Needs Awakening

Just about a year ago, plans were advanced for the construction of a $7,000,000 paper mill in the South. The undertaking was based on reliable tests made in Dr. Herty's laboratory, but today southern publishers continue to pay increasing prices for newsprint coming out of mills owned and operated by northern capital. Wouldn't it be interesting to know:

If foreign capital stepped in and advised against the Southern venture?

If the tests proved unfounded?

If southern capital is afraid to upset its age-old system of financing at six per cent and dumping its surplus on the call market to finance rank gambling there?

Whatever may be the cause for allowing a promising industry to go begging at the door of southern capitalists, it is reasonable to believe that there has been some expert maneuvering by our northern friends to protect their own hides, and again throttle the South in its advancement.

The northern man is not to be censured for his efforts in protecting himself. It is the southern capitalist who needs awakening. Once we recognize the possibilities in the Southland and set out to take advantage of those possibilities, we will find it unnecessary to turn to the bond market and gambling pits in the North for investments.

The Herty plan for producing newsprint from slash pine may border on a gamble, but it is, we dare say, far safer than the stock market when the New York boys get a good case of the jitters. But we continue to worship at the stock market shrine, leaving untold advantages to go to waste right here at home.

Farming As a Life Occupation

No more important decision is made by a boy or girl than choosing a lifework. Farm boys who are considering this problem will find valuable advice in an article by Dean Paul W. Chapman of the Georgia College of Agriculture, in The Progressive Farmer, from which we quote the following list of advantages and disadvantages of farming as an occupation:

- Advantages
1. Farming offers security from unemployment.
 2. A man works for himself.
 3. It is a healthful outdoor life.
 4. There is variety in the jobs to be done.
 5. Personal and household expenses are small.
 6. A farmer may be at home with his family.
 7. There will be no danger of losing the job on account of age.
 8. It is a mode of life that makes saving possible.
 9. Farmers live well compared with city workers with the same income.
 10. Farming provides the opportunity for stimulating experiences in the improvement of livestock, fruits and crops over a period of years.

- Disadvantages
1. Capital is required to get established.
 2. Income is uncertain due to weather.
 3. There is an overproduction of farm products.
 4. The farmer cannot set a price on his products.
 5. There is no weekly or monthly pay check.
 6. Schools and churches are not as good as those in cities.
 7. A man is working in competition with untrained workers.
 8. There is outdoor work to be done in bad weather.
 9. It is hard to get away from the farm for vacations.
 10. The achievements of farmers are not recognized to the same extent as accomplishments in other vocations.
