Wine Manufacturer Passes In New York

Paul Garrett, 76, wealthy wine manufacturer with extensive vineyards in New York and California, died at his home in New York Tuesday night, March 19, from pneumonia.

Mr. Garrett was a native of North Carolina, and was in Williamston last summer with his son, Bob Garrett, and his state representative, Bill Forrest. Through Messrs. K. P. Lindsley and Lawrence Lindsley, Mr. Garrett, for the past three years, has been promoting and encouraging the planting of grape vines in eastern Carolina.

Mr. Garrett's death is not expected to change or alter the business methods of the company for members of the family will probably continue to operate the company along the same lines as Mr. Garrett did.

Mrs. Frederick Hoyt, of Smithfield is visiting here for a few days.

Mrs. Martin Entertained At Miscellaneous Shower

Jamesville—Mesdames Russell and George Martin entertained with a lovely party and miscellaneous shower at the latter's home last Friday evening in honor of Mrs. Charles Martin, the former Miss Leyla Faye Manning.

The living room and dining room were beautifully decorated throughout with spring flowers. High score prize went to Mrs. Oscar Davenport and second high to Miss Lucia McInnis. The guest of honor was presented silver in her chosen pattern.

Little Miss Faye Martin presented the bride with a miniature umbrella and a note telling her of the shower of gifts.

The bridal motif of green and white was carried out in the decorations and tally cards, which were adorned with tiny brides and grooms. The color scheme was further emphasized in the refreshments which consisted of a salad course with hot chocolate.

Invited guests present were Mrs. Charles Martin, the honoree; Misses Dolores James, Lucia McInnis, Rachel Godwin, Rachel Carson, Helen Gunter, Eva Gray Manning, Grace Martin, Opal Brown, Mesdames J. Start Street Work Here Next Monday

Plans for launching a $30,000 street improvement project here next Monday were announced complete today by Superintendent R. E. Manning.

Equipment for handling the work has already been unloaded and material is on local railroad sidings. The work will be started on Warren Street where twenty-five men from the WPA ranks will start laying curb and gutter forms. Work on Smithwick and Grace Streets will be delayed pending the outcome of an application for a water and sewer contract with the Works Progress Administration. A sewer line is to be laid on Smithwick Street and repairs made to a water line on Grace Street before sidewalks and streets can be paved. If the application is rejected, the town will have to finance the water and sewer projects on those two streets.

New Deal Rescues Families Of Miners

(From Labor)

What the "New Deal's" social security program means to the American worker was dramatically illustrated this week by John J. Corson, director of the Bureau of Old Age Pensions.

Some time ago 91 coal diggers lost their lives in a West Virginia mine explosion. Eighty-one had been regularly employed and were covered by social security.

Fifty-three claims for benefits have already arrived in Washington and 49 have been adjudicated and checks will soon be going to the surviving widows and children. Payments will continue until the youngest child reaches 18 years of age.

Twelve claims have been approved for widows with only one child. The average monthly benefit check will call for $32.35.

Four claims are for widows with children, who will receive $42.90 monthly.

Six claims cover widows with three children, who will receive $42.90 monthly.

Six claims are for widows with four or more children, and the monthly checks will range from $48 to $55.

"That is what family protection means," Corson declared.
