tal enrollment of more than 800 white children, the six white high schools in this county are graduating this week and next around 120 boys and girls. Evidently there is a greater need to have more boys and girls take advantage of the present system than there is for added educational facilities.

The average taxpayer is willing to be taxed that the youth of the land might be educated, but he wants value received for his tax dollar.

Facts That Speak For Themselves

One million, one hundred and sixteen thousand cases of syphilis and one million and thirty-seven thousand cases of gonorrhoea come to the attention of the medical profession for the first time this year, it was brought out a few days ago in hearings on the LaFollette-Bulwinkle venereal disease control bill before the House Interstate and Foreign Commerce committee.

Syphilis costs the nation an estimated $41,000,000 annually for the care of only the syphilitic blind and insane, it was also brought out at the hearings.

More than 60,000 infants were said to be born infected with syphilis each year and a considerable number of still births was caused by the disease, it was further pointed out in the hearings.

These facts speak for themselves, and offer in bold relief a condition that is probably far more serious than an unbalanced national budget, war threats or a lack of confidence.

These facts do not apply only to some other county or state; they apply to conditions right here in Martin County where preliminary surveys show that one out of every three colored persons and about one out of every ten white persons are victims of the disease.

Bad Timing

Charlotte News

It is a striking illustration of the disjointedness of our times that Congress, after finally mustering the nerve to oppose the President's will, is asserting itself by overriding good legislation, such as the reorganization bill, whereas all the bad legislation is safely enacted. For instance, the President wrote Pat Harrison a note recently anent the newest tax bill in which he said:

"The repeal of the undistributed profits tax and the reduction of the tax on capital gains to a fraction of the tax on other forms of income strike at the root of fundamental principles of taxation."

To this, Pat replied tersely that the Senate would insist on the adoption of its amendments to the House bill. But the President is right. The Senate amendments, if they are retained, will favor the large stockholder in corporations at the expense of the small stockholder, the closely-held corporation at the expense of the widely-owned corporation. We shall have two income tax systems, one, that upon individual incomes, based on ability to pay, and the other, upon corporate incomes, based on ability to get out of paying.

It is true that the Senate bill is the choice of business men, hence may have a stimulating effect. But it will be at the expense of uniformity and consistency in taxation.

Monroe Man Makes Neat Profit Raising Broilers

When Earl Williams, of Monroe Route 1, came back from the Navy two years ago, jobs were hard to get so he raised 85000 broilers last year and 86000 this season. He made a neat profit of about 15 cents a chick. Now he doesn't want a city job.

Hail INSURANCE

Let us insure your tobacco against damage by hail. Last year over 50,000 farmers in the Southeast suffered severe hail losses.

For the small additional cost of 4 per cent we can insure your cost of fertilizer and labor by a hail policy. Don't you think this would be a cheap investment.

Write or come to see us. It will cost you no more to write this policy now than it would on July 1st. Let us cover your crop now.

HARRISON AND CARSTARPHEN

Isn't this the real problem of Beer - and almost its only problem?

THERE ARE people, of course, who steadfastly and sincerely believe beer to be intoxicating, or its use sinful, harmful, or a first step toward use of "hard liquor."

Just as sincerely we hold that the weight of the evidence is overwhelmingly against them...that beer is a mild, wholesome food beverage...and that "there is nothing more promising to combat the evil of too much alcohol than the opportunity of drinking good beer."

No...it is not in beer itself, we believe, that its gravest problem lies, but in those conditions, undesirable to us all, which sometimes surround its sale.

How should that problem be handled... by brewers, by retailers, by consumers, and by the public authorities? On its handling, we believe, depends the ultimate success or failure of the art and science of brewing, with all its manifold contributions to human pleasure and happiness and to the farm and industrial welfare of this country.

In that belief, a short time ago the Brewers Foundation was organized... to align the brewing industry with forces working for the public good in this country.

Our underlying motive... is of course obvious. But equally obvious, we hope, is the fact that our interests coincide with the public interest.

Important progress has been made. Brewer-members of the Foundation already represent nearly half the production of beer and ale in the United States; and these members are pledged, individually and collectively, to the Brewers Code, one significant clause of which is as follows:

"We pledge our support to the duly constituted authorities for the elimination of anti-social conditions wherever they may surround the sale of beer to the consumer."

Being practical men, we promise no miracles. We cannot immediately or effectively "police" the quarter-million points where beer is sold (nor, to be fair, have we legal authority in many cases to do so). Nor can we, immediately, bring about full compliance with the law among all retailers, nor honest enforcement by all authorities.

But a beginning has been made...and we do promise that you will see results from it.

How far we can go, and how soon, depends very much on ourselves...but partly also on you.

Public opinion, once aroused, can operate to bring about honest enforcement of existing laws. Restriction of your patronage only to legal, respectable retail outlets can and will operate to raise retailing standards. Public preference for the products of Foundation members will bear witness of your approval both to members and to cooperating retailers, and will encourage them to renewed efforts.

This is, therefore, at once a statement of our objectives and an appeal for your support, without which we must fall short of our high hopes. We urgently invite your full and sympathetic cooperation.
