

Williamston Defeats Edenton Aces, 6-5, In First Diamond Meet

Williamston High's Green Wave nine will continue their schedule of play here tomorrow when they meet the strong Edenton nine in a return game. In yesterday's contest at Edenton the locals battled out another 6-5 victory in an extra inning game. After Edenton took the lead in the opening inning the Greenies came back strong in the fourth inning to go ahead, 4-1. Edenton took charge in the sixth with a four-run rally but Williamston tied the ball game in the seventh when Peele scored on Sullivan's ground ball to short. In the eighth H. Wynne started the locals right by slamming out a three-bagger to centerfield; a long fly by Cherry scored Wynne on the next play. Edenton threatened in their half of the eighth, but Sullivan stopped the game by catching the runner off second to complete a double play after he had reached several yards to catch a fly ball.

Haywood Wynne led Williamston at bat with 3 hits, one a three-base knock. Ashley, White and Smithson led the losers with two each. Garland Wynne was credited with the win; this makes Garland's third victory on the mound in four starts. The game was scheduled to go only seven innings.

After meeting Edenton here tomorrow the Green Wave boys will close their home games by meeting Robersonville here Friday.

Completing Biggest Bomber

This landing wheel gives you an idea of the tremendous size of the B-19 super bomber, nearing completion at Santa Monica, Cal. The landing gear alone, on the Douglas plane, world's largest bomber, is 9,800 pounds, or more than the weight of a small scout bomber.

Tony Elton's Book Review

It seems that books with a historical background do not as a usual thing appeal to the great run of people. However, here is one that dates so far back in history that it is very interesting to all who read it. Thomas Mann's The Beloved Returns takes its readers as far back as 1772 to Johann Wolfgang von Goethe, who was a genius of the most universal and copious order, with immense intellectual and emotional energy, exceedingly interested in the phenomenon which was himself. The present world has lost track of this Goethe, so to speak, and Mann has brought him to life in the novel which took him two years and more to prepare. The most interesting thing about the novel is that most of the events recorded actually occurred. Even though it is this type of historical novel it is so well clothed in the romantic story that readers will appreciate the labors that the author worked under to prepare it.

Critics have said that this is a most delightful and brilliant novel, unrolling a picture of the psychology of a genius and of the personal sacrifices made by all those who surround him, in order that the flame of this genius might burn more brightly. The narrative, rich with humor and subtle psychological implication, ends with the meeting of the long-ago sweethearts at a dinner party in Goethe's house. The setting of the novel is the Weimer, Germany, reproduced with extraordinary fidelity and liveliness. Its topical quality, as a portrayal of the immediate post-Napoleonic period gives it a stirring intensity of interest in view of events in Europe today.

Thomas Mann is already well known to most readers as the author of the series, Joseph and His Brothers—three books have already been written in the series and a fourth is being prepared. Most of the stories and novels written by this author have had German settings and German characters. This makes them of great interest at the present time when the German people have a foremost place in the newspapers and magazines. Their backgrounds and County is increasing rapidly. Misses Julia Houghton and Irene Morison, who have been visiting Miss Eliza Lamb for the past week, returned to their homes in Washington Tuesday morning.

On Yugoslavian Spot

Seventeen-year-old King Peter II was left in control of the Yugoslavian government when the cabinet resigned en masse as a result of fierce rioting in Belgrade in protest against adherence to the Axis. Prince Paul, regent pending Peter's ascension to the throne on his 18th birthday next September, also quit his post.

Two Methods Of Treating Your Seed Sweet Potatoes

Two practical and economical methods of sweet potato seed treatment are: (1) Mercuric chloride, which is prepared by mixing one ounce of mercuric chloride with 8 gallons of water. Soak the potatoes in this solution for 15 minutes, allow them to dry in the shade, and bed without washing. This treatment is most effective if the solution is used in a special environment. It belongs to the whole world—to life itself.

warm, or around 100 degrees Fahrenheit. (2) Semesan Bel. Prepare a solution in the proportion of one pound of Semesan Bel to 7 1/2 gallons of water. Dip the seed potatoes in this solution for one minute, drain and spread out to dry in the shade. The potatoes are ready to plant as soon as dry.
