

Williamston Loses Thrilling Battle To New Bern, 37 To 36

Jeff Grant, With 16 Points, Led Local Scoring Barrage

Playing without the service of Fenner Wallace and Don Brock, two stalwarts of the local independent team, the Williamston Martins dropped a thrilling battle to the New Bern Bears at New Bern last Friday night. The final score was 37-36. At the end of the first quarter the Martins were ahead 12 to 6, while at the half they were leading 19 to 13.

Jeff Grant, lanky center, dropped in points from all sections of the court to lead the locals' scoring barrage, garnering 16 points during the contest. A great improvement has been noticed in Grant's play during the past few games and at present he is crowding the other members for leading scoring honors.

Versatile "Big Leaguer" Beard followed Jeff with four field goals and a single free goal.

Stuart Flythe, former State College star, was the mainstay in the Bear line-up chalking up a total of 16 points.

Williamston High Will Play Edenton Here This Evening

Doubleheader Will Begin at 7:30 O'Clock Sharp in Local Gym

The Williamston High School boys and girls basketball teams will oppose the strong Edenton High outfit tonight in the local gym with the girls playing first at 7:30. The gym will be well heated for the occasion.

The Green Wave girls had a little difficulty in finding themselves on the court in the first games of the season but an 18-9 victory over the Oak City sextet last Friday showed an improved team. Oak City beat the Green Wave fair sex in a game before Christmas but the city slickers were no match for the local girls last week. With Marjorie Dunn, Captain Ray Everett and Bina Jackson playing at forwards, Coach Sam Edwards has developed a strong offense. The guards are all newcomers to the game but the marked improvement in last week's victory proved that the rookies were learning fast.

The Williamston boys have met no competition in the county in their opening games except in a much disputed contest in Robersonville. The local boys defeated Washington last week for their first victory over Washington in the past five years. Coach Edwards has had the same boys on the basketball squad since he has been here for the past three years. Edwards foresaw the possibilities of a winning team in such sophomores as the Anderson twins, J. E. Boykin, Stuart Critcher, and

Green Wave Takes Double Bill From Oak City Friday

Girls Win 18 to 9, M. Anderson and Boykin Lead Boys, 13-5

Last Friday night Williamston High's girls gained their second victory of the season out of five starts when they defeated the Oak City sextet with an 18 to 9 victory. Marjorie Dunn stole the scoring honors with four ringers from the floor for a total of eight points.

In the boys' contest, it was a shooting duel between Boykin and Martin Anderson for the Green Wave scoring with Boykin winning over the twin by an eight to five count to make Williamston's final count 13 lone points while the Oak City slickers were eking out five points from the strong Green Wave defense. Williamston High boys are trying hard to outdo the fine record of the local semi-pro Martins and have been quite successful thus far in the season having won four games out of five starts. J. E. Boykin is the leading scorer for the Green Wave with a total of 30 points in the first five games.

Prosperous Pig Year For Lincoln County Farmers

All indications point to a prosperous pig year for Lincoln County in 1940, as more purebred animals have been placed in the county, reports Assistant Farm Agent John W. Webster.

James Ward and began the first year he came to Williamston to develop this combination. This year the Wave coach will cash in on the three years of hard practice with these boys. The first year this combination won only seven games as they dropped 11 to their opponents. Last year the Green Wave opponents took away only eight games from the locals while Williamston was racking up 10 victories. This year the same combination of a strong defense in the twins and a scoring offense in Boykin, Ward and Roberson, has won four games out of five starts.

The Williamston High School basketball girls need the support of the student body to encourage them as they struggle to win a few games this season. The boys need the long neglected support of Williamston to place high school basketball on the status of a worthwhile high school activity.

Location of Tobacco Plant Bed Important

Locate your tobacco plant bed conveniently, and construct it properly, and the task of controlling the deadly blue mold disease will be made considerably easier, says Dr. Luther Shaw, plant pathologist of the State College Extension Service. Blue mold positively can be controlled with one of the three methods recommended by the Extension Service, he declared. They are: Benzol fumigation, paradichlorobenzene fumigation, or copper-oxide spray.

"Application of any of these three blue mold control treatments will necessitate frequent visits to the beds, and in some cases the movement of equipment to and from them," the specialist explained. "Therefore, the plant bed should be placed in a convenient location. The bed should be located close to a source of water, either a stream or well, because water will be needed in the application of either fumigation or spray treatments. Also, it is desirable to locate the beds where they will be protected as much as possible from strong winds."

Dr. Shaw also emphasized the value of a narrow plant bed. He listed the following advantages from such construction: (1) More plants are produced per square yard; (2) the danger of trampling on plants while weeding and pulling is avoided; (3) they can be watered more easily and uniformly; and (4) narrow beds can be equipped and treated for blue mold control more easily than wide ones.

The seed bed may be any desired length, but should be only 5 feet 8 inches wide to allow the standard six-foot cover to fit snugly when the fumigation method of control is used, the plant pathologist advised. A pathway 18 inches to 2 feet wide should be left between adjacent beds.
