

Passage of Law For Control of Syphilis Urged in Congress

State Health Officer Appears Before Committee Monday

Congressman A. L. Bulwinkle, of Gastonia, who was the co-introducer, with Senator LaFollette, and Dr. Carl V. Reynolds, state health officer for North Carolina, appeared before a congressional committee in Washington, yesterday, to urge passage of the proposed federal syphilis control measure.

Making this announcement, Dr. Reynolds said: "If the press of the nation will give this measure the same enthusiastic support the newspapers of North Carolina are giving the battle against syphilis in our own state, this will, I believe, greatly encourage our federal lawmakers and help the passage of the bill in congress. It was introduced January 19. I was in Washington at the time and was very much encouraged over the manner in which it was given a number promptly, referred to committee of which Senator Royal S. Copeland, himself a physician, is the chairman. The supporters will present the strongest argument at our command."

Dr. Reynolds said he would inform the committee officially of the Z. Smith Reynolds Foundation's benefaction and of the progress North Carolina has made on the war against syphilis. "I see no reason," he declared, "why America should not be made as free from syphilis as the Scandinavian countries, where control measures have succeeded in a very satisfactory manner. But this will take money, time and patient endeavor."

North Carolina was a pioneer State in the enactment of a law for the control of syphilis and Major Bulwinkle was delighted to be one of the co-introducers of the federal measure which, if passed, will provide $3,000,000 the first year, $6,000,000 the second year, $12,000,000 the third year, and $25,000,000 the fourth and each succeeding year.

"With the proper backing we have hopes that the measure will become a law at the present session of Congress," Dr. Reynolds concluded. "I am proud of North Carolina's achievements, as I believe all public health minded citizens are and I am convinced that what we have done, including the Smith Reynolds Foundation gift, ought to go a long way toward stimulating interest along national lines. Surgeon-General Parran recently wrote me sharing this view."

News Of Interest In Oak City Schools

The plans for the senior trip to Washington are nearly completed except setting a definite date, which will be some time the last of March. The students have almost finished their parallel readings and reported on them. The ones that have not will have another chance by seeing and reporting on the picture "Little Men", which will be presented in the school auditorium Thursday afternoon.

It seems that the progress of the school is increasing in general. The students that were failing have chosen between two things: stopping to help parents or doing better in their work. Most are realizing that their school work is more important and are doing better rather than stopping.

The elementary grades have worked toward and finally achieved the membership of the Junior Red Cross. They were the first of the schools in the county to join.

The closing date of the school will be April 22 if there are no hindrances from now on. So far everything has run smoothly and attendance has been good.

Martins Defeated By Robersonville

The all-Williamston Martins were eliminated from the Bethel tournament last Friday night by a team selected from all over Martin County and representing the Robersonville Aces. It was by far one of the best games of the tourney and was a lot closer than the 38-24 score would indicate. The game opened fast and by the end of the first quarter the Aces had run up an 8 to 2 lead. During the second period, paced by Sam Edwards, who played a stellar game, found he range and had turned the tide in their favor by a 12-10 count, by half-time. After intermission, Robersonville really got "hot" and scored 19 points, while holding the Martins to only 4 during the third period. The locals came back in the fourth verse to play the winners on better than even terms, but were never able to overcome the lead which the Aces had amassed.

Very outstanding for Williamston was Sam Edwards, who hit the meshes for a total of 15 points and played a bang-up floor game as well, while Tom Rose and Oscar Anderson turned in good performances. Best for the Aces were Jimmy Brown, who shot 13 points, and Skeets Atkinson, Rocky Mount Y ace, who played a good floor game. The Martins will not play any home games this week, due to the high school tournament, which is being held in the local gym. The next home performance will be next Monday night, Feb. 21st, when they will be host to the Robersonville Aces, in the rubber game of a three game series.

Local Man Attends Life Insurance Convention

Mr. J. H. Dixon has just returned from a four day convention given by the Imperial Life Insurance company, in Asheville at the George Vanderbilt Hotel. In order to attend each man had to make a certain quota, which only sixty-four in the state did, and then were presented with a certificate entitling them to membership in the "Ordinary Producers Club." The occasion was also the birthday of Mr. A. W. Elk and the members of the club presented him with $10,000,000 in applications.

acres will be allowed 3.2 acres, and farms with 3.5 acres or less will be allowed to plant 90 per cent of their base. These figures are not definite, but are subject to variations. Group C farms are those with no established tobacco base but on which tobacco was planted in 1934-1937. The acreage on these farms will be determined after the same pattern followed in establishing bases for Group A farms, with the following exceptions:

"If tobacco was grown on the farm in both the years 1936 and 1937 not more than 2.3 of the average acreage considered as the "past acreage"; and grown in 1936 and 1937 should be the recommended usual acreage for the farm should in no case exceed 85 per cent of the recommended usual acreage for similar farms under Group A. If tobacco was grown on the farm only in 1937 not more than 1.2 of the acreage grown in 1937 should be considered as the "past acreage"; and the recommended usual acreage for the farm should in no case exceed 75 per cent of the recommended usual acreage for similar farms under Group A.

The recommended usual acreage for farms falling in Group C should be based on the factors listed for Group A other than the past acreage of tobacco, but in no case should the recommended usual acreage for any such farm exceed 75 per cent of the usual acreage for farms under Group A, nor, should the recommended usual acreage for any such farm exceed four acres. The Group C farms are those upon which tobacco is being planted in 1938 for the first time since 1933. The base cannot exceed four acres, and it is possible that the base will stand as low as two

JESSE CRAWFORD HERE THURSDAY

JESSE CRAWFORD PLAYING THE HAMMOND ORGAN

The internationally famed "poet of the organ," Jesse Crawford, who comes to the Watts Theatre on Thursday, Feb. 17, actually began his musical career at the age of 14, when he got a job playing the piano in a small fly-by-night orchestra on the Pacific coast. Long before that however, he was a busy little musician on his own, starting on the harmonica at the age of three in an orphanage where he spent his early years. Subsequently he received instruction there on the cornet and trombone and at the age of 12 was progressing rapidly with the reed organ and piano. During the ensuing days when organ music in the average motion picture house was more or less a necessary evil to the patrons, he was enabled to try his hand at the console and despite his lack of formal organ lessons "got by" due to the theatregoers being enthralled with the picture and paying little heed to the wheezing old pipes or reeds. It was invaluable practice for young Crawford nevertheless, and he soon acquired poise and instinctively knew how to iron out the kinks in the most dilapidated instrument. At 18, he graduated to the latest type of theatre organ and having perfected his technique and acquired a style of his own, he found himself among acres, or even less, depending upon the size of the county goal.

Briefly stated, the 1938 program allotments are based to a great extent upon allotments under the old triple A or soil program with a wide range for those factors that determine the final goals.
