Popular Young Local Couple Are United in Impressive Ceremony at Christian Church

The wedding of Miss Josephine Woodard Harrison and Edwin Elford Holding was solemnized in the Christian Church here Wednesday evening at eight o'clock with Rev. John L. Goff, pastor of the bride, officiating. For the church decoration a bank of ferns and pines formed a background in which large white chrysanthemums and gladioli in baskets were interspersed. Seven-branch candelabra with white tapers shed a soft light on the wedding party. Seats reserved for the members of the families and special guests and for the choir were marked with white satin ribbons and small white chrysanthemums with white tapers down the center aisle at the end of each row. A musical program consisting of "Indian Love Call," "Love Dreams," "Liszt," "Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life," and "Shadows," by Carrie Jacobs Bond was rendered by Mrs. W. C. Manning. She also accompanied the vested choir composed of Messdames Wheeler Martin, James Smith and James Manning and Miss Kathryn Mewborn, Messrs. W. C. Manning, Charles Manning and Asa Crawford and Juan Crofton, in "Ave Maria," by Schubert. Juan Crofton sang, "I Love You Truly," by Carrie Jacobs Bond, as a solo. During the ceremony the pianist softly played, "To a Wild Rose," by McDowell and used the Bridal Chorus from "Lohengrin" and Mendelssohn's Wedding March for the professional and recessional. Messrs. V. J. Spivey and J. L. Harris, Jr., of Raleigh, brothers-in-law of the bride, assisted the ushers. First to enter the church were the honorary bridesmaids, Misses Ruth Manning, Estelle Crawford, Mary Taylor and Nell Harrison, Messdames R. D. Woodward, Vernon Bunting, Hubert Coburn, J. A. Eason, C. T. Rogers, Jr., David Modlin, Abner Brown and C. H. Godwin, Jr., who took their places in the last row of seats reserved for special guests. They wore pastel evening gowns with chrysanthemum corsages to match. Ushers were Mr. T. F. Harrison, brother of the bride; Mr. W. J. Holding, brother of the groom, of Concord; Mr. C. N. Bennett, of Washington; Dr. E. S. King, of Wake Forest; Mr. Joe McCotter, of Washington, and Mr. Ralph Taylor. The first bridesmaids to enter were Mrs. J. L. Harris, Jr., of Raleigh, sister of the bride, and Mrs. G. H. Harrison, Jr. They were followed by Miss Mary Carstarphen and Miss Eunice Mae Rountree, of Richmond. They wore identical dresses of champagne rose Watilite taffeta with tiered full skirts and fitted bodices with sashes of deep purple velvet. Their net hats were the color of the dresses with shoulder length veils. They carried old fashioned nosegays of yellow chrysanthemums with ribbons of matching shade falling to the floor. Mrs. V. J. Spivey, sister of the bride, dame of honor, wore a gown of hyacinth taffeta made similar to the bridesmaids with a coronet hat of matching shade with a shoulder length veil. Her arm bouquet was of bronze chrysanthemums with marching streamers. Miss Katherine Hardison, maid of honor, wore peacock taffeta, made on similar lines to the other attendants with a coronet hat of matching color and a shoulder length veil. Her colonial nosegay was of bronze chrysanthemums with matching ribbons. All the attendants wore single strands of pearls, gifts of the bride and the men in the wedding party wore formal evening attire with boutonnieres of white roses. The bride entered the church with her uncle, Mr. George H. Harrison, who gave her in marriage. Her wedding gown was of bridalglow satin made on princess lines with a high standing collar of chantilly lace. Inserts of chantilly lace were used in the full part of the sleeves which were tight from the elbow ending in a point over her hands. Lace panels were used in the long court train. Her veil was of bridal illusion and chantilly lace and fell from a coronet of small seed pearls with a cluster of orange blossoms at the side. She carried a white Bible, showered with Stephanotis and used as her only ornament, a gold bracelet, the groom's gift. The groom entered with Mr. George Harrison, Jr., his best man, from the study, to wait for the bride. Mrs. Holding is the daughter of Mrs. Thaddeus Fernando Harrison and the late Mr. Harrison. She was born in Williamston and has lived here all her life. She is a young woman of great charm and intellectuality. After her graduation from the local school she attended Eastern Carolina Teachers' College in Greenville. She has taught in the Oak City schools and in the schools of Williamston. Mr. Holding is the son of Dr. and Mrs. S. P. Holding, of Wake Forest. He attended the schools there and in Williamston and later Wake Forest College. The groom has made his home here for a number of years and was connected with Harrison Wholesale Company until recently. He now holds a position with a wholesale concern in Washington. Immediately following the wed-

Andrew Holliday Reports On Fair

Jamesville, Oct. 17—A. J. Holliday, Jr., reports the following account of the State Fair: On October 10, 1940, the Jamesville Future Farmers of America took a very enjoyable trip to the North Carolina State Fair at Raleigh. We chartered a bus and left about 7:45, arriving in Raleigh at 11:30. At the fair grounds there were many things to do. First thing for us was to get acquainted with the place. Then we rode on many new rides which we did not have at our county fair. It seems that as a whole, the class enjoyed the livestock exhibits most. We went in the livestock building and saw all kinds of horses, hogs and cows. We saw a horse that weighed 2300 pounds. It was a very beautiful animal. While looking at the hogs, one of our younger members remarked, "That hog is as high as I am." It was the truth, because the hog weighed 900 pounds. Of the cows, the Guernsey, Holstein and Jersey were the most popular with our class. Another interesting feature was the poultry exhibit. In this building we saw many different kinds of chickens. We saw some as small as quail and some as large as ducks. We also saw many turkeys, geese, duck and other fowl. We spent the rest of the time buying souvenirs and watching the free acts. The free acts were very interesting, especially the horse and motorcycle races. These were new to most of us and we found them very enjoyable. Some of our members got so many souvenirs that when they put them all on, they looked like some high army official. Speaking for the class, I think I can say that we saw one of the most beautiful scenes we have ever seen. It was the fireworks. I think they

They had an old shack in front of the grandstand. When the fireworks were over there was no shack to be seen. It was completely demolished. After this, regretting it as much as we did, we had to return home. We arrived in Jamesville at 2:30. What did it matter to us what time it was? After such a day as this we would have been willing to stay up all night.

Happenings In The Oak City School

The Oak City chapter of the Future Farmers of America is busy accomplishing goals which have been set up in their yearly program of work. Besides attending the White Lake camp in August, 35 members went to the State Fair last Thursday. They also sponsored an exhibit at the county fair winning a $15 prize. They have set up in their yearly program of work a number of activities under the following headings: Supervised project, cooperative activities, home work and community work, leadership activities, earnings and savings, conduct of meeting, scholarship, recreation, publicity. They hope to accomplish those activities and strive to make the F.F.A. stand out above other national organizations.

Church Group To Meet Here Sunday

The regular quarterly meeting of the interdenominational young people of Martin County will convene in the Williamston Christian Church on Sunday, October 20th, at 3:45. These meetings have served to bring together the young people from all the Churches of the county, enriching their fellowship and enabling the program committee to bring strong speakers and worthwhile subjects to the group. Rev. S. J. Starnes, pastor of the Williamston Methodist Church, will be the principal speaker. Special music will be rendered by Mrs. J. H. Smith. The young people of the county are urged to be present along with strong local representation. Mrs. C. U. Rogers is visiting relatives in Goldsboro this week.
