Control or No Control

An advocate of the old individualistic theory of government was pointing out the unfairness of a control program for crop production in a free country.

The price the Irish potato growers in this section are receiving for their crop right now is depriving them of more freedom than any control program could ever take away from them.

Prices being paid for Irish potatoes moving to the markets today are leaving the farmer broke.

Surely, it is possible to advance a sensible program that will prove advantageous to both the producer and consumer.

Security Act Creates New Dangers

Granting that its intents and purposes are justified and greatly needed, the social security act creates new dangers that must be reckoned with if there is to be a last pillar left to support a crumbling society.

The act proposes to lend a helping hand to the weak, to make their lot in life bearable; to create for them a new hope.

But if the act tears down the kindred ties of the family, which unauthentic reports state is about to be done in some cases, then a new danger will face society.

There is no justification for such claims, and those persons who believe they are entitled to a guaranteed sum each month just because they are 65 years or older are facing bitter disappointment.

The Honor Shown Lindsay Warren

Charlotte Observer

North Carolinians swell up no little over the tidings that Hon. Lindsay Warren, First District Congressman from the State, was unanimously elected Speaker pro tempore of the House incident to the enforced absence of Speaker Bankhead.

It's a sincere and distinct pleasure not only on the part of his constituents but of the people of the State as a whole that Congressman Warren stands so loftily in the estimation of his colleagues, as such an honor as this eloquently testifies.

He has earned the distinction on the basis of his merit and personal popularity.

Congressman Warren is coming to be a veteran in Congress, although a relatively young man and for one who has served so long, this preferment means all the more.

Not only is kissing likely to make you lose your teeth, as an Atlanta health expert points out, but it's quite likely to make you lose your head and your heart, too.—Boston Herald.

Nothing To Boast About

The State points out as an accomplishment the transportation of 271,994 children to and from school during the 1935-36 term at a per pupil cost of $4.86.

The system of transporting school children in North Carolina is little short of a disgrace, as it affects crowded conditions in busses, the condition of the busses themselves, and the value placed on a human life when in the hands of the State.

The consolidation system originally advanced by the state school authorities did not propose the herding of little children and young boys and girls into busses as so many sheep, cattle, or hogs.

North Carolina's expensive school consolidation program is certain to disintegrate unless the officials stress something besides reduced costs in the future.

No Sit-Down Strikes in Churches

The sit-down strike has been extended to nearly all sections of the country and into nearly every type of industry.

Reports on recent church attendance figures clearly indicate that this country is still up and a-going.

Stopping Tax-Dodgers

Hartford County Herald

In this quarter there is complete approval and sympathy with the latest move of President Roosevelt and Congress to balance the Federal budget without increasing taxes.

With the aid of clever, highly paid lawyers, who have developed methods of cheating the government out of taxes into a specialized branch of their profession, it was revealed that many artful schemes have been devised whereby the wealthy escaped taxation on their huge incomes.

Already Congress has begun the task of plugging up the loopholes in the tax laws through which these wealthy tax-dodgers have been evading their share of the cost of recovery.

The Shame of a State

Winston-Salem Journal

Dwight Beard, killer, menace to human life and property, is dead. Society has been compensated to some extent for the wrongs he inflicted upon it, but for this avengement it must look not to North Carolina but the state of Texas.

To her shame, North Carolina failed to deal with this killer as it should have dealt with him.

It is deplorable, of course, that young men like Dwight Beard, whose earlier youth revealed great promise, should take up a career of crime and find the end of their trail in the death house of a state prison.

What a pity that the state of North Carolina failed to meet its obligation and responsibility in this case! Had it done so, at least one person less would have sacrificed a life, and the commonwealth would not be required to acknowledge the debt to Texas, which it now owes.
