

Smith-Douglass Will Continue Guarantee

Norfolk, Va.—R. B. Douglass, vice president of Smith-Douglass Company, Inc., fertilizers manufacturers of Norfolk, made the following announcement today with respect to price guarantee and refunds to customers during the coming season: "A great many farmers have written us or inquired of our representatives as to whether or not we will continue this season our policy of guaranteeing prices, and in event of decline in price-making refunds to customers in the same manner and for the same reasons as caused us to make such refunds last season. "I am very happy to announce that our policy will be the same as in 1936. We will continue to guarantee our prices against our own decline. Also, we will continue to pass on to customers such savings as they earn by paying cash with order, cash on delivery, or by making early payment."

"We believe that this is the fair thing in dealing with our customers, and we will continue this policy indefinitely in the future."

It will be recalled that in July, 1936, Smith-Douglass started the fertilizer and farming world by mailing checks to its customers totaling nearly $100,000, based mainly on its guarantee of its prices against decline.

ROTATION REDUCES SOIL LOSSES IN FIELDS

ROTATION REDUCES SOIL LOSSES IN COTTON FIELDS

Soil losses are more severe on land planted continuously to cotton than on land where the cotton is grown in rotation with other crops such as corn, wheat, lespedeza, and clover. The picture above shows how experiments have demonstrated the value of good rotations in checking erosion, said E. C. Blair, extension agronomist at State College. Sometimes rotations will reduce erosion by as much as 18 tons of more per acre each year.

COUNTIES LIKELY TO HELP PAY FOR OLD AGE RELIEF

Bill Now Before Assembly Allows $30 a Month-To Neeedy Over 65 Years

The new bill providing old age pensions and aid to dependent children now pending in the State Legislature gives the counties wide powers in administering its provisions, but also requires them to share in paying the cost.

From one-fourth to one-third of the cost must be contributed by the counties. On the other hand, it rests with the county boards of welfare and the boards of county commissioners to approve all persons declared eligible for pensions before any money is handed out.

The maximum under the old age pensions portion of the bill is $30 a month to persons 65 years of age or older, but any person with a monthly income of $30 a month or more is automatically ineligible for the pension. Of this amount, the Federal government will pay one-half, the state one-fourth and the counties one-fourth. The bill also provides that the county welfare boards and boards of county commissioners, in determining the amount of pension to be allowed any individual shall take into consideration his or her needs, expenditures and standards of living, and that the pension may be scaled down accordingly. Thus, where it is found that a person may get along on $20 a month, instead of $30 a month, the smaller amount will be allotted. No inmates of state or county institutions will be eligible by leaving these institutions to live with relatives or

Swine Need Green Feed In Diet During The Winter Months

Warns Against Prolonged Feeding On Soybean And Peanut Fields

Green feed will help keep the swine herd vigorous and healthy during the winter months.

When possible, hogs should be allowed to graze on green forage. If pasturage is not available, a green, leafy legume hay should be fed, said H. W. Taylor, extension swine specialist at State College.

Green feed contains vitamin A, which is essential for healthy swine, he continued. Alfalfa, soybean, and lespedeza hays make good winter feed.

Taylor also warns growers not to let pigs feed too long on soybean and peanut fields, as this tends to produce soft, oily pork that is not desirable for home consumption or for marketing.

After pigs have reached a weight of 85 pounds, they should be put on a feed of corn and fish meal or tankage. Cottonseed meal may be mixed with the fish meal or tankage, in equal parts, if desired.

Hogs like cottonseed meal, it helps stimulate their appetites, and it is a good "hardening ration," he explained.

The corn and protein supplement should, of course, be balanced with an abundance of leafy, green feed, he said.

This ration, if fed until the pigs attain a weight of 200 to 225 pounds will produce pork that is firm and well marbled, Taylor pointed out.

He emphasized that when hogs are fed a softening ration for a long time, they cannot be made to produce good, firm meat by feeding them corn for a few weeks.

Kobe Lespedeza Believed Heaviest Hay Producer

Tests conducted in different localities in the State show that Kobe and Tennessee 76 are the heaviest hay producing varieties. These 22 tests gave the Kobe variety an average production of 2,868 pounds and the Tennessee 76 an average of 2,806 pounds. The Common variety was third with an average of 2,342 pounds. There is little difference between the first two varieties except that the stems and leaves of the Kobe are coarser than either the Tennessee 76 of the Common. The point to be considered in selecting seed would be the cost of the seed and the availability.

others who will care for them.

The second portion of the bill, dealing with assistance to dependent children, provides that the maximum paid to any one dependent child under 16 years of age shall be $13 a month, with $12 a month for any additional, but that in no case shall the total exceed $65 a month except in extreme cases. The cost of this aid shall be apportioned on a basis of one-third by the county, one-third by the state and one-third by the federal government.
