Locals Are Not Consistent - Even at Losing Games

Although it is far from being favorable to the Williamston Martins, it is a known fact that a baseball team can't win the Coastal Plain Championship by winning one and losing two out of three games.

The hurling corps of the locals is far from top form, while, except for certain spots, batting in the clinch has not been any great benefactor upon which to expostulate.

Anyhow, the Martins lost two, while gaining one victory in their last three contests. The Saturday game with Ayden's Aces was thrown away by the pitchers. The Sunday battle with the Aces was won by the score of 3-2. Then on Monday afternoon, in a playoff of a rained-out game with New Bern, the lack of getting base knocks when they were needed, caused a 4-3 defeat. Thus, the Martins are now tied with Greenville for fifth place in the league standing.

Most County Home Inmates Eligible for 'Outside' Assistance

Following a survey of county homes of North Carolina, it has been announced by the Division of Institutions and Corrections, State Board of Charities and Public Welfare, that of a population of 2,911 in 84 such institutions during February, 1938, a total of 1,860, or 64 per cent, are likely eligible for some form of categorical assistance through the federal social security program if they are placed outside of the institution.

In making his report on the survey, Dr. J. Wallace Hygard, director of the division, urged the abolition of county homes and the substitution of district "hospital-homes."

"The traditional type almshouse is out of step with modern public welfare," he said. "It has been proposed that, for the county homes of North Carolina to serve their new functions in the changing development of state and federal aid for unemployment relief and special forms of categorical assistance, they should consolidate into district hospital-homes to care for the indigent, chronically ill and infirm. It was the experience of other states that through consolidation of county homes into district hospital-homes they provided better care and medical attention at less cost than if each county continued to maintain its own institution."

The report showed that during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1937, there had been an average of 3,282 inmates of 86 county homes in North Carolina. The cost of maintenance and permanent improvements at these institutions was $948,229.61, for an average annual per capita expenditure of $205.47, or $17.29 per month. The value of county home property was placed at $4,007,706.81.

The highest per capita cost, the report disclosed, was in Yancey county, which spent $1,843.34 on seven inmates, an average of $265 monthly. The lowest, $5.44 per month, was in Bertie County, which expended $4,367 during the year on a population of 48. The greatest expenditure was $290,538.64 by Forsyth County which included costs of permanent improvements. The lowest was $565.04 in Camden County for six inmates.

Durham County, with 175, reported the greatest number of inmates, while the lowest, only two, was in the Mitchell County home. Mecklenburg had 165 and there were 142 in Guilford.

Dr. Nygard said two county homes had been closed during the last year, and that consideration was being given to the abandonment of three others in the near future.

In commenting on the proposed hospital-homes, Dr. Nygard said: "To make the district hospital-homes possible, the counties will have to take an aggressive part by placing as many of their county home inmates as possible on Old Age Assistance, Aid to the Blind, Aid to Dependent Children, and other forms of general relief. Smaller county homes can close completely by placing as many as possible in homes of their own choice with categorical assistance or other relief measures and transferring the remaining unplaceable inmates to one of the larger neighboring county homes on a cooperative arrangement as the North Carolina statutes provide. This whole plan depends upon the support of the boards of county commissioners. Many of the commissioners have welcomed the opportunity to reduce the population of the county home or to abolish the home completely provided that satisfactory placements can be made for the inmates outside the institution."

"The capital outlay of the district hospital-home is borne by the participating counties in the ratio of each in the total population of the district hospital-home. Local units need not build new institutions for this purpose as some counties have fine county homes which, with minor alterations and possible expansion, especially in introductions of medical equipment and personnel, can function in this capacity."

State Shipping 7,500 Carloads of Potatoes To Northern Markets

North Carolina early Irish potatoes will ship approximately 7,500 carloads before July 1, R. B. Etheridge, chief of the State Department of Agriculture's markets division said today, basing his information on a survey of commercial shippers.

"Approximately 85 per cent of the potato crop this year will be inspected by the 140 graders of the department, operating at every shipping point," Etheridge said.

"Heavy rains in the potato producing sections materially reduced the shipments during the week ending May 28," he reported. "But with favorable weather this week the car lot shipments should be fairly heavy and the peak should be reached before June 15."

Etheridge said that prices received this year "while at a low level, showed an increase over last year and those close to the industry feel that prices will be better for the entire season than prices paid last year."

Increase In Aid To Needy Continues

The number of needy North Carolinians certified to receive free food, clothing and household articles from the Surplus Commodities Division of the State Board of Charities and Public Welfare continued to increase during April, A. E. Langston, director of the division, announced recently.

Langston said that on May 1 there were 31,533 families comprising 140,809 persons who were eligible for surplus commodity aid, compared to 29,352 families of 129,804 persons on April 1.

The report said that April distribution amounted to 2,209,962 pounds of foodstuffs valued at $65,556.29 and 98,537 articles of clothing and household furnishings valued at $40,647.50.

The division of food distribution included 1,243,391 pounds of fresh apples; 33,272 pounds of dried beans; 670 pounds of fresh cabbage; 99,906 pounds of fresh celery; 269,145 pounds of fresh oranges; 29,416 pounds of dried peaches; 1,070 pounds of dried peas; 440,000 pounds of Irish potatoes;

Low Tide in Hurling Dept.
Ayden knocked Pitchers Swain and Harper for 16 hits last Saturday afternoon and gained a 12-7 decision over the Williamston Martins as a result.

Six of the local runs were scored with home runs by Ace Villepique and Gene Marshall, two men being on bases both times.

And yet, in spite of the fact that the Martins gathered twelve hits, they couldn't find quite as many runs as Bill Herring's Aces. George Bowen led at bat with three hits for four times at bat, being followed by Marshall and Villepique, each hitting two for four.

Five-Hitter by Wade
On Sunday afternoon just before game time, the Great Ignasiak was bumped on the head by a wild throw, which knocked him cold for some time. Finally Eddie shook it off, and went out to play one of his best games yet. After Wade and Lakatos had singled, Eddie drove the ball to the deepest part of center field for a three base hit, knocking in two of Williamston's markers. Williamston won in a real thriller by the score of 3-2.

In the eighth inning with the score tied at two-all, Gene Marshall came home on a perfect squeeze play, Bowen doing the bunting.

Larry Wade, pitching his second time before the Sunday crowd in as many weeks, limited the Ayden Aces to five hits, striking out five.

Thirteen Hits - Four Runs
While Blondie Wry was giving 13 hits in the game Monday afternoon, he allowed only four men to cross the plate, and yet, the locals seemed unable to solve the pitches of Burgeges and Bull Hamons, the final count being 4-3 in favor of the New Bern Bears.

The Great Ignasiak continued to bat in his share of the runs, knocking in a pair. Ignasiak and George Bowen were leaders at the plate, each getting two for four, Eddie hitting a home run.

Steve Lakatos featured afield for the Martins, the second baseman handling five put-outs and three assists without a blot.
