Senator Pepper Speaks

Senator Claude Pepper, of Florida, speaking before a meeting of Fourth District Democrats recently, offered some pertinent comment on the need for drafting President Roosevelt for a

The Florida law makers appeal for Roosevelt as "the best friend business, even big business, ever had" fitted in complete harmony with the current 'North Carolina for Roosevelt' drive which its sponsors are confident will result in sending a Tar Heel delegation to the Chicago convent on pledged unanimously to case 26 votes for Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

Senator Pepper told a wildly-cheering audience that the president is "no candidate for office" but must be drafted as the people's candidate if the gains of the New Deal are to be the best way to save the country and the world is to do nothing for either," and declared that Roosevelt "has been the best friend business, even big business ever had, because we know that the only way big business can live is for little business to thrive, and Roosevelt was the first President in twenty years upon whose retina little business has been able to register an

"There aren't any more honors in America to heap upon him," said Senator Pepper, "no more homage could they give him if he lived forever as President, than they have given him in the dark hours of trial.

But Roosevelt is the people's candidate for four more years in the White House until we can see through the clouds."

The Senator disclaimed any intention to be disrespectful of old leaders but added "we are not blind and we know they did not do anything about these things

"But we do know, thank God, Franklin D. Roosevelt. We do know that he sees these things as we see, and that he has been doing something about them, even against the doleful prophets who speak for the dead. Franklin D. Roosevelt. has saved our inheritance for us. He did not let our estate, handed down to us by the blood of our forbears, the kind of forbears who shed their blood at Kings Mountain, the kind of forbears who gave us the Declaration of Mecklenburg, collapse and fall to pieces. He has lightened our debt. He has conserved our resources when they were being squandered by an irresponsible trustee. He has made us healthier. He has thrown a lot of rotten apples out of the barrel of our national life, and gently enough, he has kicked the pants of a lot of fellows who were snooping around trying to steal most of the good apples left in the barrel."

He marshalled a host of Republican witnesses, past and present, to rebut arguments against a third term.

They forget that they were not afraid of a third term for Coolidge," he said, citing the later Senator Simeon Fess; the late Congressman Snell, Republican leader of the House, "that rather conservative figure, Herbert Hoover"; the rather honorable and respectable Chief Justice of the United States," Charles E. Hughes; "that rather substantial business man," Henry Ford; and others who wanted a third term for Cool-

He declared Americans will not give up President Roosevelt until the aims of the New Deal are secure. He lauded Governor Clyde Hoey for favoring the President's renomination, and expressed his great pleasure at being invited to speak in "the oldest liberal state in the South."

A Bit Tangled Up

There are so many candidates in the field for governor and the demand for slogans so great that the phrases are said to be a bit confusing.

Melville Broughton comes along with the slogan. "A sound man with a sound program." And all the while Tom Cooper has been advertised as the man with the ballyhoo and sound truck. On a baseball fence in the Coastal Plain Baseball League there is a sign advertising Cooper's Beer, Could it be that Wilmington's Mayor Tom executed a contract with the beer folks to advertise their product, the general opinion being that he won't get to be governor.

Lee Gravely steals the march on the others by not being a lawyer. Gravely proclaims the fact that he is a "business man."

Who Is He Representing?

It would be interesting to know who Congressman Barden is really representing in his fight for passage of amendments to the wage hour law. Is he representing the down-trodden workers who sweated in a Carteret County shirt factory, or the few operators? Reports indicate that the representative is not representing both groups, that he has pitted his strength on the side of those who see no wrong in dictating the policies and lives of workers.

The Use of Profanity...

By REV. S. J. STARNES Pastor, Methodist Church

Profane swearing is one of the most insidious, disgusting, and un-ustifiable of all sins. It is indulged in sometimes thoughtlessly. "Evil is wrought by want of thought, as well is heart." The ten commandments were given as a rule and guide in ife, and they apply to us today. God tid not hesitate to say "thou shalt" or "thou shalt not", but many of us do not want to conform to God's laws. This commandment is perhaps brok-en more often than any other. One reveres the name of God is made ad to hear men, women and even ittle children use profanity. One can hardly go into a public place or on the street without having to hear people blaspheme the Holy Name of God Of course, one cannot rightful-ly claim to be a gentleman of a lady who indulges in such practice, for gentlemen, in the true sense of the vord do not use profanity. Mr. Webster's definition of a gentleman is "A man of gentle or refined manners; a well-bred man of fine feelings." I do not know just where to place a man who uses profanity, or if I do know, my religious convictions and my sense of decency make it imposman's Club Sunday night at 7:45 ible for me to express it.

I can excuse a person for almost my other sin under certain circumtances, but there can be no for one's taking the name of God in vain. A man may steal because he is hungry; or he may commit murder because he is mad; or he may live an impure life because he is a victim of lust, but I have never been able to see any possible excuse for "curs-ing". And yet there are people who think it is smart, and who talk of it flippantly. People who use profanity demonstrate their ignorance in ways: first, impoverished thought, and second, an impoverish-ed vocabulary. When they run out of words and can think of nothing else to say, they try to give empha-sis by using profanity. Much would be gained if people would think of what they are doing in profane nvolved. Not only is it blaspheming ful to respectful people. It is not gentlemanly conduct. It brings no good to anyone, but condemns that person who indulges in it. "For the Lord will not hold him guiltless that taketh his name in vain."

* Dear people, whatever else we may do or not do, let us refrain from this awful sin, and teach our children to Father, by emphasizing the third commandment, "Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in er lives, and have a more wholesome vain." By so doing we shall live purand happy society.
