

Big Five Football Teams Begin 1940 Gridiron Conquest

N. C. State Meets William and Mary At Portsmouth Friday Night

The 1940 football season will get underway this week-end in Big Five circles as every team except Duke University's Blue Devils take on opposition. N. C. State will meet William and Mary's Indians in the only Southern Conference clash by teams of this State, in Portsmouth Friday night. North Carolina will play host to Appalachian State at Chapel Hill Saturday afternoon. Davidson will meet Rollins at Davidson, and Wake Forest will battle William Jewell in Winston-Salem on Saturday.

The State-William and Mary contest will attract the most attention as reports give Coach Voyte's Indians and up-and-coming organization, while State has been treading the mediocre path for several years. The Wolfpack has been hindered due to injuries and a number of its starters being called to camp for special military training, and Coach Doc Newton and his aides will have an unusually tough job trying to turn out a winning club under such handicaps. Since Coach Voyte went to William and Mary after serving under Wallace Wade at Duke, the Indian's stock has taken a considerable rise, and many depositors figure that this is the year for his team to click. Regardless, it is expected that Coach Newton's proteges will attempt to make the Indians display some of this high-class football experts say they will offer.

Carolina warms up with Appalachian State and Coach Wolf expects the Staters to play quite a game. The Tar Heels will be out-weighted but with Sweet Lalanee's passing, Dunkle's kicking and Severin's pass receiving, this clash can be considered little more than an easy one.

Wake Forest will take on a supposedly set-up in William Jewell, and well it is too, for the Deacons will meet North Carolina the following Saturday afternoon. Coach Peahead Walker hopes to use this game to polish off the rough spots in his attack and prepare for the Tar Heels.

Davidson will grab a bunch of dynamite when Jack McDowell, former State College star, brings his array of talent to the Wildest institution. Rolling always performs well in its class, and knocks off a couple of bigger teams each season.

The Duke Blue Devils will sit idly by this week-end, taking a slight lay-off after a hard pre-season training session.

The 1941 AAA-program provides for maintenance of adequate food and fiber supplies and emphasis on soil conservation practices particularly applicable to local areas and small farms.

It's Merely A Matter Of Opinion ...

With Nothing Official!

Before we get started along the football ramblings, it may be well at this time to let everyone know Tarboro won the Coastal Plain League championship of 1940 . . . Only 400 fans were present at the final game . . . Which means that arrangements will be made or a change will be in order before next baseball season.

And about this gridiron situation, who do you pick as the leading sectional teams of the country? . . . Cornell in the East? . . . Duke and Tulane in the South? . . . Texas A. and M. in the Southwest? . . . Southern California on the Pacific Coast? . . . Ohio State in the Mid-West? . . . No, well, at this time—it's merely a matter of opinion . . . Tulane's Green Wave ranks ahead of Major Bob Neyland's Tennessee because of the difference of schedules if for no other reason . . .

If you don't think the South is committing an unpardonable crime you didn't read the article about paying football players in the Saturday Evening Post recently . . . The biggest mistake of the article was placing the blame on Southern schools . . . I may be wrong, but I thought football subsidization started among the teams of the East . . . At that, a football player deserves aid for his ability . . . There has been many a fine young man injured for life while covorting the gridiron for his alma mater . . . Even in the Big Five injuries have bothered athletes after they have played their terms . . .

Wake Forest Opens Season Saturday

Wake Forest—With the opening of their 1940 gridiron season Saturday afternoon in Winston-Salem against William Jewell College, of Liberty, Mo., Wake Forest will be without the services of two mainstays. Red Mayberry, who fractured his arm, will miss the first three games, while Tackle Ted Kunkel, with an injured shoulder will definitely not play tomorrow.

The William Jewell Cardinals have won the Missouri Conference championship three of the past four years and will be anything but easy for the Deacs.

According to Coach Peahead Walker, Wake Forest's starting lineup will read something like this: John Jett and Paul Walters, ends; Pat Preston and Tony Rubino, tackles; Carl Givler and Frank Kapriva, guards; John Pendergast, center; Captain Ringgold, Jolting John Polanski, Tony Galovich and J. V. Pruitt or Joe Duncavage, backs.

Ollie Hamilton Is Preparing For A Cold Winter Here

Ollie Hamilton Comedians are making their annual visit to Williamston, September 23rd.

Ollie is presenting a big musical comedy revue this year in connection with one of his famous black-face farce comedies featuring himself in his famous black-face character of Jake.

Morris Nelson, singer and yodler of radio and stage, is producing the revue and co-starring with Ollie all the way through the show.

There are 75 people with the show—20 big time vodvil acts, all new scenery, wardrobe and electrical effects.

If you enjoy comedy, singing, dancing and beautiful girls, don't miss it—it's 1940's streamline entertainment, guaranteed to please the whole family. Positively the cleanest show on earth.

Government figures indicate that nearly 12,000,000 farm family workers and hired hands will be busy with fall crops and livestock during September.

Jesse Hardy, representing the Coastal Insulation and Distribution Company, of Kinston, said yesterday a large number of local people are having their homes insulated with Gimco Rock Wool. This product, which makes the home warmer in the winter and cooler in the summer, has been on the market for 25 years.

Mr. Hardy stated that he had completed the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. King and that contracts had been signed to insulate the homes of Herbert Clark, Joel Muse and Iverson Skinner.

Gimco Rock Wool is blown into the ceiling and the walls of the house by a pressure pump.
