Graded Cabbage Pays Producers

Raleigh — Initial shipments of North Carolina's 1941 cabbage crop are expected May 10 and "if farmers are to receive the maximum returns for their efforts, strict attention must be given to approved grading and marketing methods," Harry T. Westcott, fruits and vegetables marketing specialist of the State Department of Agriculture, said.

"For the past three seasons it has been necessary for the government to purchase a large portion of the early cabbage crop, but if present prices prevail and growers will properly pack and grade their crop, a federal buying program may not be needed this season," he added. "However, generally North Carolina farmers have not followed marketing practices in the past."

James Wallace, student at the University, Chapel Hill, spent the week-end in Jamesville with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wallace.
