth today seem to get out rather far from the base of the spiritual lights to reach them. But what are we to do? We can't teach the Bible in the public places of the state. It is unlawful to teach Bible in school because people differ on it. Yet any kind of science, right or wrong, goes into the public schools in many cases, much of which would do away with all spiritual culture for scientific bigotry.

Let the League of Nations do more for the spiritual side, and the war problems will be properly settled.

What the Tax List Shows

Martin County tax sales this year are 73 more than last year, with a total of 366 this year.

This is an indication of the financial struggle that many people are facing. It is indeed a sad thing to see a large list of taxpayers who would willingly and gladly pay their taxes if they were just able.

Some claim that taxes are too high, yet taxes are very much lower than our standard of living, which is now the principal trouble with the entire country. The volume of expenditures are too heavy for the volume of income. With this condition prevailing, people are moving along on the very border line of failure, and the least thing that comes up to disturb our business arrangements renders us unable to meet our obligations.

What will be the final outcome of the present conditions? Will we lay down our property, or will we be willing to change our entire habits of living?

Whatever may be our wishes, we must admit that we, as a people, must raise our income or lower our expenditures, or be a bankrupt people.

One-Man Where He Ought To Be

It looks to us like Tom Heflin is wrong—at least for once—when he says prison authorities are showing favoritism by not letting newspaper men and photographers visit Harry F. Sinclair in his prison cell. We differ from the Senator and feel that they should be kept away and let old Sinclair stick to his work. It will probably sink deeper in the old criminal's heart if the public will leave him unnoticed. Give him time and he may yet develop a conscience.

One of the troubles with the public—newspapers not excepted—is the fact that they go "batty" over any sensation like putting the multimillionaire in jail, when he should only get the same consideration as any other American gets.

The government is doing about the right thing—it is feeding him on 25 1-2 cents a day.

Veteran Virginia truckman gives personal testimony Cites need of good high-quality oil

G. Mark Davidson Tests Motor Oils

G. Mark Davidson of Lexington, Va., is something more than a veteran truckman and a substantial citizen of his community. He uses his truck as a road testing laboratory for various kinds of lubricating oils.

Profits in Good Oil

Trucking is a keenly competitive business and the profits from a single trip may be the difference between using cheap oil or a good oil. The difference between no repairs and a day to a week of overhauling the motor.

Mr. Davidson, realizing this fact, proceeded to find out for himself, in the most intelligent fashion, just which oils do stand up on the long, hard pulls in the Virginia hills, and which oils cannot stand the gaff of hill-climbing, long distance heavy hauling. Mr. Davidson wanted only the best.

After trying a wide variety of different motor oils, Mr. Davidson finally narrowed his choice down to three brands: "Standard," and two others made by well-known companies. There seemed to be little or no choice as far as the specifications of the oils went. A road test alone would show up the difference, and this Mr. Davidson proceeded to make.

Read his own story: "On a recent 600-mile trip I used five quarts of a competitor's oil. Later with another oil I used three quarts. Then I decided to drain my oil and fill up with 'Standard' Motor Oil Heavy, and 'Standard' Gasoline. On the same trip under the same running conditions, I used only one quart of oil. That proved to me the superior quality of 'Standard' Motor Oil. I do not hesitate to tell my friends that it is the best oil I have ever used."

Convinced by Oiler Oil

Like millions of other motorists, Mr. Davidson discovered that "Standard" Motor Oil is that o-i-l-i-e-r oil. Especially processed from choice crudes, and guaranteed to stand up and everlastingly fight friction. Seals in compression too. Allows the motor to utilize more combustion power and show greater mileage per gasoline gallon. It's the original quality oil at no higher price. Insist upon "Standard." On sale everywhere you see the "Standard" Motor Oil sign.
