

Democrats To Meet In Raleigh Friday

Raleigh—Several nationally known figures in the Democratic party will attend the annual Jackson Day dinner to be held here in the Sir Walter Hotel on Friday night, April 4, according to Joe L. Blythe, of Charlotte, chairman of the State Jackson Day Committee.

Among those who have accepted invitations to attend the dinner, which is being held to help raise funds with which to wipe out the deficit incurred last year in the successful efforts to re-elect President Roosevelt, are: National Democratic Chairman Edward J. Flynn, United States Senator Scott W. Lucas of Illinois, Richard J. Reynolds, treasurer of the Democratic National Committee; Comptroller Lindsay W. Warren, former Governor O. Max Gardner, A. D. Folger, National Committeeman; Congressman A. L. Bulwinkle, and others.

Lucas To Speak

Senator Lucas, who was prominently mentioned for the nomination for vice president at the Democratic convention last year at Chicago, will deliver the principal address. A World War veteran, Senator Lucas helped put across President Roosevelt's farm program in the early years of the New Deal while the Senator was a member of the House of Representatives. As a member of the House's Agriculture Committee, Lucas was made the spokesman of a bloc of fifty congressmen representing the corn and wheat farmers of the middle west.

"Senator Lucas, a friend of labor as well as the farmer, is a good speaker, a man who has knowledge of what he talks about," said Chair-

Excessive Speeds Cause Accidents

"Yours may be the only car on the road and you still will stand a chance of being involved in a serious accident unless you drive at a safe speed," Ronald Hocutt, director of the Highway Safety Division, said this week.

Hocutt made this statement after studying the 1940 record with respect to single responsibility accidents on North Carolina streets and highways. Single responsibility accidents are accidents involving only one vehicle and one driver, as when a car overturns in the roadway, runs off the road, or strikes a fixed object.

"It doesn't take two cars to make an accident," he declared. "It only takes one car driven improperly. Last year, 988 persons were killed in traffic accidents in North Carolina, and 280 of these were killed in single responsibility accidents. Fifty-four were killed in cars that struck fixed objects, such as bridge abutments, telephone poles, etc., on the roadway or on the right-of-way. And 161 were killed in cars that got out of control and ran off the road. Sixty-eight were killed in cars that overturned in the roadway."

"A large majority of these accidents are a direct result of excessive speed," the safety director said. "Cars just don't turn over in the roadway or go sailing off into a ditch or field unless they are being driven so fast that their drivers are unable to control them."

"It is speed that is killing people every day on North Carolina highways, and until speeding is discouraged by unrelenting and impartial enforcement, we need not expect any reduction in single responsibility accidents, at least."

Eliminate Several Retail Beer Joints

Raleigh—The Brewers and North Carolina Beer Distributors Committee cooperated with law enforcement officers in the elimination of seven undesirable retail beer outlets during the month of March.

Edgar H. Bain, of Goldsboro, state director in charge of the beer industry's "clean up or close up" campaign in North Carolina, said the March revocations increased the total to 154—126 by revocation, 26 by refusal of local authorities to relicense on information furnished by the committee, and two by surrender.

In addition, eleven dealers have been placed on probation, and 231 dealers have been warned to "clean up" or face revocation proceedings.

During the month of March, the committee cooperated with local authorities in the revocation of six retail licenses in Graham, Ashe, Cherokee and Edgecombe counties. Revocation petitions were filed against four dealers in Transylvania, Swain and Onslow counties. Letters of warning were sent to 18 dealers in Cumberland, Onslow, Brunswick and Lenoir counties.

The field inspector investigated 103 outlets in 21 counties, bringing the total of investigations to 1,686.

Tony Elton's Book Review

By special arrangement with Tony Elton, The Enterprise will offer each week a review of a current book in the local public library. Writing under the plume name of Tony Elton, the reviewer is in a position to offer a helpful guide in the selection of interesting subjects. The first review follows:

By TONY ELTON

WORLD'S END by Upton Sinclair is one of the most timely of the current novels. Created out of infinite pains and profound sincerity which point the way of destiny both to the individual and to society, this story reviews for the present-day reader the events of the first World War—conditions during the war, the effect of these conditions upon the morale of the various classes and types of people, and the struggle in Paris at the conference which followed the war.

In relating this historical review, Sinclair has woven the actual facts into a most interesting and romantic story which catches and holds one's attention throughout.

The story is woven around Lanny Budd, who was born of an American father and a French mother. Due to some misunderstanding on the part of the father's parents, the mother was not allowed to come to America and to share directly in the family millions made in the manufacture of ammunitions. As a result the mother and son remained in Europe and Lanny grew up in France, Germany and England—moving in the most dangerous circles of European society at that time. The friends he made before the war were still dear to him during the long struggle even though they were fighting against the country in which he lived.

The life of this youngster became involved in the web of Zaharoff's plans. He was thrown into close contact with Woodrow Wilson, Lincoln Steffens and others at the peace conference in which all the world was so vitally interested. Two ways of life fought for Lanny's allegiance and the way Sinclair leads him through forms a most interesting story.

In this story of love and intrigue, Upton Sinclair's high standing in the world of fiction is reaffirmed. Like Emile Zola, the French writer, Sinclair has sacrificed and suffered much because of his convictions. Yet, he stands for them fearlessly and profits nothing but his own self-satisfaction in the end. The thousands of dollars made from his novels have been donated freely to organizations in whose principles he believed. Only his tireless energy has kept him from starvation, even though his works have been publish-

Clock Sales Are Sure Sign Of Good Times

A favorite sage observation of armchair economists is that swift-rising sales of alarm clocks and low-priced watches are sure sign of good times. It works out that way now, with demand for low-priced timepieces described as "simply terrific," because so many more folk find it necessary to get up on time o'mornings. Another factor in the watch sales boom is the orders from other countries, which formerly got a good share of their timepieces from Germany. Paradox is that one famous alarm clock making company has turned down an order for 75,000 bell-ringers, from England, because it's using the brass it has on hand to make inexpensive wrist watches instead. They can produce 10 wrist watches—the brass parts—with the amount of that metal one alarm clock would take. On the other hand the outlook is for a considerable rise in the general level of watch prices, possibly even a disappearance of the time-honored "dollar" variety.

Business Continues To Higher Levels

Still going up. That's the phrase for almost everything in the business picture. Exports dropped for February, naturally, but even in that field non-agricultural items showed a gain, though not enough to offset big drops in farm exports. Department store sales dropped slightly, too, but that's in comparison to the week that in 1940, led up to Easter. Otherwise, all is on the "up" side. Non-agricultural employment in February hit 36,584,000—highest February level on record. Refrigerator sales set new high for February. Freight car loadings at best level since November 9, 1940, and highest for any comparable week since 1930. Furniture trade orders for February were 46 per cent above the same month of last year, and the best for any February since 1929. Steel ingot production running at 99 1-2 per cent of capacity—and hitting 102 1-2 in some plants in the Chicago area. Buying of new freight cars by railroads is at best rate since 1930, may exceed 100,000 cars this year.

Unlike a great many authors, Sinclair has held a fast grip onto the life about him. He has not shut himself away from the world to live a lonely life. He takes a very active part in the matters of government in his home state, California. With his EPIC plan, he captured the Democratic nomination for Governor in California in the 1934 campaign and all but won the election.
