HINTS FOR HOMEMAKERS

By Miss Johnnie Camp, Home Science Director Virginia Electric And Power Company

From a Cook's Scrapbook
A long, long time ago, after hearing my oft-repeated "Use your own judgment" and "You'll learn from experience," one of my high-school students expressed a wish that one might buy this highly valued "judgment" and "experience" bottled and ready for use. Unfortunately this is impossible in our generation. The next best thing is to profit by the experience of others, and trust their judgment.

I am making a scrapbook of "Do's" and "Don't's." These are results of experience gathered from here and there—nor was this an original idea—"When 'Omer smote his bloomin' lyre 'E'd 'card men sing by land and sea, And what 'e thought 'e might require, 'E went and took, the same as me."
In answer to a query about canned fruits turning dark:
It is possible that the top layer of fruit was not completely submerged in the sirup. That part exposed to the small amount of air in the can may cause a chemical change with a fruit acid. Potatoes and apples left exposed to the air turn dark.

If you wish to increase the amount of chicken salad—don't use veal. Some mean-minded guest who discovered bits of veal among their chicken may think the hostess is imposing on them. Use diced celery or cubed potatoes, peas, beans, asparagus, apples, grapes, hard-cooked eggs, in large or small amounts.

Whites of eggs, if securely covered, will keep indefinitely in the modern automatic refrigerator.

Spinach should be cooked only in the water that clings to the leaves. And, for myself, I shake the leaves to get rid of excess of the "water that clings." Valuable mineral salts and vitamins are lost if this vegetable is cooked in a large amount of water.

Certainly, it is right, proper, good and sensible to cut your lettuce with a knife. And the salad knife is now a distinct piece of table silver. That awkward struggle between a resistant lettuce leaf and the edge of a fork is most happily a thing of the past. This is another stride in our advance toward good sense in table manners.

Yes; bread and butter certainly have lost their prestige with the very formal and up-to-date dinners. They are still welcome with lunches.

Recently a friend came to me in a near panic—the raisins wouldn't stay put in her cake; they grew lazy and sank to the bottom. Several methods may be used to prevent this—but the most successful one I have found is steaming them until each raisin is plump and bloated and all wrinkles smoothed out. They will be light, filled with hot air. One recipe tells us—

- Mix together and boil six minutes:
 - 2 cups brown sugar,
 - 3-4 cup butter,
 - 2 cups warm water,
 - 1.2 lb. seeded raisins.
- Let get cold. Add 2 well-beaten eggs, mix into dry ingredients:
 - 4 cups flour,
 - 1-2 lb. nut meats,
 - 2 teaspoons allspice,
 - 2 teaspoons cinnamon,
 - 2 teaspoons soda,
 - 1-2 teaspoon cloves,
 - 1 teaspoon baking powder,
 - 1 teaspoon vanilla.
- Bake in greased loaf tin about two hours at 275 degrees.
