They held a round table discussion on Democracy as a Defensive Measure. The discussions were well prepared and showed much time and thought on the subject, and were well received by those present.

Mrs. Ward read a short article by the past national president of the auxiliary. To Mrs. Ward, Mr. Anderson and the students, the auxiliary wishes to express its thanks for such an inspirational program.

The regular business of the day was conducted by Mrs. Arthur White, first vice president, who called the meeting to order. Roll call and minutes of previous meeting were read and approved.

A card of thanks was read from the president, Mrs. Charles Davenport, who is still in Brown Community Hospital. The entire auxiliary wishes for her a speedy recovery.

An order for 700 poppies has been sent to headquarters to be sold in the county on Poppy Day.

All state and optional obligations have been paid.

Every auxiliary member is asked to keep in mind the area conference which will be held in Edenton in April.

This concluded the business. The next meeting will be held the first Saturday in March.—Reported.

Business Continues To Look Brighter

While there seems to be some slackening off in manufacturing industries from the wave of activity that started last fall with prospects of a war boom, merchandising experts see no reason to retract their general forecasts—a 5 to 10 per cent increase for the first half of this year over 1939. The purchasing power released by the high level of industrial operations in recent months is now making itself felt and should carry over any mild recession in the heavy lines. Steel's operating rate is around 75 per cent of capacity, compared to December levels of above 90, but indications of a new industrial upswing by early spring are seen in: carloadings of freight are holding steady at 90 per cent of normal; farm income from marketings is expected to continue the increase shown last year; the auto industry is expected to be in the market for a large tonnage of steel by spring; wholesale furniture orders at the big market ran 30 to 60 per cent ahead of last year, and shipbuilding is booming.

Business Barometer Is Being 'Calibrated'

A scientific barometer of industrial activity, designed to guide manufacturers in gauging their production speed so as to avoid undue expansion as well as shortages of consumer goods—which bring sudden price rises—is being "calibrated" in the Department of Commerce. Secretary Harry Hopkins is enthusiastic over results of attempts the committee on economic surveys has had in its first attempt, last month, to measure exactly the flow of consumer goods — to learn monthly what stocks are on hand and whether trend is toward greater or less consumption in the immediate future. The figures will be made available generally to business.
