

THE LETTER-BOX

"LEST WE FORGET"

By Raleigh T. Harrington (2nd Lieut., U. S. Air Corps, Manchester, N. H.)

Yesterday, little was thought of our men in the armed forces by most of those constituting the civilian population of America. In fact, I believe some were even skeptical of the true character and quality of our American youth.

heroes who now lie there—for our fight is a common cause. The honor and courage of our mothers, fathers, and country, has been challenged.

Every mother knows there is courage and faith embedded deep in her son's heart. Every son loves his mother for that trust and the tender little things she always did to make life pleasant and easy.

In our mind is etched a picture that will never fade. When shadows fall and we are free to wonder, we close our eyes to see the things that were. Each time it is the same picture—Mother, and father, and home.

Once again our country, our freedom, and our ideals are in great danger (and I am reminded of the poem "In Flanders Field"). Surely we will take up the fight our gallant

Cupid Strikes Old Age Home

Here is the finale of a four-year courtship between John J. Geiger, 70, and Elizabeth Heffern, 74. The couple, pictured cutting their wedding cake, met at the Newark, N. J., Home for the Destitute Aged. They will live in a newly furnished apartment arranged for in advance by the Essex County, N. J., Welfare Board. (Central Press)

NORTH CAROLINA ONCE STOOD MID-WAY BETWEEN SOUTH CAROLINA AND CONGRESS. It has been said that North Carolina is the only state in the Old South which consistently opposed all Congressional action that provided protective tax on imports.

North Carolina opposed the adoption of the "Tariff of Abominations." The General Assembly adopted a re-ge. For that reason, you who feel near to us must not worry. We are all right and will be back in a little while.

In conclusion, think of us as men struggling under the burden of a heavy and difficult yoke. Believe that we will endure it till the end, for we really won't let you down. Is there a man in America today who would handicap himself by clinging to obsolete methods and age-old customs just for the sake of tradition?

questions were advanced as "whether the benefits of the Union are not more than counterbalanced by the evils." North Carolina's protest expressed two main reasons for opposing the "Tariff of Abominations."

Further words of opposition were stated because the high tariff was "calculated to produce an enormous tax on the agriculture of the South." The committee which prepared the legislative report believed the tariff "fatal to the happiness, the morals, and the rights of a large portion of our common country; for it has its foundation in avarice, and consumes every patriotic feeling."

Only 25 per cent of the American population is now on the farm, the other 75 per cent being engaged in creating comfort and luxuries called the American standard of living.
