North Carolina Schools

The North Carolina taxpayer pays $32.10 per year for each pupil in school. The average cost per pupil in the United States is $64.59., a little more than twice as much as in our own State.

North Carolina rates high in the number of pupils in school. Where 28 1-2 per cent of the population of North Carolina is in school, in Georgia the/percentage is 23 per cent, Virginia 22 per cent, and in New York only 20 per cent. This alone is one of the most encouraging things we see our people are

We fall down in length of term as compared with most States. Our average is 146 days, while in New York the average is 185 days:

We need several changes in our schools. First, we need longer terms; second, we need an even distribution of tax burden on all kinds of wealth to support our schools, and if we get that, nobody will be

South Carolina Shows the Way

Of the three States, South Carolina has beat North Carolina and Tennessee a long way in settling her labor troubles.

The first thing the governor of Tennessee did was to rush soldiers to the mills. Our governor did the same thing. But neither did very much to try to make a fair and reasonable settlement.

In South Carolina the authorities followed different tactics. They said the strikers were human beings who had done service for many years while suffer-plain, thoroughly.

I will be glad to furnish all details and ex-ing the hardships of poverty and long hours of tiresome toil and needed not to be shot, because it was upon their brow and brawn that the success of the mills and their business had been built, and while they owned no interest in the property they were, by rights, vitally interested in them, and not the cast-off of the earth. So the officials advised the owners and workers to come together and find what was right. They soon found a way, and all agreed, whereby the laborer is to get more pay, and both the mill owners and the laborers are satisfied.

The North Carolina and Tennessee strikes are still unsettled, with labor claiming their right to higher wages and owners trying to starve them out.

As good as we claim our North Carolina government to be, it is still a long way from perfect.

Taxes Not To Blame for All Our Ills

Martin County citizens took the proper step Friday when they took a stand against drastic cutting of the teaching force of the county.

Under the new law, 28 teachers may be cut out of the white schools, and about the same number from the colored schools; but the county may adopt a plan whereby only 5 teachers will be lost from the grammar grades of the white schools, and possibly 4 highschool teachers, and about the same number of col-

The meeting was almost unanimous in choosing the plan which would cut out the fewest number of

This will mean a cut in the school cost of several thousand dollars, and at the same time a lowering of the schools efficiency. There will be several other small items saved in various places and ways, which will reduce taxes some in the county. Of course, we need great economy and high efficiency in our school system, but we must have as good a system as we now have, and we need much better schools.

It is unfair for a nation of people to constantly curse taxes and lay ail their troubles and failures tothe payment of taxes, when any reasonable man knows that the financial ills of this country today are caused by extravagance. We are supporting the most extravagant generation that America has ever produced. We see nobody walking-all are riding fast in fine cars; nobody is ragged, and few folks are straining themselves at work. Yet we seem prone to charge taxes with all our ills.

The danger point is that the people may destroy their schools in a fit of desperation rather than give up some of their pleasures.

No Farm Relief This Week

Farmers will have to go to their own smokehouses and corn cribs for at least another week, because the Congress will not be able to pass a farm relief bill
