

High School Tourney To Get Underway Tonight

Bear Grass Boys Engage Oak City At 7:00 o'Clock In Opening Battle

Farm Life Lassies Meet Robersonville In Second Contest

Jamesville Boys and Robersonville Mix in Evening's Finale

Rivalry and revenge has been fast accumulating among the various basketball teams throughout the county during the past month—but it will all be thrashed out in the county high school tournament opening here this evening.

The Williamston girls were scheduled to meet the Oak City sextet in the opener tonight but Sam Edwards, tourney chairman, reports that Oak City sent notice last Friday morning that they would not enter their girls' team. At seven o'clock, the opener will bring forth the Bear Grass boys against Oak City, with Bear Grass appearing to have the slight edge. The second game will be a struggle between Farm Life and Robersonville girls; Robersonville goes in as the favorite. The final of the first night will be the Jamesville boys against Robersonville—two unknown quantities.

The second round of the tourney will begin at six o'clock Wednesday night with the strong Jamesville sextet meeting the winner of the Farm Life-Robersonville game. And round about 7:00, things will really begin to get hot when the Farm Life boys seek revenge against Bear Grass. Early in the season Bear Grass eked out a one-point victory over Farm Life, but the losers are figuring on evening things up on their second meeting. At 8:00 the heat will continue just a little stronger when the Bear Grass girls try to get back that victory Williamston took away last Friday night. The Green Wave greatly disappointed the Bear Grasshoppers when they sent them back home with a 24-22 loss. The final of Wednesday night's play will be a tilt between the Green Wave boys and the Jamesville quint. The Jamesville boys have ruled the hardwood court for the past several years but there is a possibility of their tumbling this year against some of the strong quints developed this season in the county.

On Thursday night the basketballers will rest while the teachers and school officials go into action at the local gym—eating oysters.

The finals will be played here on Friday night, and, come what may, the finals promise to bring forth some real high school basketball.

FOR 'BIG LEAGUER'

The management of the Williamston Martins is trying to arrange a basketball game here for Monday night of next week with the Windsor Rebels. The proceeds of this contest will be given to "Big Leaguer" Beaird, who injured his ankle in the Washington tournament last week-end while playing for the locals. Beaird will have to travel on crutches for at least three weeks, according to reports from his physician.

The Martins met the Rebels in the semi-finals of the Washington tourney and offered the fans quite a battle, and it is hoped that a meeting can be arranged between the two teams, the definite date to be announced in Friday's paper.

Brain Can Be Seen Through The Eyes

The only place where the human brain can be inspected during life is in the eye, points out the Better Vision Institute. The retina, which is an extension of the brain, spreads itself over the back of the eye, laying bare the nerves for viewing through the ophthalmoscope.

"Not only can the nerves be observed, but the arteries and veins in the retina can be examined minutely during life," says the institute. "Observation is greatly facilitated because the eye itself acts as a low-power microscope, magnifying by about 15 diameters."

Martin Cagers Come In Second In Washington Tourney But Gain Their Share Of The Laurels

In the annual Washington Basketball Tournament played last week, the Williamston Martins captured their part of the prize money and laurels despite the fact that tough luck kept them from repeating in the championship round. The tourney, rated the best ever held in this section, was attended by unusually large crowds with record numbers attending from this community.

Prize awards were made as follows: $50 to Goldsboro, the champions; $35 to the Martins, the runner-ups; $20 to Windsor, the consolation winners; $12.50 to Washington, the consolation runner-up; $5.00 to high scorer, John Jett; $5.00 to the best all-around player, Oscar Anderson; $3.00 to the most popular player, "Pap" Diem; and $3.00 to the player who made the most free throws, Donald Brock.

The five players on the first all-tourney team, who were awarded $2.00 each, are: At forwards, Laulares, of Goldsboro, and Anderson, of the Martins; at center, D. Brock, of Goldsboro; at guards, Diem of the Martins, and Hamilton, of Washington.

The five players on the second all-tourney team, who were awarded $1.50 each, are: At forwards, A. Holliday of the Williamston Eagles, and J. Brock of Goldsboro; at center, John Jett of Washington; at guards, Fuller of the Martins, and Smith of Goldsboro.

All these selections seemed to meet with the unanimous approval of those who attended the tournament and so everybody went away happy and well satisfied.

Goldsboro Gains 33-30 Decision In Washington Play

Martins Were Without Services of Wallace and Beard

The Williamston Martins were defeated last Friday night in the annual Washington Basketball Tournament by Goldsboro's quint by a close score of 33-30.

The Martins entered the final round of the tourney without the services of two of their star players, Fenner Wallace and Breezy Beard, who were injured in the semi-finals event with Windsor Thursday evening. Despite this extreme handicap, the Goldsboro hoopers were pushed to the limit to capture the championship. Williamston was ahead most of the time for the first three periods in a contest that was marked by defensive play by both teams. In the opinion of many, this tilt was the best match of the entire tournament.

Tall Don Brock, well remembered by basketball teams here, was Goldsboro's high scorer of the evening, making six field goals and four free shots count 16 points. Next best for Leading the Martins in their great struggle was Dave Fuller who gathered 14 points, while Bosko Anderson followed close behind with eight points.
