President Holland Reviews Activities At Peanut Meeting

Directors in Annual Meeting At Edenton a Few Days Ago

At the annual meeting of the North Carolina Peanut Stabilization Cooperative in Edenton a few days ago, President R. C. Holland addressed his report to the organization's members. There are many members of the association in Martin County and the report is offered in detail, as follows:

The activities of your association relating to its administration of the peanut surplus removal program for peanuts grown in 1939 were similar to those during the 1938-39 marketing season, however, your association engaged in other activities during the past year equally important to the peanut growers of North Carolina, about which I shall say more later on in this report.

The volume of peanuts received by your association under the government peanut program during the past peanut marketing season was relatively small, to-wit: 1485,807 tons. The volume of peanuts handled by your association, in my opinion, is the best evidence possible—that the peanut program did accomplish the objectives for which it was fashioned—support of prices for farmers' stock peanuts up to the levels of the prices for such peanuts set up in the peanut surplus removal program. According to the best available information, 225,000 acres of peanuts were planted by 18,000 farmers in North Carolina for commercial purposes during 1939, in 45 counties.

These growers produced 143,000 tons of peanuts, or 22 per cent of the total production of peanuts in the United States for that year. It is estimated that the fair market value of these peanuts, based on average market prices prevailing during the marketing season, would approximate 10 million dollars, or one-fourth of the total value of all peanuts grown in the United States during 1939 for commercial purposes. In addition to this, it is estimated that something like 50,000 tons of good peanut hay was produced by North Carolina peanut growers during 1939, which had a market value of $500,000. These figures leave out of consideration the value of the peanuts left in the field at harvest time and later consumed by hogs. All of which gives us a general idea of the importance of the peanut crop to the farmers of North Carolina.

The small volume of peanuts handled by your association during the past marketing season as indicated above is reflected in the excess operating expense over income for the association during the year. This excess operating expense over income is due mainly to the fact that the peanut program only provides for operating expenses based on actual volume of peanuts received by the association. Another contributing factor is the settled policy of the association to encourage growers to sell their peanuts outside of the association unless it would be to their advantage to deliver peanuts to the association at the government prices. No doubt the association could have increased the volume of peanuts handled by it during the year if it had pursued a policy of encouraging delivery of peanuts to the association on the basis of loyalty, etc. This policy, so I am informed, has been the settled policy of some of the other associations handling peanut surplus removal programs for the department; and has resulted in increasing substantially the volume of peanuts handled by them. The excess operating expense over operating income for the year is $11,495.67 according to preliminary figures of the auditors, which figures, I believe, will not be materially changed in the audit report that will be supplied the association in the near future.

Perhaps the outstanding activity of your association, other than the actual administration of the peanut program during the year—was its presentation of certain facts to officials of the U. S. Department of

Be Quick To Treat Bronchitis

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends beechwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics. No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permitting rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. Jew Saves Nazi Flier's Life

Second Lieutenant M. E. Jacobs, of the British army, a Jew, stands beside a German airman whose life he saved at the risk of his own. The Nazi was shot down off Folkestone. Jacobs plunged into the channel, swam 300 yards to the airman, kept him afloat until a boat picked them up. Jacobs is wearing a corporal's coat, lent to him after his swim.

Agriculture in Washington concerning the peanut acreage allotment for North Carolina for the year 1940. This service involved the collection of a vast amount of historical data that had to be carefully analyzed and assimilated before the information contained in these data could be put into shape for use as factual evidence before the officials referred to above. The results of this work are pretty generally known and appreciated by the peanut growers of North Carolina. The additional 9,850 acres of peanut acreage allotment obtained through these efforts for North Carolina peanut growers, broken down to dollars and cents, means an annual increased income for them of approximately $500,000.

Also your association actively and financially supported Second National Peanut Week, which activity required considerable time and labor on the part of the management. The contribution made by the association to this cause was $500. That the investment was a wise one was borne out by the increased consumption of peanuts during National Peanut Week, which increase in consumption has been verified and recognized by all competent authorities. In this connection, I am pleased to report that Third National Peanut Week has already been announced by National Peanut Council to take place early in the coming year, which project has already received the approval of your board of directors and its authorization for the association to contribute $1,000 to National Peanut Council to be used, in part by it towards the expenses of Third National Peanut Week.

A new cooperative association, at the insistence of the U. S. Department of Agriculture, is now in the making to administer future surplus removal programs for peanuts produced in North Carolina and Virginia. This new association, in the nature of things, cannot, in my opinion, perform important services that

V. G. Taylor Buys Registered Cattle

Battleboro, Vt.—V. G. Taylor, Martin County farmer, bought four registered Holstein-Friesian cattle at the Virginia State Holstein Consignment Sale held at Orange, Va., recently. His purchase included the two cows, Miniborya-Pietertje Artis and Miniborya Ormsby Pansy, consigned by the Miniborya Farm, Richmond, Va.

There were 63 cattle sold at an average of $233.33 which is to date, and probably will be for this year, the country's highest average for any state breeders sale. The 57 female entries averaged $243.77 a head and the six male entries, $134.17. There were 26 buyers, 17 of whom bought more than one. The largest single buyer was R. L. May, of Alexandria, Va., who bought eight head. Buyers came from Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland, Pennsylvania, North Carolina and Puerto Rico.

Poultry-improvement work under the National Poultry Improvement Plan has expanded steadily since the launching of the cooperative Federal-State program in 1935.

will from time to time be necessary to advance and protect the best interests of the peanut growers of North Carolina. I strongly recommend that your association continue to function actively. Important legislation affecting the rights and interests of the peanut growers of North Carolina may develop during the next session of our State legislature; and will almost certainly develop during the next session of the Congress. For example, important legislation has already been introduced in the present Congress relating to the production and consumption of peanuts in the United States during next year and the following years, which legislation is awaiting the convening of the next Congress for consideration. Suffice it to say that this legislation is of vital import to the peanut farmers of this nation. The peanut farmers of North Carolina, in my judgment, cannot afford to neglect the intelligent study of this proposed legislation and have an active part in the development of same.

Fulfilling A Pledge

On May 18, 1939, when the Brewers and North Carolina Beer Distributors Committee was formed, a definite and sincere promise was made to the public.

We pledged the beer industry's aid to law-enforcement agencies to the end that retail beer dealers operate lawfully and in the public interest.

The committee believes its pledge has been fulfilled. During the past 17 months it has aided the authorities in ridding the state of 131 undesirable beer outlets—107 by revocation, one by surrender and 23 by refusal to renew licenses.

You can help by restricting your patronage to those places which obey the law.
