Give Them Consideration

Among the thousands of youths entering the schools this term there are many who are experiencing handicaps. Some have had few advantages while others have hardly had enough to eat to develop normal bodies. In many cases their home training was not what it should have been, and when they enter school an inferiority complex often results.

It is tiring and oftentimes difficult to recognize these handicaps and give the unfortunate tot all the attention he needs. And while it isn't right to lose sight of the youngster with an alert mind, certainly it isn't asking too much that the backward little fellow be given all the attention possible.

In many instances the schools and society, too, has pushed back the weak and pushed forward the strong. We haven't advanced so far in the march of civilization that we have forgotten the old theory of the survival of the fittest. We are practicing it a great deal these days, satisfying our consciousness by saying that the unfortunate are unfortunate because they are shiftless, worthless and undependable. Something made them that way, and a start to correct the condition can be made in the school room. A great opportunity awaits the young teacher who will throw back her pride and reach down to rescue a filthy, lice-eaten tot. When those of that ilk are taught, a better society will follow in the years to come.

Not all the repeaters reach the relief roll, but the relief roll is made up most by those who were at one time or another recognized as liabilities and not future assets by school and society, as a whole.

New Postoffice For Williamston

Williamston citizens today are gratified with the special news coming from Congressman Lindsay Warren yesterday announcing the allocation of $78,000 for a new postoffice building here. It has been a long wait, to be sure, but local people are certain they are being repaid for that long wait.

Representative Warren explained that the appropriation is to be made available immediately, and Postmaster Leslie T. Fowden is now expecting engineers here any minute to choose a site and start construction work on the new building.

Realizing the great demand and clamor for new federal buildings all over the country, local citizens are grateful to their representative for his efforts in getting the appropriation for the new postoffice building for them.

Uncounted Riches

This from the pen of Dr. J. W. Hoiland, writing in the Progressive Farmer, more than merits the space we are giving it:

"Have we gotten so blinded with electric lights that we have forgotten the stars? Has the emphasis Americans have for three generations put on material success obscured for us the better gold of the Golden Rule?"

"I am telling you that regardless of your purse, you may be rich today. If you have moderate health, you are a billionaire. If you have a few friends, then envy no lonely man his store of gold. If you are permitted to work at chosen tasks, no artist should be more happy than you are. If you have the peace that passes knowledge, so that no earthly storms can upset your lifeboat, no man can pile currency high enough to equal your riches.

"So many of us are rich and don't know it. And so many others, alas! could be rich and don't realize it."

One need only two two-bits close to the eye to prove that little can be seen beyond it, yet in recent years we have been measuring values by a yardstick that is notched with dollar-marks. All about us are wrecked fortunes to prove that material success is far from enduring; men who were so blinded by the electric lights that they had forgotten the stars; who had been so busy chasing the dollar that they knew not the thrill of the riches that come from romping with a child. Then came the day when their house of cards lay at their feet in a leveling process that laid low many whose neighbors thought were amply secure for any emergency.

These can fully appreciate the fact that when one has a few friends he need "envy no lonely man his store of gold."

More and more of us need to understand that glorious truth that regardless of our purse we may be rich indeed.

It's awful if dad sits out in the yard in his undershirt, but daughter can run all over town in a pair of shorts and it is quite all right.—Pierce City Leader-Journal.
