HISTORICAL SKETCH

Tells of Exploration Trip Up Roanoke As Far As Williamston Which Was Made in 1586

In its issue of June 27, 1909, the Raleigh News and Observer gives two pages of its first section to a brief history and review of Williamston and Martin County and a number of the section's prominent citizens. A short historical sketch written by Edward L. Conn, it is believed, will be of much interest to our readers, and we are inserting the sketch with the promise that other material carried in the issue will be reprinted as conditions permit.

The sketch follows:

"Hawks, the North Carolina historian, relates the adventures of an expedition in 1586 from Sir Walter Raleigh's colony at Roanoke Island under the command of Sir Ralph Lane which ascended the Roanoke River, then bearing its original name of Morotoc, to explore the country and to search for gold. A landing was made where Williamston now stands, so that it was here that the soil of Martin was first pressed by the feet of the conquering race. It was many years thereafter before settlements were established by the white men. Emigrants from the Chowan and Perquimans precincts, coming across Albemarle Sound, located in Martin and the adjoining counties. Prior to the War of the Revolution many of the wealthy citizens of the town of Edenton and the county of Chowan owned large plantations on the Roanoke in Martin and Bertie Counties, among them being Governor Johnson. Subsequently a considerable company of these men made their home in Martin County. The annals of the Revolution are replete with accounts of the distinguishing services of these patriots. In both civil and military life their conduct was exemplary, and their scions today are among the best citizens of the county.

"Williamston was incorporated in 1779, and was made the county seat of Martin just after the ratification of the charter of incorporation, taking its name from Asa Williams. In its early history it was the center of extensive lumber and naval stores interests. Its merchants exported tar, staves, and shingles to the West Indies and imported sugar, salt and molasses. Being the farthest inland point its trade with the surrounding counties in these commodities was large and profitable. Among the prominent merchants of that day were the Hunters, Yellowbys, Bagleys, Johnsons, and McKennys, and in a later period Asa Williams, Kader Biggs, C. B. Hassell, and Rhodes Brothers. Among their contemporaries in the legal profession, Hon. Asa Biggs was the most highly distinguished, having served as a member of the National House of Representatives, United States Senator, and Federal Judge. A widely known and revered man of that period was C. B. Hassell, an elder in the Primitive Baptist church and moderator of their association. His influence was so dominating that he was frequently called by his friends "the Baptist Pope." In his old age, at the demand of the people, oppressed by the enforcement of laws placed upon them by the Canby constitution, he became a candidate for the constitutional convention in 1875, and, though the county was largely Republican, was elected, Martin being the only Republican county electing a Democrat, giving the Democrats a majority of one in the convention. He began the writing of the history of the Primitive Baptist Church, but death claiming him before its completion, the work was finished by Elder Sylvester Hassell. Many say that C. B.

OLD PAVEMENT PROVES COSTLY

All of Sidewalk on South Side of Main Street Has To Be Removed

Haphazard methods in establishing street grade levels when the Main street was paved several years ago, and the individual selection of grades by builders are proving costly to the town at this time, and there is no way to get around the former blunders except by completely altering the lines. Every attempt to save the old sidewalks on the south side of the main thoroughfare was made, but the breaks would not permit a satisfactory job, and it was decided to completely alter the walks on that side.

On the north side of the street, the line has very few breaks, and, according to the engineer, very little of the paving will be disturbed.

The matter has been given careful study and consideration, and it is believed that the complete alteration of the walk on the south side was decidedly the best plan.

BOXING SMOKER HERE TONIGHT

Card Includes Battle Royal, 3 "Prelims," Semi-Final And Main Bout

The smoker tonight, at the City Hall, for the benefit of the Martin County baseball team, is expected to be well attended by boxing fans of the county, according to a statement by the promoter this morning.

Plenty of action and fun is promised by the promoters.

Dry Agents Make Raids in Bear Grass and Free Union

Agent F. E. Street, Deputy J. H. Roebuck and L. A. Bullock, Bear Grass chief of police, captured and destroyed two liquor steam plants, 800 gallons of beer, and 3 gallons of the finished goods in the Bear Grass section last Monday. No arrests were made.

Tuesday, the officers went into the Free Union, a favorite camping ground for distillers and apparently a happy hunting ground for the agents, where they found four liquor plants, but no operators. Three copper stills were captured and approximately 6,000 gallons of beer were poured on the ground.

Hassell was the greatest man Martin County has produced.

"There were no 'Buffaloes' in Martin County during the Civil War. Her gallant men and noble women were all loyal to the Stars and Bars. The first company raised in Martin sailed for Hatteras Inlet on the 20th of May, 1861, commanded by Captain John C. Lamb. Other companies were subsequently mustered and the county furnished her full quota of troops. The largest numbers of her soldiers served in the brigades of Martin, Kirkland, and Clingman, in Hoke's division, and in establishing the imperishable glory of the incomparable Army of Northern Virginia. Among those who served the Confederacy bravely are Col. Wilson G. Lamb, J. A. Whitley, N. S. Peel, J. A. Hobbs, W. H. Robertson, and Stanley Leggett.

Keys has not been taken and the case continues against him. Jafus James and Hoyt Smith were found not guilty. Boston and Moore were found guilty, the court suspending judgment upon payment of the cost.

Gus Purvis and Tom Scott, charged with disorderly conduct, were found not guilty.

W. E. Bunting was found guilty of violating the liquor laws. Prayer for judgment continued for a period of two weeks.

Get Three For Selling Liquor Wednesday

Leaving here shortly before midnight Wednesday, Federal Agent Street, Deputy Marshall W. P. Edwards, J. H. Roebuck and other deputies visited one or two markets in Beaufort County where they purchased twenty gallons of liquor and then turned a round and arrested three men, Chester Woolard, Garfield Perry, and N. J. Little for selling. The three prisoners were placed in the jail here to await their hearing yesterday morning.

Garfield Perry, 21 years old, and Chester Woolard, 22 years of age, were required to give bond in the sum of $750 each, while Little, a 19-year-old stripling with his young wife and baby at his side during the trial, was required to raise bond in the sum of $500.

Tobacco Boosters in Meeting Last Night

The tobacco market boosters met at the Town Hall last night. The committee on road signs reported that they had recently painted all the road signs and were going to get other signs for the town in due time.

The advertising committee made a report on the progress they are making, stating that their work will be completed before time for the opening.

Several matters were discussed and reports received which indicate a good year for the market.

FORMER CITIZEN HERE ON VISIT

Mack Nicholson Returns After Absence of 60 Years

Returning here for the first time in 60 years, Mr. Mack Nicholson, a former resident of the town, talked interestingly of the old times in and around Williamston. When only a small lad, he started work in the office of the Williamston Expositor, the first newspaper ever published in the county as far as it can be learned. Mr. Nicholson stated that the paper was operated by Amelie Williams, one of the county's leading citizens at that time.

Telling how he got the job, Mr. Nicholson stated that the delivery boy, W. L. (Bill) Johnson, failed to deliver a paper to a Mr. Cherry and that he was sent for the copy. While calling for the paper, Mr. Nicholson was sized up by the foreman, a man by the name of Askew, who offered him the job.

He started in the newspaper business in March, 1866, and after working for a year with the Expositor he sought an education. John Knight offered him five months' schooling for five months' work on a farm, and after completing his course of study he went to Tarboro by the old stage road to work for the Southerner, then edited by Captain William Biggs. After a stay of three years in that town, he moved to Norfolk, where he was with one of the papers there for five years. Leaving that town he went to New York and worked on one of the nation's largest dailies for a period of eight years. Returning to Norfolk in 1884 he worked again with the paper there about three years before going to Cincinnati to work on the Evening Post. For 30 years, Mr. Nicholson has held the position of proof-reader on that paper, which now has a daily circulation of around 200,000.

Mr. Nicholson takes much delight in showing a picture of himself, his daughter, a granddaughter, and a grandson snapped on his 77th birthday, October 20, 1928.

He recalled many of the events happening during the Civil War period. He saw the Confederate ram "Albemarle" steam down the Roanoke from Hymans Ferry to rout the Yankees at Plymouth. Happenings connected with the recapture of Plymouth were described. Mr. Nicholson stating that many articles were taken and that some sugar was brought here, the first he had seen in three years.

Although he has been away from the State for over a half century, Mr. Nicholson says he is still a Tar Heel.

While here, Mr. Nicholson is the guest of Mr. W. H. Gurkin.

BOY, 15, CAUGHT MAKING LIQUOR

Raymond Bowen Admits Ownership When Caught At Still Near Here

It was a pathetic story told by Raymond L. Bowen, 15 years old, following his capture at a liquor still near the home of his father, Lawrence Bowen, last Wednesday. Unassisted, the lad was busily firing the still when the officers raided the plant. At a hearing held here that evening, the boy stated he was the sole owner and operator of the 100-gallon capacity liquor plant with a copper still. Bond was fixed in the sum of $300.

Expecting but little compensation for firing a tobacco barn during the long hours of the night, the lad centered his thoughts on the manufacture of liquor. He was operating on a very small scale, using only one bag of sugar and a small quantity of other ingredients necessary in the manufacture of the spirits. While the lad was a bit nervous, he met his predicament with manly characteristics and readily answered all questions.

A warrant connecting the boy's father with the ownership and operation of the still has been issued.

Contract Is Let For Removing Hotel Porch

Following an agreement made between town officials and the owners, a contract was let yesterday for the removal of the Britt Hotel porch on the Main Street here. It is understood that workmen will start tearing away the balcony next Monday, giving way to the street-widening program. The owner, Mr. G. W. Blount, will be paid $400 to remove the shed.

One Service at Local Baptist Church Sunday

One preaching service will be held in the Baptist church Sunday, Rev. C. H. Dickey, the pastor, occupying the pulpit at the 11 o'clock hour, according to an announcement made this morning. The pastor returned yesterday from Portsmouth, where he received treatment at the Naval hospital during the past several weeks.

The Sunday school will convene at the regular hour, 9:45, and the B. Y. P. U. services will be held at 7 o'clock in the evening.

Former Treasurer of Town Doesn't Believe Streets Can be Paved Without Tax Raise

SUBMITS BUDGET FIGURES TO BEAR OUT HIS CLAIMS

Take Issue With Statement of Mayor Coburn, Issued Last Week

ESTIMATES RATE $3.03

Estimated Budgets for Next Two Years Given in Detail; Rate For This Year Estimated at $2.43

By W. T. MEADOWS

Extravagant borrowing increases State city, and town debts and taxes. Every dollar of interest or any kind of a public bond is another dollar in taxes, and every dollar in taxes is another dollar that comes out of the people in increased cost of living.—Frederick Palmer.

The above is especially quoted for the benefit of Hon. R. L. Coburn and his paving proponents. Coburn's caption in his article in your issue of the 9th reads thusly: "Mayor Says Streets Can be Paved—By Bond Issue With No Increase in Town Taxes." Now, Brother Coburn could write that and he and Sam Getsinger could figure for 100 years and he could not make me poor old taxpayers who are already burdened with unmercifully high taxes believe that statement.

(Editor's Note.—The caption, or heading, above referred to was written by the Enterprise head-writer and not by Mayor Coburn. The headings for all articles that appear in this newspaper—including this one—for mechanical reasons, are written by a member of the Enterprise staff.)

I am not going into anything beyond the term of office of this board, and the first thing I am going to offer for your consideration is a budget made by myself for the period commencing May 31, 1929, and ending May 31, 1930. Here it is:

Town Budget From May 31, 1929, to May 31, 1930
Fire apparatus note	$ 1,571.43
Sanitary	150.00
Salary, R. L. Coburn, mayor and attorney	600.00
Attorney's fees, Modlin case	550.00
Notes payable, F. & M. Bk.	3,000.00
Commissioners' salaries	675.00
Insurance	1,200.00
Fire department salaries and bonus	1,000.00
Police salaries	3,500.00
Street department	3,200.00
Interest & discount on $310,000 bonds, at 6 per cent	18,630.00
Miscellaneous	1,500.00
Outstanding accounts, water department, unpaid	1,500.00
Outstanding accounts, fire hose	1,500.00
Wharf and buildings at river	1,200.00
Removing porches on Main Street	600.00
Upkeep, town clock	300.00
Sidewalk tax by citizens at large, based on $50,000 worth, divided into 10 years	2,500.00
Engineer's fee, based on $50,000 paving, at 5 per cent	2,500.00
Clerical expense	600.00
Audit	350.00
Water department, salaries	2,475.00
Good pavement on Main St. between Houghton and Watts, that the property owners will demand pay for	2,000.00
New truck for Harrell	450.00
Expense starting, oil engine and parts	100.00
Interest on the $50,000 used on sidewalks, at 4 per cent (Modlin case unsettled and unknown)	2,000.00
Credit	$53,651.43
Amount turned over to N. C. Green by W. T. Meadows, balance in bank, May 31	$ 2,281.14
Cash on hand, W. B. Daniel	1,500.00
Possible collections on taxes sold at courthouse	1,500.00
Receipts from sale of water, estimated	7,000.00
Market house rents	450.00
Rent, wharf	400.00
Interest received from abutting paving sidewalks, Taxes, $25,000 at 6 per cent	1,500.00
Taxable property, white, colored, and corporate, $1,603,133; Rate, $2.43	$14,631.14
$53,651.43	$39,020.29
You will notice that the amount to be raised by this budget by taxation is $38,830.29. On a valuation the first year of $1,603,133, that would cause the rate of taxation to be raised from $2.10, the present rate, to $2.43, or an increase of 33 cents on the $100.
Now, this budget, to the average layman, I presume, will be entitled to as much criticism as Coburn's bond issue. But here is a financial statement for the year commencing May 31, 1929, and ending May 31, 1930:
Debit	$50,000.00
Paid for sidewalk program	$50,000.00
Paid serial bonds	11,500.00
Paid market house bonds	3,500.00
Credit	$65,000.00
Turned over by former treasurer, electric light money	$65,000.00
On hand, May 31, 1930—Not a cent.

MARTIN LOSES TWO TO BERTIE

Errors Costly in Games Played Wednesday and Thursday

After winning the first two games of the post-season series with the Bertie County team, the Martin County boys proceeded to show their worst form of the season to drop the contests, Wednesday and Thursday to the boys from over the river.

The game Wednesday, which was a veritable comedy of errors, was finally won by the Bertie team, after the lead had seen-sawed back and forth for the greater part of the afternoon, at a score variously estimated at from 11 to 8 to 16 to 11; no one seeming to know the official score. Although Martin out-bertie Bertie, 15 to 13, they made 9 errors, which tells the whole story.

Thursday's game, played here, was little better. There was more excuse for losing this contest, however, as practically every member of the Martin infield was suffering from injuries of one sort or another; and, too, Hoggard—pitching for Bertie—had plenty on the ball, and Martin made but five hits off him. Cherry pitched for the locals, and although the visitors made but 9 hits, they were so well interspersed with errors that practically every one figured in the scoring.

The series is now tied at two-all, with Martin County scheduled to go to Windsor Monday and Bertie to come here Tuesday. The series will continue until one team has won four games.

Bertie is now without the services of their crack shortstop, Whitehead, who left Wednesday for Detroit to join the Tigers for a try-out during the remainder of the season.

WAREHOUSE FIRM READY TO OPEN

Barnhill and Ingram Sales and Auction Force Has Been Selected

"We are just about ready for the opening," Messrs. Barnhill and Ingram, operators of the Farmers Warehouse here, stated last night. "Our sales force has been selected: an auctioneer, Mr. Joe T. Bass, of South Boston, Va., will arrive next week, preparatory to the market opening September 3," they continued.

Both Mr. Barnhill and Mr. Ingram are well known to the farmers of this section. Mr. Barnhill was connected with the office force of the Farmers Warehouse last year and the year before, and this season he will assist Mr. Ingram on the sales. Mr. Ingram, a veteran warehouseman and tobaccoist, has been on the market here as a buyer during the past several years. These two men have formed a strong partnership, and they are making a strong bid for patronage this season.

Mr. Bass, the auctioneer, is a veteran in the business, having had experience on the largest markets in this State and on leading markets in Georgia.

The partners in the firm are hustlers, and with a competent force, the Farmers Warehouse undoubtedly will play a prominent part in the success of the market this season.

Regular Services Sunday at Jamesville Baptist Church

There will be preaching at the Baptist church in Jamesville Sunday at 11 a. m. and at 8 p. m. by W. B. Harrington, pastor.

Sunday school at 10 a. m.

Now, we will do some tall guessing into the budget from May 31, 1930, to May 31, 1931, second year of our administration—also the bond issue for that one year as proposed by the mayor—and here it is—and the treasurer's balance for the end of the year May 31, 1931, which shows not a cent on hand:

The budget would be about as follows on the debit side by making the following deductions and additions: Old budget, 1929-30 $53,451.43 Add serial bonds due 1930-31 11,500.00 Add engineer's salary for paving on $60,000, if done, at 5 per cent 3,000.00 Add new paving proposed by Coburn, 10 years, $30,000 town's part 3,000.00 Add interest on the $60,000 bond issue, 1 year 3,600.00 Retire first bond, new issue 3,000.00

Deduct	$77,551.43
New truck, Harrell	450.00
Wharf and buildings at river	1,200.00
Outstanding accounts	3,000.00
Note F. & M. Bank	3,000.00
Amount paid Brooks on $50,000 sidewalk paving	2,500.00

3 RUM RUNNERS CAUGHT AFTER 20-MILE CHASE

Federal Officers and Liquor Car Have Thrilling Race Wednesday

ENDS NEAR HAMILTON

Two Men and Woman, of Rosemary, Bound Over to Federal Court at Preliminary Hearing

A twenty-mile chase, resulting in the capture of three rum-runners, featured the work of Federal prohibition agents in this section this week. Arthur Lee Daniel, Lewis Johnson, and his wife, all of Rosemary, were arrested at the end of the chase near Hamilton, and their car, a Dodge roadster, with a quantity of liquor was confiscated.

Starting about six miles out on the Washington road, the chase carried numerous thrills and much excitement for the runners, onlookers, and the agents. F. E. Street, J. H. Roebuck and son, Warren. Around 60 miles an hour the two cars traveled, hardly slowing up to pass through the streets here. Once at the warehouses here, they narrowly escaped a wreck when they attempted to pass the Dodge.

Reaching Houghton Street, the chasers faced a bad dust screen, but in spite of that they continued close behind the runners. At one time, the officers barely missed effecting the arrest of the trio, and their failure gave the runners a greater lead. On through Hamilton the chase continued, and it was beginning to look as if one of those endurance tests was in order. The Dodge developed engine trouble, and the runners started throwing off liquor to lighten the load. Their efforts proved worthless, for the officers made the arrests with five gallons of liquor in the car. Eight gallons were lost when the containers broke and four others were recovered all along the road, the containers withstanding the jar as they were thrown from the car.

Returning here about 7:30 o'clock that evening, the officers provided a hearing for their prisoners, the Johnsons furnishing bond and Daniel going to jail in default of bond.

According to the reports, the liquor was purchased in Beaufort County and was scheduled for delivery in Rosemary and Weldon.

OAK CITY NEWS AND PERSONALS

Bookcraft Club Formed to Repair Library Books Of School

Oak City, Aug. 15.—The organization of the Bookcraft Club as an aid in repairing old library books will save the Oak City school library about $75 this year, Principal H. M. Ainsley announced today.

The work began August 12th, and several books have been repaired. Bookcraft will continue through the term of school, thus giving high school pupils a chance to learn an art and develop an appreciation of books and a knowledge of their proper care.

The course is outlined by Gaylord Brothers, Syracuse, N. Y. It has been carefully studied by the principal of Oak City School. Bookcraft saves money and it saves books. It first originated in the public library of Toronto and later was adapted to the use of libraries throughout this country.

One of the greatest aids in the solution of this problem is to lengthen the life of the books already in use. It is especially suitable for work with grades 8, 9, 10, and 11. It has the following advantages:

(a) It is pedagogically sound in that it can be organized into units of instruction, which aid in the mental development of the pupil.

(b) Its aims are similar to the aims of the regular industrial arts course.

The following are members of the Bookcraft Club: Mrs. W. D. Smith, Mrs. J. H. Ayers, Mrs. T. W. Davenport, Mrs. H. M. Ainsley, Mrs. L. K. Brown, and Mrs. Jim Rawles. Misses Leona Newton, Sara Long Johnson, Hallie Tyson, Naomi Etheridge, and Mildred Davenport.

The following families will spend a week at Bayview, beginning August 19: Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Chesson, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Rawles, and Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Ainsley. Mr. Bowers' cottage has been rented for the week. Misses Sara Long Johnson and Naomi Etheridge will be members of the party.

Farm Programs Will Be Broadcast From Raleigh

During the remainder of this month and a part of September, WPTF, will on each Wednesday at 12:10 p. m., broadcast valuable farm programs, according to County Agent T. B. Brandon, who is urging all farmers owning radios to tune in on the Raleigh station at the noon hour.
