NAVY TRADE TRAINING GAVE ME MY START SAYS PRESIDENT, SPERRY CORPORATION

THOMAS A. MORGAN (pictured in insert), president of the Sperry Corporation, world's largest manufacturers of aeronautical and marine instruments, received his early technical training in the U.S. Navy, in which he enlisted as a young man. "This has proved of great value to me in later years," said ex-sailor Morgan. Pictured above are new Navy recruits receiving electrical training at one of the modernly equipped Navy Trade Schools. The Navy offers training to young men in nearly 50 different trades and vocations.

vercome by medical attention and utrition Addressing the meeting, Mrs. Clar. ence W Beasley, second vice presi-dent, outlined the year's program, urging departmental chairmen and presidents to support the adoption of nobbies that would tend to aid defense and strive for a closer relationship between the home and women's clubs. She urged the adoption of the Roosevelt-Churchill program, and supported the Robert Lee Humber Declaration of Federation of the World. Supporting the defense program, Mrs. Beasley said that the Federa-tion's music department was sending out thousands of song booklets carrying patriotic and religious songs for community sings. In its literature ,the Federation is urging more reading along the good neighbor policy, not only as to the nations to the will elect their community commit-south, but also as to the world. She pointed out the high rate of illiter-acy among draft registrants, and urged each club to take action against illiteracy by rendering asistance to youth. Freedom and justice to all was also stressed when the club official called for better homes, better health and better food, regardless of race, color or creed. A "touchy" subject, but one that needs attention, was mentioned when Mrs. Beasley asked that the hours and possibly the wages of domestic screen by the set of domestic servants be investigated. Among its planned work for the new year, the Federation will give
