PLENTY LABOR

Fort Bragg.—As the $32,000,000 building program at Fort Bragg nears completion, the office of the Construction Quartermaster announced today that 12,000 of the 25,000 workers who have been engaged in building the greater Fort Bragg that will become North Carolina's third city, will be released on April 1st, so that they may return to their home town occupations or other work.

Conditions In War Torn Coventry Are Related In Letter

entry and saw the awful devastation the raiders have made here he did not want to stop.

Wendell Willkie was shown around some of the ruins last Sunday. The town in the centre is practically all destroyed. What was blocks of shops is now just pieces of barren land.

Well, I started this letter on Sunday. It is now Thursday. The last two nights we have had air raid warnings but am thankful to say we seem to get the all clear. When I used to see the pictures in the paper of people in other countries listening for enemy planes, I never thought we should be holding our heads up to the sky for the same reason so often.

So many people I know in Coventry have lost their homes we feel very thankful ours is still left to us and trust it still will be.

Will's eldest boy, Norman, has a little son now, only born this week. He was married last April and they had a very nice home just outside Leamington, but like a lot of other people they have been bombed out. The house was badly damaged and their furniture more or less with splinters of glass embedded in it.

Do not feel I could listen to the bombs coming down for many nights now. Should have to go away again if things get bad and we are spared, too.

The news in the east is encouraging. Do wish something would bring it all to a speedy end.

We still get plenty to eat but not always just what we want. Not an orange to be seen here and all the cheese is going to agricultural workers. Some people get a little, but our grocer never has any. We never were big meat eaters so are not troubled by that. We only get two ounces of butter each—that is what I miss, but we get 4 ounces of a good quality margarine and 2 ounces of cooking fat each. Sweet syrup and all sweetened milk is very scarce. We only get 8 ounces of sugar each and 2 ounces of tea. I do not like sugar in my tea which makes it a little better for Amy and Fred.

The funny part about it is so many people are getting bigger appetites. The country air increases hunger. Must end this letter or the censor will be saying something. Lots of love from all. Katie.

Eighteen Cases Are Placed On Criminal Docket For Monday

Joseph Thigpen, colored, is facing a serious charge for allegedly raping a young colored girl in Oak City the first of last month. It is possible that the defense will plead guilty in the case and throw himself upon the mercy of the court.

Henry Leon Wilson, young local Negro, in the common vernacular is on a "hot spot" too. He is booked on a charge of burglary for breaking into the home of Maggie Hagan, colored, while she and members of the family were sleeping. Wilson is also charged with assaulting the woman. At a preliminary hearing held last Saturday, he was bound over to the superior court without the privilege of bond.

The case charging Alton Lilley and Joe Lanier Godard, Sr., of the Jamesville section, with an assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill will, in all probability, attract as much attention as any other one on the docket. Lilley, recognized as an expert carver with a knife, almost cut Carlton Reason to death on January 25th at Piney Woods in Jamesville Township. While Lilley was about to cut Reason to death, his companion and friend in the crime, Joe Lanier Godard, Sr., was craving on Nathan Cole who, wearing a cast as a result of a fall, withstood the attack without serious injury. Reason lingered near death for several days. Lilley is also facing another charge in the court for allegedly attacking James Holliday with a knife in a Jamesville store October 12. The victim of the attack lingered near death in a hospital here for several weeks. The defendants are now at liberty under bonds in the sum of $500 each. Star witnesses in the case, Bertha Morgan and Minnie Owens, were detained in the case but were later released under bonds in the sum of $100 each.

The old case charging Gus Forrest, colored, with non-support is still on the docket. Started in the recorder's court back in November, 1939, the case has been continued each following session of the higher tribunal.

Kenneth Moore, charged last December with carnal knowledge and assault, continues in the county jail. His attorney, J. Calvin Smith, was taken suddenly sick the day the case was to have been called last December and unable to furnish bond. Moore has wintered in the common jail.

Eddie Salsbury, colored man who is rapidly gaining a reputation as being the county's No. 1 thief, is facing the court on at least one breaking and entering and larceny charge, and it is possible he will be asked to answer in one or two other similar charges. He is literally wrapped up in one case as the result of a robbery of the A. O. Roberson and Company store in Robersonville on last December 11. Salsbury was said to have stolen clothing valued at $150 or more. The owners just recently recovered a hat and two suits of clothes. It is fairly certain that Salsbury will also be charged with attempting to break into and rob the Slade-Rhodes store in Hamilton, and it is believed by officers that he is the man who broke Merchant State Ayers' store window in Everett last summer. The robber left match stubs on the floor, but the merchant could miss no goods.

A case that is likely to attract considerable attention among the local colored population is the one charging C. B. Williams with dynamiting Buck's Place, a Washington Street beer garden, on January 25, this year. No developments have been announced in the case recently, and there is some doubt if it will get by the grand jury. Williams is at liberty under a $200 bond.

Mack Lewis is facing a seduction charge under promise of marriage. Bond in the sum of $150 was required in this case.

Roosevelt Fagan, colored man who has been in the courts frequently and who is now serving a road sentence for robbery in Beaufort County, is facing a charge of larceny for the alleged theft of an automobile from Bennie Griffin.

Frank Dunn, white man, is booked on an arson charge. A wanderer of the first degree, the old coder is said to have entered a tenant house on Barcl Daniel's farm, near here, on February 3, and built a fire in the middle of a room, ignoring the fireplace, a few feet away.

Charlie B. Hardison, young colored man who is believed to have snatched a number of packages from cars parked on the local streets last fall and winter, is booked in two cases. He is charged with having entered the home of Farmer John Bullock in Poplar Point on November 16 and having stolen a shirt, necktie and underwear, all valued at $3.00. He is also charged with stealing a suit, clothing and other articles from Jack Fitzgerald's car here last November 30th.

Garland Bailey, young Bear Grass white man, is facing the court for attacking his brother, Walter, with intent to kill.

Mrs. F. E. Buflap is getting along very well today following an operation in a Rocky Mount hospital last week.

Mesdames D. L. Whiting and Zannie Hayes, of Lumberton, were the overnight guests of Miss Mary Rodgers here last night.

Barnhill Brothers Move Stock To New Location
To forestall further delay in the opening of a new drug store in their main street building, Barnhill Brothers this week moved their stock of merchandise to the Bowen Brothers building on Washington Street where they will close out the stock at and below cost during the next few weeks, Manager Garland Barnhill said today.

Remodeling work on the building for the drug store was started last week, and will be made ready for the new firm within a short time.

State Legislature Clearing Calendar For Final Session

to the tune of $10,000 annually. Evaluators will be placed in the capitol for the aging and sailing lawmakers who are able to hang on for another term two years hence.

The intent is not quite clear, but eight bills have been proposed in connection with agriculture. One would exempt farm produce from taxation in the year after it was produced, another would license lime dealers and increase fertilizer inspection fees from 20 to 25 cents a ton, another would prohibit the shipment of cholera-infested hogs, would control rabies in dogs, would confiscate misbranded poultry and stock tonics. Two others would not affect farmers in this section. But another one would reduce the cost of farm truck licenses, saving the half-ton truck owner $2.50 and one and one-half ton truck owners, $27.50.

Last night the House had its love feast, and tonight the Senate is having its party. At noon today the House had about 20 public bills on its calendar, but the Senate reported its public calendar cleared. Governor Broughton will review the activities of the legislature in a radio address this evening at six o'clock.

ROYSTER Tobacco Brands all contain 40% water insoluble nitrogen. Many others contain only 30%.
Then, realizing the inferiority of their cheaply made fertilizers, they offer you a so-called Premium grade at a higher price to compete with ROYSTER.
