

FARM TEACHERS HOLD MEETING

Tri-County Group To Hold Twelve Sessions Each Year in Roper

(Roanoke Beacon) The vocational agriculture teachers of Martin, Washington and Tyrrell Counties meet in a group once each month at the Roper school to discuss problems relative to agriculture school work. Twelve meetings are held during the year other than call meetings. Teachers making up the group are: Mr. Mullins, Oak City; R. C. Jordan, Jamesville; C. H. Floyd, of Roper; C. H. Rabon, Creswell; and Pat Duncan, of Columbia. C. H. Rabon is chairman of the group and has charge of leading all discussions. C. H. Floyd is secretary and treasurer, while R. C. Jordan is reporter. Topics for discussion this year are as follows: November: Farm credit. December: Evening classes. January: Project selection and father and son banquets. February: Reports. March: Fertilizers. April: Supervised practices. May: Forms of recreation. June: Election of new officers and general business. Besides the group meetings during the year, each teacher of agriculture attends one week of instruction at
