

Farmers Buying In Association Stock

Farmers in Beaufort, Martin, Washington, Hyde and Tyrrell Counties recently took over a large share of the ownership of the Washington Production Credit Association as $36,250 of its capital was repaid to the Production Credit Corporation of Columbia, and thence to the Federal Treasury.

W. L. Ausbon, member of the association's board of directors, pointed out that the corporation still has $85,000 invested in the non-voting capital stock of the association, and in addition farmers own more than $21,750 of voting stock.

When the association was organized in 1933 all of the capital was provided by the Federal Government through the Production Credit Corporation, but local farmers who obtained loans—purchased—small amounts of voting stock until the total now owned by them aggregates over $21,750. The association is financing the farming operations of about 600 farmers in Beaufort, Martin, Washington, Hyde and Tyrrell Counties.

Capital of the association, Director Ausbon said, is not used to make loans but is utilized as additional security in obtaining loan funds from the Federal intermediate credit bank.

Jamesville Youth Gets Scout Award

At a public gathering at the Jamesville High School recently, James Clarence Wallace, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Wallace, received the Eagle Scout badge.

Young Wallace has been eligible for this honor since September 30, but owing to his being at the University of North Carolina, the presentation was postponed until the Christmas holidays.

Before entering Carolina in September, he was an honor student in the Jamesville High School, graduating with the honor of valedictorian of his class in May, 1940. During his senior year in high school he participated in the American Legion oratorical contest and won in Martin County, the Fourth Legion District and the northeastern division of North Carolina and was one of four to enter the State finals in Greensboro last April.

He said the increasing degree of farmer ownership of the association indicates the progress that has been made toward a permanent source of production credit in this area able to stand on its own feet.

Things To Watch For In The Future

Glass fiber, used as a backing for various covering materials such as linoleum, oilcloth and imitation leather and other bookbinding materials . . . A new name for celanese fabrics, with a patriotic twist: "Celamerica"—suggested slogan: "Don't Celamerica short." . . . Here's a thing to listen for: New recording of the Beethoven violin concerto, starring Jascha Heifetz and with Toscanini directing—it has received by far the most consistently enthusiastic reviews of anything since newspapers began running record review columns (which in itself is quite a "thing to watch for") . . . A new magazine, one at long last specially devoted to the interests of the Head of the House—to be called 'Fathers' Magazine, it will be in pocket-size, and with no advertising . . . If you're a truck driver, maybe you should watch for a questionnaire from General Motors on what you would like in a truck—for the first time, G-M is including truck pilots in its sampling of drivers for their personal preferences, as a guide to improvements.

He has 31 Scout merit badges, 10 more than are required for Eagle ranking. He is a son of a disabled veteran of the World War and is a self-help student at Carolina.

Happenings In The Bear Grass School

On Monday night, January 13, the teachers of Bear Grass school attended a meeting of the North Carolina Education Association, held at the Jamesville school. The speaker of the evening was Mr. Perry, of the State Board of Education. Mr. Perry's talk was centered around the new trends and aims of education. After the talk the Jamesville teachers entertained with a short program and refreshments.

On Tuesday night, January 14th, the Parent-Teacher Association met in the school auditorium. The fifth grade under the direction of Miss Annie Mae Davis presented a very entertaining patriotic program. Then Mr. Hickman gave the report of the committee who had been appointed to see about the construction of the new gymnasium which the school and patrons of the school hope to get.

It has been a very successful season so far for the athletic association. The boys have lost only two out of the nine games played and the girls have lost only one out of the eight played.

The library, which has formerly been in the community house has been moved to the school building.

Dr. Williams, the county health doctor, with the aid of his nurse, spent a part of this week examining, vaccinating and weighing the children of the elementary grades.

As yet there has been no influen-
