Arriving in cars the young people went directly to the lawn of the church, where Rev. J. Norton Dindley was in charge of the Mayo's Chapel group and Miss Ruby Wynne was in charge of the Roberson Chapel group. A skit, headed by Maybelle Wilson, of Mayo's Chapel, was given followed by two readings by Raymond Rawls and Guy Rawls, Jr., famous end men of Roberson Chapel.

During the refreshment hour ice cream and cake were served to the young people by Mrs. Walker, of Mayo's Chapel.

Christian Picnic Held At Colerain Wednesday

The annual picnic of the Williamston Christian Bible School was held Wednesday at Colerain. The cars and truck left the Church at two o'clock and reached the beach about 3:30. Around a hundred members of the school and friends enjoyed swimming, horseshoe pitching and other games until time for supper. This part of the picnic proved most interesting along with the superior quality of lemonade prepared by the men under the able direction of Landy Griffin.

The most humorous part of the outing was occasioned when the preacher in his haste to bring his provender to the long tables, let his box fall to the ground and its contents liberally spread on the sand. Fortunately for the preacher's family there rested between the food and the sand a tablecloth that his wife had spread on the top of the box.

Like many a pleasant outing, "All's well that ends well."
