Making Ready For Another Act

North Carolina's political clown, Robert Rice Reynolds, is making ready for another stage act in Washington, and the thought of what is almost certain to come is enough to cause North Carolinians to hang their heads in disgrace and shame.

Unfortunately, Mr. Reynolds—very few stepping out to call him "Our Bob" any more—is in direct line for the chairmanship of the important Senate Military Affairs Committee. Seniority gives him the place in accordance with custom, but Reynolds has the golden opportunity to decline the post. In the light of his own miserable and disgusting record, he should forfeit any claim to the post so important in the program of the nation's defense just now.

Mr. Reynolds, the people of Martin County and North Carolina have tolerated your clowning and swallowed the disgrace heaped upon their heads by such acts and antics "pulled" by you in nearly every nook and corner in North Carolina and even in distant parts of the world during your cunningly arranged inspection tours. Now, they appeal to you to spare them further embarrassment. It is possible that many of your transgressions will be overlooked and that you will gain more favorable publicity if you stand aside when the important position is to be filled.

Still Needs Purging

When Roosevelt offered to block Cotton Ed Smith's renomination to the United States Senate some time ago, he was attacked for interfering in politics. Possibly the tactics were out of order, but in the light of recent developments there are good reasons for someone to purge the old man from South Carolina.

Senator Smith, critical of many if not all New Deal measures designed to help the common masses, is on the spot again. He demanded the Washington Draft Board to put his son in the deferred draft list, possibly because the son's father was a United States Senator. In connection with the disgraceful part played by the father, a few other items common to the Senator's way of doing things were brought out. It was revealed that the Senator had crowded the government payroll with his own kin and in-laws. The son was drawing yearly $4,000 a year, and the Smith clan was drawing approximately $24,000 a year from the federal treasury.

Such episodes as that are causing labor to strike in this country. When men in high places declare against the drafting of their sons, it is quite reasonable to expect other draftees to stand back and ask questions. It is apparent that Hitler will have to move nearer the United States government payroll with his own kin rights of our fellowmen, especially when those rights are compared with those enjoyed by those in high places.

Fortunately, the Washington Draft Board placed Senator Smith's son in Class I-A. But it would be surprising to really know how many are escaping the draft not only as it relates to army service but as it relates to the defense of the nation and the common decency due all mankind.

Hitler Marches On

Centering our attention on Hitler as he marches to battle in land, sea and air, we are giving little thought or attention to his fiendish acts in other fields. What appears to hold an equal to war itself, is the treatment accorded those in subjugated countries. The work of the brute in the occupied countries clearly proves that Hitler had planned years ago to dominate the world and reduce his subjects to a slavery state.

Reports, coming from reliable sources, maintain that Hitler is feeding his conquered subjects a certain vitamin to reduce them to a state of depression and mental weakness and total despair. In this condition they will be easier to handle.

Apparently forgetting no detail in his wild dash to dominate the world, Hitler marches on in fields other than those where actual battles are fought.

Ways To Save Money

From his wide experience ranging from early life on his grandfather's farm to his present position as a statistical expert, Roger W. Babson in his book, "Twenty Ways To Save Money," brings forth clearly worded, practical suggestions for saving money which can be applied by the average man.

Why, he wonders, do people constantly look for new ways of increasing the income and pass up the easiest method of money making which is money saving? And why, not indeed, saving money for a good purpose—to open a bank or postal savings account—is more fun than spending aimlessly.

Budgeting Mr. Babson considers of primary importance and keeping accurate records of receipts and expenditures he thinks the surest way of living within one's income. Buying standard products, whether they be homes, furniture, machines, or clothing, he deems a wise policy. Other financial problems which he discusses include hospitalization, life insurance, annuities, stocks and bonds, taxes, and relation of the individual with banks. He points out the monetary value of education and good health. Avoiding installment buying, interest paying, and gambling are included in his "don'ts" for the thrifty.—The Progressive Farmer.
