goal. Industry has received sixtee billion dollars in various ways in-cluding tariffs and concessions. It would only cost a few millions to boost farm prices to parity levels. If labor can sell its services for a dollar that is worth a dollar then why can't the farmer sell his com modities for a dollar that is worth

"The unfortunate thing is that the farmer never acts until his back is against the wall. Despite that posiagainst the wait, despite that posi-tion, we, as farmers, have advanced and are now in a position to deal with our problems. If other states can maintain strong organizations, we can do so here in Martin County and North Carolina. Those states with strong organizations have fav-orable legislative records in their semblies and in their representative groups at Washington.

We have enough at stake to get behind and support a strong farm organization. And if labor can pay from $15 to $30 a year as dues, we can pay the small fee asked of us in support of our organization. We have accomplished something, really more than the average member knows about, but we have hardly scratched the surface. We spent last year $26,000 for research work in promoting new markets. California spent a million. Industry is getting. cent and agriculture 25 per cent of the money spent for promoing research and other allied under

Williamston Scout to ever attain the coveted rank. He was followed by Horace Ray, local scoutmaster, and young Woolard is the third boy to be evated to the position

The meeting was presided over by Rev. S. J. Starnes, president of the Lions Club. Briefly he welcomed the visitors and recognized Mr. and Mrs. Woolard, Horace Ray and Mr. J. Q. which were taxed as "simple" by Patrick, Everetts scoutmaster. Hugh border of the court. club, made a few appropriate and timely remarks before the meeting was turned over to Wheeler Martin. chairman of the Martin County Council of Scouting and member of Eastern Carolina Executive

After a brief introduction by Wheeler Martin, Scout Executive Sigwald reviewed the work of a cout who enters as a tenderfoot and reaches the coveted rank of an Eagle "Twenty-one merit have been conferred upon this young man and tonight he rightly deserves the honor and recognition that is given him," the scout executive stated. After presenting the charter to the Martin County Council, Mr. Sigwald asked that Wheeler Martin present the badge to J. D. Woolard, Jr. In making the presentation, Mr. Martin gave a short history of Scouting in Martin County, going back to 1921, when Simon Lilley first organ-ized a troop without the guidance and assistance of the national organ-

"This badge represents persever ance, diligence and lots of hard work," Mr. Martin said, in presenting the badge to Martin County's third Eagle Scout. "You richly deserve the honor bestowed upon you and may your future progress and attainments equal those Scouting," he said.

The badge was pinned on the recipient by his mother. Mrs. J. D.

Successful Revival At Holly Springs

The revival services which have en in progress at the Holly Springs Methodist Church for the past ten days came to a close Wednesday evening. ### Faithful School Teacher Retires

The Jamesville school has opened with all teachers and students in Everyone is looking forward to a happy and successful school year.

We have lost, through retirement, our faithful and competent music teacher, Miss Annie Glasgow. She has been with us for a number of years and has endeared herself to each of us. We wish for her every happiness.

Our commercial department is a new field in our school, but one that has been needed and is appreciated by all. Miss Ipock, the head of this department comes to us highly recommended, therefore we feel sure that each person who studies under her will be greatly benefitted. We will miss the teachers who left us this year, but we know that they asantly situated We feel sure that Miss Waters and

We feel sure that Miss Waters and Miss Rogers, who are filling the va-cancies, will bring us much inspira-tion and help. We are delighted to have them with us.

We are glad that all the other teachers are back with their shoulders to the wheel ready and willing as usual to perform every duty with a smile.-Reported. Mr. B. F. Leggett remains critical-
