The Stupidity of War

The stupidity of war is strongly emphasized by Dr Clarence Poe in an editorial in The Progressive Farmer, along with some definite suggestions as to what a private citizen may do to help prevent the disaster which constantly threatens us of another world war. Savs Dr. Poe:

"Under present conditions, war is a game in which there are no winners. All are losers. Consider the World War, waged at a blood cost of 8,000,000 lives and perhaps 20,000,000 more victims maimed for life, and a money cost of $400,000,000,000-enough to give a $4,000 home to each and every family in the United States, Canada, Australia, England, Ireland, Scotland, France, Belgium, Germany and Russia. Yet no one single nation was helped by the World War. Victorious England and France were impoverished almost equally with vanquished German and Austria and the whole world soon plunged into a catastrophe of financial depresseion and calamity.

"War today is stupid. It is more costly in life and money than ever before, while the spoils of war are less valuable than ever before." Consider Spain. Amid its ruins, by the time the present struggle ends, there will not be enough left for either side to gloat over. And we must be willing to preach the stupidity of war, no matter if we are called 'pacifists' or anything else-remembering that it takes ten time more spunk and heroism to face some bully who calls himself a 'he-man' advocate of war than it does to be a docile yes man to all such braggarts.

"And if only every man and woman in America will get this spirit and act in time, future wars can be prevented.

"Rich and Don't Know It"

People are reminded less often nowadays than a generation ago to count their blessings. It is still worth while to stop now and then and remember what the real riches are. As Dr. J. W. Holland says, in The Progressive Farmer:

"Have we gotten so blinded with electric lights that we have forgotten the stars? Has the emphasis Americans have for three generations put on material success obscured for us the better gold of the Golden Rule?

"I am tell you that regardless of your purse you may be rich today. If you have moderate health, you are a billionaire. If you have a few friends, then envy no lonely man his store of gold. If you are permitted to work at chosen tasks, no artist should be more happy than you are. If you have 'the peace that passes knowledge' so that no earthly storms can upset your lifeboat, no one can pile currency high enough to equal your riches

CORDAY AND PRIDA people went hungry, during the last days of Hoover. If Mr. Bailey wants a balanced budget then let him support the proposals of LaFollette, and if this coun try needs saving, as he claims, then let him advance a solution of his own. About all he can accomplish while following his present course is to return the country to the manipulators and the captains of the Hoover days.

Pensions in the Offing Elkin Tribune

When Congress stampeded to override the President's veto of the bill extending the conversion period on veterans' insurance, it was but running true to form-bowing to the most persistent lobby of all pressure groups.

Now, it is claimed, the veterans' lobby is about the business of hatching a new measure that will take the wind out of most our sails when it is presented. Here is the way one writer describes it: "Not a bonus to end bonuses; not adjusted compensation, but a good old-fashioned regular pay check for every man and woman who wore the uniform at least 90 days and got an honorable discharge." You've guessed it: an honest-to-goodness pension for World War veterans. The proposed measure hasn't been endorsed by the American Legion or any other organization, and there is no likelihood that it will be presented at this coming session of Congress. But it is coming, and the pressure put on Congress to override the President's veto of insurance conversion was but a form of training that is calculated to impress our statesmen with the fact that they are under leash.

When we consider that we are still paying pensions for wars back of the Civil War; when we remember that Civil War pensions have run to more than eight billion dollars, we will have some idea of what it will mean when more than twice the number begin receiving pension checks.

But this is not to say that pensions should be denied the World War veterans, not at all. If other veterans deserved it, so do they. And they'll get it, too. Thorough organization assures that. We are mentioning it simply to point out that when we think we have paid for war, actually we have only begun. And the staggering total paid out in pensions in itself is sufficient evidence of the fallacy and futility of war. It should help in determining to chart a course of peace where peace is possible, in the years to come.

"The Lord's Acre"

Sampson Independent

The increasing popularity and proved effectiveness of the new plan for helping rural churches is indicated by the following testimony from Rev. Hoyt Blackwell, pastor of Piney Mountain Baptist church near Mars Hill, N. C., quoted from The Progressive Farm-

Ordinarily our little church at Piney Mountain chooses to do its work quietly and unnoticed, but since the Lord's Acre plan has helped us so wonderfully some of us have felt constrained to speak with the hope that some bit of good may be done in behalf of others.

"Our already splendid community spirit was helped by our coming together to cultivate the field of about two acres, so generously furnished by one of our dea cons. This plan engendered a more definite and distinct church and community pride. It stimulated Sunday school and church attendance. It taught us that we can give far beyond what we have been giving. It helped beget a spirit of cheerful giving. It enabled our younger folk to give appreciable amounts.

The total Lord's Acre amount, according to the church treasurer, will be more than $200. We are now planning to make our church building more comfortable and attractive. The spirit and atmosphere of the church have never been finer.

"To all rural churches we commend the Lord's Acre e25 4tw plan. Bailey and the Budget

Late reports from Washington indicate that our own Josiah William Bailey, that infallible United States Senator who borrowed the President's popularity just long enough to ride to his present position, is not so keen about balancing the budget after all. Mr. Bailey has offered to balance the budget by effecting stricter economy and cutting off the needy, but the Congressional Record shows he is bucking Senator LaFollette's proposal to increase the income tax.

Balance the budget, Mr. Bailey says, but don't go to the wealth of this nation for help in doing it. Apparently he would rather have the underdog, and even those who put him in the Senate to suffer that a budget might be balanced.

Mr. Bailey's record to date has been to tear down everything that held promise for the masses, and up to this very day he has done nothing more than criticize the efforts of those who have been, and are still, trying to save this nation from a return to a reign by unchained manipulators like unto those who held that prosperity was "just around the corner," while the
